ST. LOUIS FINALE ON TRUMAN TOUR

President Tells Audience He Has 'Cracked Republican East With Ease'

CLOSE LONG 271-SPEECH SWEEP OVER ENTIRE U. S.

By Ernest B. Vaccaro

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—President Truman came home to his native Missouri tonight to announce that he has "cracked the Republican east" and that the Democrats are going to win.

The people, through the Democrats, "are going to win this election the president declared.

"The north, the south, the east and the west are falling in line," he declared to an audience in Kiel auditorium, where he brought to a close his 271-speech, "Give 'Em Hell' campaign over 36 states.

It was a "summing up" speech, one in which he wrapped up all the criticism he has flung at G. O. P. nominee Thomas E. Dewey and what the president called a "good for nothing 80th congress."

He struck out at what he called Republican opposition to the farm price support program and their efforts to wreck the Wagner labor relations law.

He said the Republicans seem to think "it is a little wicked for the government to be concerned about farm prices."

The president declared his opponent had given the people nothing more than "platitudes and doubletalk."

Then he told a fable about a politi-

NATIONAL GUARD MOVED INTO CITY

Resignation Of Officials Called For At Mass Meetings Of Citizens

LOUDON, Tenn., Oct. 30.—(AP)—National Guard ground troops, supported by fighter planes, moved into Loudon today under orders to put down threatened mob violence stemming from the death of a hillbilly singer.

The militia moved in at the direction of Gov. Jim McCord. The governor acted on request of local authorities who reported the situation out of hand.

Tension had been high here since last Friday night when Ray Brewster, 26, widely known in east Tennessee as a radio singer, died in an automobile crash. The situation had quieted by the time the troops arrived.

Brewster's father charged in a warrant that Sheriff Henry McDonald and Deputy Clifford Hughes were responsible for his son's death. Magistrate W. S. Watkins said the elder Brewster swore out a warrant charging the officers with responsibility "by chasing Brewster's car, shooting the tires, causing it to overturn and causing the death of the occupant."

McDonald and Hughes, disputing the father's charge, said Brewster's automobile wrecked after he tried three times to ram their car as both vehicles were traveling along a road near here.

Watkins said there had been no coroner's inquest into young Brewster's death. He added "none will be held because there were eyewitnesses."

THURMOND ENDS DRIVE IN TEXAS

States' Rights Candidate Says Vote For Him Will Prevent FEPC Law

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 30.— (AP) — Gov. J. Strom Thurmond said tonight that "the millions who are going to vote for states' rights Democrats will succeed in preventing either Truman or Dewey" from enacting an FEPC law.

The South Carolina governor, winding up his states' rights presidential campaign, spoke in a broadcast from Houston when fog prevented his plane from landing at Beaumont, Tex.

He had been scheduled to speak at a Beaumont rally.

Terming the proposed fair employment practices act "the most vicious" of President Truman's civil rights legislative program, Thurmond said in a prepared speech the president, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Henry A. Wallace were all committed to support it.

"Our campaign is based on the belief we can prevent either Truman or Dewey from winning a majority or the electoral votes," Thurmond said. "In that event, the house of representatives will choose a president who is dedicated to the preservation of local self-government.

"But even if we should fail to cause the election to be thrown into the house, we shall have accomplished our most important objective—to re-

DIAL SYSTEM NOT PLANNED HERE SOON

Reports that Monroe will get a dial system of telephones within the near future are unfounded, according to Lonnie Clark, district manager of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Mr. Clark said information, which he termed erroneous, was "given out by a directory salesman" and he said it was "incorrect" and was not authorized by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The district manager added that the district office has received no information concerning the installation of dial phones.

LONG ADMINISTRATION WILL FACE ANOTHER TEST TUESDAY

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The administration and policies of Governor Earl K. Long face another test next Tuesday—the fifth since his inauguration in May.

The argument now is about a series of proposed amendments to the state constitution which opponents of the governor claim would greatly increase his powers and make it easier to build a permanent political machine.

The governor's supporters, on the other hand, defend some of the controversial proposals on the ground that they would make phases of the state government more Democratic, others on the argument of efficiency.

The voters will have before them 41 proposals in all for changing Louisiana's much-amended constitution, but the big fights rage over fewer than a dozen. They include proposals to:

Remove the limitation on the appropriation powers of the board of liquidation of the state debt, whose membership includes the governor and which usually follows his recommendations.

Reorganize the New Orleans dock board, enabling the governor to appoint a majority of the members.

Revamp the Louisiana State University board of supervisors, shortening members' terms and making it possible for the governor to appoint most of the board during his present term.

Create a new board, appointed by the governor, to administer state colleges other than the university.

Reorganize the department of wild life and fisheries, creating additional posts to be filled by the governor's appointment and bringing the state forestry commission under one of these appointees.

DEWEY CLOSES ON 'NOTE OF PEACE'

New York Governor Swings Hard At Administration Of Demo Candidate

BRINGS LAST SPEECH TO WORLD'S BIGGEST CITY

By Marvin Arrowsmith

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. — (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey closed his campaign for the presidency tonight with a pledge that winning world peace "is the cause closest to our hearts."

Expressing confidence he will win Tuesday's election, the Republican nominee said in an address in Madison Square Garden at 9:30 p. m. E. S. T. and for broadcast (NBC) nationally:

"This is the eve of victory."

"It has been divided against itself for so long," Dewey declared, "that it has forgotten the meaning of unity, and it never did know the meaning of teamwork or competence."

He said the Democratic party has resorted to "desperate tactics" because it is "splintered and divided" and "its own house is at the point of collapse." He added:

"By its daily shifts in policy our friends at the council tables for peace are left stunned and the work for peace is paralyzed. * * *

"The time has come to bring these tragedies to an end."

Then, he said, "we want our sons and daughters to be able to plan their futures and live their lives without

FOUR TRAIN CREW MEMBERS KILLED

NEWBURY, Vt., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Four train crew men were killed, five mail clerks were injured and 200 passengers shaken early today as two Boston-Montreal trains crashed head-on in a heavy fog.

The engineer and fireman on the Boston and Maine trains were trapped in their cabs and died without giving an inkling of the cause of the mishap.

A railroad spokesman said the engineers had been given train orders to meet at Newbury—as is customary—but that the southbound train passed through this country community.

The collision occurred about a mile south of here.

One of the trains normally pulls on a siding at Newbury to await the other's arrival. Newbury is about halfway between Boston and Montreal.

The locomotives were telescoped and mail and baggage cars of both trains were derailed.

Southbound passengers were removed to special cars and continued their journey. Those northbound were taken by bus to Woodsville and placed on another train.

The four killed were: Martin L. Gove, Wentworth, N. H., and Victor Tromba, St. Johnsbur , Vt., engineers; and Firemen John Blair and Francis Rexford, both of Newport, Vt.

Negro Trusty Found Dead; Inquiry Over

Sheriff Martin Says Case Is Considered Closed; Believes Negro Was Swept From Log In Attempt To Cross River

NEW ROADS, La., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Investigation of two deaths was closed here tonight when a corner's jury found that a Negro trusty, wanted for questioning in the death of a white prison captain's wife, died of accidental drowning.

The Negro, James Bruce, had been the object of an 11-day search after Mrs. John H. Spillman, 44, was found dead behind a clothes locker in her prison grounds home Oct. 20.

Bruce was the Spillman's house boy.

A coroner's jury found earlier the captain's wife died at the hands of "a person or persons unknown."

Bruce's body was found late today in the Mississippi river near Morganza, La., 25 miles downriver from Angola prison and 35 miles northwest of Baton Rouge.

Sheriff T. H. Martin, of West Feliciana parish, which includes Angola, told newsmen, "as far as I am concerned the case is closed." He explained he considered both deaths as one case.

Martin theorized that Bruce attempted to cross the river on a log after dressing in feminine clothing stolen from the Spillman home and a strong current swept him from the log. He said Bruce had frequently played feminine parts in prison theatricals. The body was dressed in woman's attire when found.

Martin said he believed Mrs. Spillman was murdered about 7 p. m. Oct. 19 and that Bruce fled the prison camp at about that time. He said dogs tracked the man to the river bank. Nearby, under a log, Martin found clothes belonging to Spillman's daughter and a bottle of turpentine and garlic. The latter, he said, was used to prevent bloodhounds from trailing the man.

Martin said there was no question the body found today was that of Bruce. He said he identified it by a scalp scar inflicted in 1936 when Martin shot at Bruce and grazed his skull.

The body was found by Joe Smith,

Jes' Ramblin'

Dear Jes' Ramblin':

I understand that Edith Macbeth East is to put on a comedy skit between acts of the show, "A Ready-Made Family," to be given at Barkdull Faulk School Friday, November 5, at 7:30 p. m.

Back in the late 1930's, when I was working in the city recreation department, Edith Macbeth took part in our stunt programs and amateur shows. She became a first-place winner and starred in a comedy, "Gal from Pushbagoola," which was played on a benefit basis for local organizations. She sang in Mrs. Audie Moffett's O. P. H. S. Glee Club and began writing songs, one of her well-known compositions being "Rustling, Rambling of the Leaves." Later, as a trouper in "Street Shows of Missouri," "Toby's Comedians," "Happy Bill's Radio Troupe," and other shows, in which she played throughout the states of Missouri, North and South Dakota and Montana, she composed the songs to go with the comedy parts which she acted and danced. She played the guitar and sang, she yodeled, she gave monologues, and she danced—a versatile trouper.

Edith Macbeth East has come home with her husband and two children, and I hear she is better than ever, using her talents to entertain school children and for benefit of the school.

I wonder if the Little Theatre knows about her?

It will be a real thrill to me and her other friends to see Edith Macbeth

Voters wishing to do so may mark the sample ballot before election day, taking it to the booth as a guide to be followed in voting.

Also on page 7 there appears a listing of the amendments showing the stand taken by the World in respect to each amendment in a series of editorials which began last Sunday and will continue through Monday.

USSR PUBLISHES PURPORTED TEXT OF PARIS PAPER

Official Soviet News Agency Gives Details Of Stalin Quoted Agreement

BRITISH SAY THERE WAS DRAFT BUT NO APPROVAL

By Eddy Gilmore

MOSCOW, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Soviet press published today what it said was the text of a Paris draft agreement on Berlin which Prime Minister Stalin has declared was broken by Britain and the United States.

Tass, official Soviet news agency, declared the agreement was between Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky and Juan Bramuglia of Argentina, one of the six neutrals on the U. N. security council. Tass said it was the agreement whose existence had been denied by U. S. Delegate Philip C. Jessup.

(A British foreign office spokesman in London confirmed for the first time that there was a draft agreement between Vishinsky and Bramuglia, representative of the six neutrals, but said it never was approved by the three western powers and therefore was not broken by them.

(The spokesman said Stalin's statement on Thursday that the western powers had disavowed the agreement "was intended for uninformed readers" who are not allowed access to other sources of information. Stalin's phraseology, he said, would lead such readers to assume that Bramuglia also was representing the western powers in the unofficial negotiations, which was not the case.)

In an interview with Pravda, Communist party newspaper, Stalin had declared: "Mr. Bramuglia, the representative of the Argentine and president of the security council who conducted unofficial talks with Comrade Vishinsky on behalf of the other

GREEK PREMIER SET TO RESIGN

Proposed Reshuffle Of Cabinet Causes Downfall Of Aged Sophoulis

ATHENS, Greece, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Greece's 87-year-old premier, Themistokles Sophoulis, said tonight his government would resign within two or three days.

The premier's statement came as a result of a quarrel between himself and the deputy leader of his liberal party, Sophocles Venizelos, over a proposed re-shuffle of the cabinet. Venizelos is the son of the late Eleutheorios Venizelos, founder of the Liberal party and one of Greece's greatest statesmen.

The Sophoulis government was formed in September, 1947, as a coalition of the Populist and Liberal parties, under United States pressure for a broad government. Populists and Liberals are traditional rivals in Greek politics.

Venizelos had given notice that he would ask parliament for a new government picked for ability rather than party affiliations or political strength.

The quarrel was brought into the open yesterday when the premier told a news conference:

"The present state of affairs cannot drag indefinitely."

Sophoulis apparently referred to Venizelos' repeated threats to demand a vote of confidence in parliament. It was believed he decided to resign rather than wait for a vote of confidence.

Sophoulis said there was no basis for a compromise between himself and Venizelos.

Sophoulis faces other difficulties

SIMPSON IS FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Handsome, wavy-haired Dale Simpson was convicted of the murder of Detective Nicholas Jacob by a criminal district court jury today.

The Jury received the case at 3:35 a. m. and reported two hours later, after four days and two nights of testimony and arguments. The conviction carries a mandatory sentence of death in the electric chair but Defense Attorney G. Wray Gill said that a motion for a new trial would be filed immediately.

Harold Miller, indicted with Simpson for the Labor Day slaying, won a separate trial. Miller is a native of Monticello, Miss., Simpson's home is in Salt Lake City.

Simpson was convicted of shooting Jacob in the back of the head as they were returning from Gulfport, Miss. They had gone there to pickup Miller, who Simpson had charged with stealing money and a pistol from him while they were roommates in a local hotel.

Shaky Nation Faces General

End Of Anti-Communist War On National Scale Seen With Collapse Of Mukden; Elderly Leader May Be Replaced Soon

By Harold K. Milks

NANKING, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Mukden collapsed into Chinese Communist hands today in the most stunning government loss of the three-year civil war, reliable sources in this fearful capital reported tonight.

Many high Chinese and foreign sources declared the civil war had been decided with the fall of the great Manchurian city. Quick retirement from the remaining small holdings in southernmost Manchuria was predicted.

Bitter fighting may continue in China-proper for months or even years, the sources said, but Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's effort to defeat the Communists on a nation-wide scale has died. The latest setback brought speculation on the possibility of replacing China's long-time leader.

Some unofficial quarters said the Communists completely occupied Mukden, swollen to nearly 2,000,000 population by refugees.

Later and equally credible reports near midnight said the encircling Communist armies had not yet taken full charge but the last government officials fled by car at 3 p. m., leaving the city in anarchic confusion.

Recent pro-government reports have indicated the bulk of Mukden's 150,000-man garrison already had left, attempting to fight its way southwest or to escape via the south Manchurian port of Yingkow, 115 miles from Mukden.

Whereabouts of Gen. Gei Li-Huang, Manchurian commander, was unknown.

The government still has hundreds of thousands of troops under arms, but the best quarters question their will to defend themselves let alone to attack.

Some observers thought this picture was painted too dark, and banked on a possible lull during which Chiang could pull his shocked forces together.

Chiang, the president and for more than 20 years the strong man of China, flew back to Nanking tonight for Peiping, his two-week effort to recoup his northern military fortunes a failure.

This evidently strained and weary man—62 years old Sunday—alone can answer the question of what comes next. Most reliable sources said his return foretokened "drastic developments."

Official and diplomatic circles buzzed with speculation whether he might move his capital south to Canton or even west to war-famous Chungking.

Nanking is more than 750 miles by air south of Mukden, and Communist raids never have reached nearer than 100 miles north.

If defections which have cost the government so dearly in the past month should spread, however, Communist arrival on the Yangtze would depend more on the Red ability to move than on fighting.

Just one week ago an annoyed Nanking legislator urged that Chiang take a year's trip to the United States. This was howled down, but today the suggestion was repeated by the magazine "University Critic," published by a group of Nanking educators. (A nice long trip to America is the traditional Chinese way of disposing of leaders who are out of favor for any reason.)

No individual or group within Chiang's long-government Kuomintang (Nationalist party) seems capable of taking over and effectively prosecuting the war, however.

Most foreign onlookers were inlined to believe that a logical ultimate outcome might be a Communist-dominated "coalition" government. This might have the dissident marshal Li Chi-Shen as its titular head. Li, exiled in Hong Kong, already has sent representatives north to discuss a coalition with the Communists.

The United States attitude appar-

U. S. LOSS SEEN IN CHINA FIGHT

First Major Reverse In 'Cold War' Is Expected In Aid Plan To Orient

By John M. Hightower

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The United States is beginning to be confronted in China with the danger of its first major reverse of the cold war.

Officials show deep concern over military, political and economic reports from the embattled land. They no longer appear so confident as they once were that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government can revive its powers of leadership and put an end to the disastrous civil war with the Communists.

If Chiang's Communist foes continue their military successes and conditions in the rest of China grow steadily worse, some authorities here rate two other long-range possibilities as stronger than the chance for survival of the Chiang government:

1. The Communists within a year or so may extend their mastery over all China—or so much of it that what remains out of their grasp would be insignificant.

2. Some sort of new leftist government may emerge combining political elements now active in Chiang's China with the Communists, in an effort to give the country peace and a new national administration.

Washington's official experts, considering the conditions which have been brought on by the latest Communist successes in China, still refuse to make any hard and fast prediction. What they do agree on is that the

PALESTINE WAR IN OPEN AGAIN

United Nations Orders Cease-Fire As Israeli Troops Clear Region

TEL AVIV, Israel, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Serious fighting has broken out in upper Galilee scarcely a week after defeat of the Egyptians in southern Palestine, and the U. N. has ordered both sides to cease-fire.

Arabic broadcasts said Israeli's forces were on the march all along the northern front. U. N. observers said the Jews were attacking with artillery, planes and troops along a 20-mile arc from Tarshiha to Lake Hula.

There were unconfirmed reports that Tarshiha, 12 miles northeast of Acre on the coast, had fallen after repeated bombing and land attacks. Tarshiha is the main base of Fawzi Bey El Kaukji's Arab irregulars.

Other reports to U. N. truce headquarters at Haifa said the Jews had cleared the road from Acre to Safad, 22 miles northeast.

BIG DRAINAGE PROJECT GETS UNDERWAY IN RICHLAND AREA

By Percy Fant

(Of The Morning World Staff)

RAYVILLE, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—Speedy progress last week got the largest farm drainage program ever attempted in the state through the soil conservation service off to a "satisfactory" start. The project, located eight miles northeast of here, will directly affect 102 farms in an area of eleven square miles.

Sponsored by the Cypress Creek Drainage Association, through the Beouf river soil conservation district board, the main canal measures four miles from beginning to end and will cost an estimated $27,000, of which the production, marketing administration, a branch of the department of agriculture, will pay over $13,000 and the balance by local farmers on an acreage basis. The program will affect 102 farms, most of which belong to small landowners.

State conservationist listed benefits of the project as increasing the productivity of the soil already under cultivation; alloting over thiry per cent more land for crops; allowing the farmers to plant their crops earlier and to enable the farmers to plant winter legumes for the purpose of adding to the fertility of their soil.

Work on clearing the right-of-way for the main canal began Monday, with a number of bulldozers and draglines swinging into high gear to complete the job by their deadline, December 31 of this year.

The soil conservation service is providing technical help, furnishing important statistics necessary for the successful completion of the undertaking. The department of agriculture, through the production marketing administration, pays eight cents per cubic feet of excavation.

In The Air

Over Monroe

By Margaret Gambrell

Air fans will be flocking to Selman Field by the hundreds next Sunday afternoon when the Trans-American Air Show—the first big air show produced in Monroe this year, is staged.

The Monroe and West Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday that negotiations with R. H. English, producer of the air show, had been completed.

The Trans-American show will supply the most complete air show program ever to be witnessed in Louisiana and will feature eight of the nation's best precision acrobatic pilots.

Among the pilots listed on the flying roster is Art Davis, nationally known sky writer and acrobatic pilot.

Art is known from coast to coast by all airmen and is called the dean of all air show pilots. He flew and worked air shows with such names as Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, Eddie Rickenbacher, Frank Hawks, Roscoe Turner, Lee Miles and many other old timers.

Art flies his famous 330 Waco Taperwing in low level acrobatics which have proven to be breath taking for many years.

Johnny Veasey, national high speed acrobatic champion, is the top man in the show. He will fly his beautiful and colorful Vasey "9 Day Wonder." Jimmy specializes in close to the earth up-side-down flying, out-side loops, square loops, hesitation eight-point slow rolls and the beautiful clover leaf loop.

Billy Fisher will fly a tiny Rose-Parakeet plane, a ship so small that he has to put it on, instead of getting into it. The little ship weighs less than 500 pounds.

Among the unusual acts will be that of Billy Light who stands on the top wing of a 450 Steerman biplane as the pilot flys it up-side-down, does slow rolls and loops with him on the top wing. Billy will also change from a speeding automobile to an airplane via a rope ladder.

It's predicted that T. Hennesey Collins, from Bourbon county, Kentucky, will leave you stone sober, when he puts on a fifteen minute exhibition in his famous "Tequilla."

Lowell White will land his airplane on the top of a speeding car, called the smallest airport in the world—a platform which is eight feet wide and two feet long. The car and airplane will come to a complete stop after the landing.

Red Grant, nationally famous bat wing parachute jumper, will make his 113th bat wing jump. He will bail out of a speeding airplane at ten thousand feet and sail to the ground on his man made wings, using his parachute after the last 500 feet to let him down to the earth.

The show will be announced by Rex English, air show announcer from the Cleveland, Miami and Los Angeles air races. Those who have heard English announce air races agree that his commentary of the events, description of the various maneuvers and background stories on the pilots are educational as well as humorous.

Airpark Flying

This past week saw an increase in flying at the Airpark.

Over the week end there was an unusual number of students who took extended cross-country trips. Those who made the cross country trips to various football games and to visit relatives were Bobby Hawthorn, Ralph Stripling, of Marion, Curtis Cowan, of Ferriday, Sgt. H. L. Demaree, of Selman Field, Robert Dowdy, of West Monroe, N. H. Knox, of West Monroe and Andrew L. Parker, of Ferriday.

Monroe Airpark's twin Cessna left for South Dakota this week on a charter trip piloted by Lavern Grayson. The trip, of course, is to hunt pheasants while the season is still open.

Those making the trip include Vagie Rivers, of Farmerville, Dick Whitehurst, of Monroe, and Ed Trippe, of Bastrop. This is Mr. Trippe's second air-trip to the pheasant country this season. It's a fascinating sport they all agree.

The Airpark anticipates several more trips of this nature in the immediate future and is open for bookings on their twin Cessna.

One of the company's dusters was pulled out of the hangar during the week to seed 150 acres for Clifford Benson on the Milhaven road.

Service Aviation News

Activities were slim during the week at the field, but Herman J. Mang, pilot and mechanic for a local pipe line took advantage of the slump and left with his wife, Mrs. H. J. Mang for a vacation in St. Louis, Mo.

Recent out-ow-town visitors at the field included E. O. Larson, of Chicago, who stopped in Wednesday night while on a vacation in this part of the country. It was his second local stop while in the south.

George Bailey of Lafayette, flew to Monroe Friday on business in his Aerona-Chief.

W. S. Carroll, of Ruston, stopped over night in Monroe Thursday in his Beech.

Events at Northeast

The pheasant hunters who left for North Dakota week before last and returned last Monday after a successful five day hunt were: E. F. Madison, H. Hawthorne, Ed Trippe, P. C. Pipes, Red Willett and party.

Following the hunt, Ed Tripp chartered a plane to Memphis, Tenn., on business and returned in the company's new Cessna piloted by Paulette Pipes that night.

Sun Oil Company officials, of Dallas, visited in Monroe on business Sunday.

The Brown craft twin Beech visited Monroe on business during the week and departed for Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Smith, who left recently on a vacation by air, returned after visiting their home in Chicago and touring the midwest.

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Three days from election, Washington is a dismal town, almost a ghost town.

It's been that way for weeks.

If you don't think so, just look back in your mind at the kind of Washington news you've been reading for a good while now.

News is only a reflection of activity and the big news lately has been made some place else.

In ordinary times Washington is bubbling with events, or events to come.

And usually, in ordinary times, there are three big news sources here:

1. The White House, meaning the president.
2. Congress.
3. The state department.

But the president has been away campaigning almost every day for more than a month. Practically everything he's said, he's said somewhere else.

Groups of tourists trudge around the capital, looking down on the deserted house and senate floors.

And the house and senate office buildings, where congress does most of its work anyway, are cold and lonely.

In other days, you could hardly creep through the halls there without falling over a senator or a congressman.

Now you could fire a load of grapeshot from one end of either building to the other and do no damage, except to the quiet walls.

And the state department—a very tidy, busy place—produces hardly more than a whisper now with the big man away.

The big man, the center of all state department doings, is the secretary of state, George Marshall. He has been at the United Nations meeting in Paris for weeks.

So the big news on foreign affairs is coming from Paris, from Marshall or the other foreign ministers or the various delegates to the U. N.

Among government employes of course, there's a lot of wondering about what will happen to them after Tuesday's elections.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has promised, if elected, the greatest house cleaning Washington ever saw.

The top people, like cabinet officers and men who owe their jobs to President Truman, can expect to hit the road if the Republican candidate wins. He'll bring his own people with him.

But he may not be able to do much shaking up among the rank and file of government employes.

As the population grows, the job of government grows bigger, and more, not less, people are needed to handle it.

If President Truman wins, the government workers can relax because he hasn't made any threats about housecleaning.

The symbol of Washington these days is the huge wooden platform carpenters are building at the capitol.

It's the place where the new president, whoever he is is, will be inaugurated, taking his oath of office, making a speech about the future.

When that's over, down comes the platform, and Washington settles down to four more years of history in the making.

Red Blood Cells Must Be Kept Up If You Want To Feel Alive

Thousands Now Regaining Old Time Pep, Vigor and Drive By Releasing Vibrant Energy To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Overwork, undue worry, and lack of certain foods often reduces the red-blood strength—and starved, weak, puny blood just hasn't the power to keep up your energy and drive.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloat and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. WINNSBORO, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—Rev. L. H. West, pastor of Central Christian Church, Shreveport, and E. R. Dawson, leader of the Winnsboro congregation, will begin a two-week revival and evangelistic meeting November 7-19. Reverend West will do the preaching and E. R. Dawson will do personal work and assist in the meeting. The Winnsboro congregation has been without a local pastor for several years. Mr. Dawson, ordained elder of the First Christian Church of Monroe, was called to Winnsboro last November to assist the congregation to reorganize the Winnsboro church.

It is reported that satisfactory progress has been made in the congregation since reorganizing there. Additions have been added to the church membership and church school has been conducted Sunday morning and worship services each Lord's day, together with regular functions of the church.

Gospel preaching will be conducted nightly at 7:30 by Reverend West Monday night through Friday night and regular morning and evening services on Sunday from November 7-19.

Brother Claud L. Jones will preach for the congregation Sunday morning and Sunday night, November 7. He will be visiting friends in Winnsboro. Reverend Jones organized the Winnsboro church years ago. His many friends are looking forward to hearing him again after many years on other fields.

Brother L. H. West will begin his meeting Monday night, November 8, with evangelistic services each evening at 7:30.

All are cordially invited to attend these services nightly. Good community singing will be had each night of the meeting.

EDUCATION WEEK WILL BE MARKED

Parish High School Plans Extensive Observance

Nov. 7-13

The Ouachita Parish High School of this city is planning an extensive program in observance of American Education Week, November 7-13, according to authorities.

The general theme for the week as outlined by the National Education Association, and the one which will be followed at Ouachita, is strengthening the foundation of freedom. The philosophy underlying this theme, according to N. E. A. is that the children of today will be the America tomorrow. They will develop our resources, advance science and industry, create new works of art, promote the general welfare, make laws and cope with international issues.

They will face formidable and complex problems. How will they deal with them depends in large part upon the kind of education they receive now. Effectively to prepare them for the work of their time is to help build the future security and greatness of our nation. Will America continue to be a land of freedom and opportunity? Will it continue to demonstrate that democracy is the best hope for humanity? To give worthy world leadership? Will we be able to live at peace with peoples of different idealogies? To preserve our free institutions amid the tensions and dangers? To banish illiteracy, prejudice, and disease? The answer to these questions depend on the knowledge and skill, wisdom and vision, now being developed in our growing children and youth. Our schools must be strong enough to meet their responsibility to keep America strong and free.

It is further pointed out that American Education Week offers unparalleled opportunities this year, as public interest in education is now greater than ever. The national picture of education today, based upon studies of the National Education Association, is better than previously. The last two years have begun to repair the ravages of the war period, authorities tell us, but they add that we must not allow the American public to lax into a state of apathy. There has never been a time when complacency about our educational system has been less justified. Public interest in the schools—the indispensable requirement for educational progress—must be kept high.

The Ouachita Parish High School endeavors to keep this public interest, which the National Education Association points out is so essential to the progress of our schools, high at all times, but special emphasis is being added this year during American Education Week, with the high point of the week's activities being an open house Tuesday evening, November 9, at which time the entire faculty and student body will be hosts to the parents and friends of the school.

A special invitation is given to every parent and friend of Ouachita Parish High School to be present on this occasion.

CAMPAIGN EXPECTED TO BOOST TWO-PARTY SYSTEM IN SOUTH

Public Opinion Polls Indicate Heavier Republican Vote

By Edward Jamieson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(Special)—Substantial strides in the development of the two-party system in the south are likely to result from the present presidential campaign and election in the opinion of leaders in both the Republican and Democratic parties.

While the G. O. P. ticket of Governors Thomas E. Dewey and Earl Warren is not expected to carry more than one or two normal southern Democratic states at best, public opinion polls and other evidence point to one of if not the heaviest Republican vote in the south in history. This excepts, of course, the 1928 election, when Herbert Hoover carried four southern states because of the religious and prohibition issues involved in that particular election.

Meanwhile, the States' Rights party, which will poll a substantial vote for its ticket of Governors Strom Thurmond and Fielding Wright, is generally expected to disintegrate after the November 2 election and play no major importance in future southern politics.

In recent years, there has been a growing feeling among southern leaders, regardless of their political affiliation, that the south would benefit both economically and politically if the extreme dominations of the one Democratic party could be eliminated.

Chances of a southerner becoming president have always been dimmed by the one-party system. The Democratic party has gone on the theory that it would get the southern electoral votes in any event, so it preferred naming its candidates from doubtful northern and midwestern states. Meanwhile, no G. O. P. leader who might have been considered for the presidency could develop in the Democratic rock-bound section.

Similarly, the south has felt more and more that it was being largely ignored by both Democratic and Republican administrations, due largely to the same reason. National party leaders likewise paid less attention to demands and requests of the south in formulating policy. In fact, not only the increased support for the Republican ticket in the south this year, but the actual birth of the States' Rights party, are results of this growing feeling.

Any possibility of the Hoover victory in the south leading toward strengthening the Republican party below the Mason-Dixon line, of course, was blasted by the depression and the resulting Democratic domination of virtually the entire country for more than twelve years under the leadership of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Today, however, leaders feel that the political situation has resumed a more normal state. Thus they forsee the prospect of Republicans holding and even strengthening the gains they make in the south this November.

Reports to Republican headquarters from a number of the states disclose that more new blood has been drawn into the local Republican campaign committees and organizations than in many years. Names of men and women prominent locally who never before had worked for the Republican party are included in the reports. At the same time, the former local leaders, who stayed with the G. O. P. primarily with their eyes on future federal patronage, are playing lesser roles in the campaign.

This development would tend to confirm the belief that the Republican party will be stronger in the south in the future. It is no secret that in the past, Republican party leaders in some of the southern states, at least, were not anxious to build up the party too much. They were interested only in passing out the thousands of federal jobs available in the state during a Republican nomination, and the smaller the party, the farther the jobs would go.

Governor Dewey, if elected, will also devote attention to maintaining southern gains and strengthening them in anticipation of 1952. Advisors to the G. O. P. candidate have disclosed that he intends to devote considerable attention to filling key government posts within the southern states, and will probably name several southern Republican leaders to major posts in Washington. While Dewey, unlike some of the other pre-convention candidates for the Republican nomination, has not promised to name a southerner to his cabinet, he is expected to at least name one or more men from that section to positions of near cabinet status.

Men and women selected for these posts will not only be picked for their ability, but also with a view to rewarding newcomers to the party who can be expected to help build its numerical strength in the south.

Much of this will be done, of course, to enhance Dewey's chances of reelection in 1952. Just as he and his advisors began looking toward getting the 1948 nomination in 1944, they are now looking another four years ahead.

Nevertheless, there are many southerners, some of whom have and will continue to be loyal to the Democratic party, who believe that the south will be the real gainer in the long run.

DRAINAGE

According to farmers and conservationist, the purpose of the project is to afford a sufficient drainage system, thus assuring the planters of a larger and more productive area on their land.

The program consists of only one large canal, approximately 19,500 feet in length, running almost due east and west, and draining finally into the Beouf river. Numerous lateral canals will be added as soon as the main drainage system is put into operation.

Most of the area under present cultivation, according to conservation reports, is planted mainly in cotton. Corn, soybeans, rice and truck crops occupy a large portion of the other crops. Rice, a relatively new crop to the vicinity, is deemed a top money-yielder by Richland parish farmers.

The drainage project, the largest of its kind attempted through the soil conservation department in Louisiana, was planned by the Cypress Creek Drainage Association, of which W. H. Linton is the president, nearly a year ago. The program, passed through the Beouf river soil conservation district, which is headed by Bob Harmon of Monroe, will require 17,000 cubic yards of excavation.

The canal will drain into Beouf river via way of Cypress and Gum bayous. Soil types along the canal right-of-way are silt loam, clay and clay loam. The width of the ditching will measure from three feet at its origin to twenty feet near its mouth.

Work on the canal, beginning at Cypress bayou and extending west to the Holly Ridge road, is being done by the Roy Snider Company of Delhi. Excavation from Cypress bayou to Beouf river is under the direction of the McAllister Construction Company.

J. F. Boughton, unit soil conservationist, and J. E. Wyche of the soil conservation service, are conservation agents on the job.

THURMOND

build the Democratic party, to prevent passage of the un-American force bills, and to restore the southern states to a position of respect from every political party."

Terming the FEPC and kindred measures unconstitutional "civil wrongs proposals," Thurmond said:

"Truman, Dewey and Wallace, who have pretended that they are able to guide the destinies of the entire world, have thus shown that they have little or no respect for the rights of their own people at home.

"These are not idle words, my friends. Let me remind you that we are now engaged in an effort to restore the German people to a kind of democracy which will make it impossible for another Hitler to take them over. To prevent that, we are inisisting that the states of Germany be restored, that the people be given representative government again, and that the principle of government by the consent of the people be perpetuated in Germany. We are making it certain that the power of government be decentralized, for we know that Hitler came to power by centralizing all powers in Berlin.

"The Russians, on the other hand, prefer to establish a powerful central government in Germany. Once it is set up, they plan to control it with their own stooges.

"All Americans support and encourage the effort of the United States to prevent the return of centralized government in Germany.

"But we must not become so absorbed in the problems of democracy in Europe that we forget how to maintain it at home. And today in the United States we are confronted with the spectacle of three candidates for president who have all committed themselves to a program that would centralize government in Washington.

"They have all three promised to take away the rights of our states and to give the government in Washington a control over our people which no one ever dared to suggest before. * * *

"I believe with all my heart that the people are going to use the voice of the States' Rights Democrats to prevent this effort to convert our government and our way of life into something fit only for the Communists."

Thurmond, who campaigned intensively in Texas this week, appeared also today at Longview, in East Texas, and at San Antonio.

a river light tender, who noticed buzzards circling over it.

Martin told newsmen he was confident "that this is the man and that he drowned."

The body was taken to Angola for burial.

Bruce was last seen about 7 p. m. Oct. 19 at the Spillman home where he served as a houseboy. His disappearance caused the search for Mrs. Spillman. She was last known alive at 8 a. m. Oct. 19 when she talked with a friend by telephone.

Several hours later when the friend, Mrs. J. A. Robertson, called at the Spillman home, Bruce told her Mrs. Spillman had left in a car "with another lady."

Mrs. Spillman's husband said he thought his wife was attending a party and that he retired after being served the evening meal by Bruce. He said he was awakened by the search party about 1 a. m. When Bruce failed to report to his camp on the 18,000 acre prison farm.

A coroner's jury found that Mrs. Spillman w s killed "by a person or persons unknown."

Deputy Bonaventure said that besides the Angola-type underwear, the man's body was also clothed in women's undergarments, silk hosiery, a green sweather and a woman's wig. The dress was blue, he said.

There was also a scar on the man's head corresponding to one he said Bruce had as a result of a wound he received "about ten or 12 years ago" when a bullet grazed his head, Bonaventure added.

ST. LOUIS

cian who lived in a palace "which today would be called Albany."

People called on this politician for enlightenment, the president said, and the politician "raised his hand" and said:

"You know what I am about to say to you."

The people, the president continued, were afraid of offending the politician and replied:

"'Oh, yes, we know'."

"'Well'," said the politician of whom Mr. Truman spoke, "'If you know what I am about to say there's no need for me to speak.' And he went back into the palace."

"The people were disappointed, for they expected big things," the president said.

So, the next day, according to Mr. Truman, the crowd came again and the politician appeared a second time.

This time, the president's story went, the people were asked if they knew what the politician in the "Albany" palace was about to say.

"'No, we don't know' they were quoted as replying.

"'Well,' the politician was said to have replied, 'if you are that ignorant it is not proper that I should speak'," the president recounted.

And the politician, Mr. Truman told them, went back into his palace once more.

And a third time the "disappointed people" appeared at the palace, and a third time the politician appeared, asking if they knew what he was about to say.

This time, said Mr. Truman, the people consulted among themselves and were ready for the politician. A spokesman replied:

"Half of us know, and half of us don't know."

Then, Mr. Truman quoted the politician:

"Well, in that event, those who know can tell those who do not know."

En route to the campaign finale at St. Louis, the president told trainside audiences the Republicans have tried to "tear up" labor's charter and make "a travesty" out of the farm program.

The strain of the long, day and night campaigning showed in the faces of his aides, but the gray-haired, 64-year-old chief executive looked fresh as he appeared for the final talks of the campaign that started in Michigan on Labor Day.

And Mr. Truman told his St. Louis audience, "I am not tired."

"I've been traveling all over this country," he put it, "telling the folks about the facts of life. They have been interested and enthusiastic and now they are aroused.

"I've been working hard, but I am not tired. The reception I have had has sustained me. The deep conviction that I am right, fighting for the people, has carried me on."

He said he had gotten his figures of victory "from the best possible source—the people themselves."

Mr. Truman contended he had taken a positive stand on every issue, but Governor Dewey "refused to tell the American people where he stands on any issue," offering only "platitudes and double talk."

"The president bore down heavily on enactment by the 80th congress of what he called "the notorious Taft-Hartley act which ought to be repealed." He added the congress attacked the welfare of the farmers.

"This is the congress that the Republican candidate said delivered for the future of the country as no other congress ever did," Mr. Truman went on.

"I suppose he approves what the Republican 80th congress did to the farm price support program. That program has originated by the Democrats. It's purpose was to prevent the bottom from dropping out of farm prices.

"* * * But the Republicans in congress—or most of them—don't like farm price supports. They seemed to think it is a little wicked for the government to be concerned about farm prices."

Exuding confidence, Mr. Truman told a crowd around the rear platform of his private car at Bellefontaine, O.:

"After having visited nearly every state in the union and all the great cities, I have come to the conclusion that the Republicans are on the run.

"The Republican candidate started out by saying that he was going to make 10 political speeches in this campaign. Instead of that, he has been following me around the country and he is still following me around—and he is still behind."

NATIONAL GUARD

Athens, led the advance guard of troops into Loudon during the afternoon. "All is quiet," he said. "There doesn't seem to be any trouble at all now."

Adjutant Gen. Hilton Butler, who headed for Loudon from Nashville, said the presence of the guardsmen would quickly quiet the situation.

Groups of citizens here have demanded that McDonald and Hughes resign.

The two officers waived preliminary hearing before Magistrate Dudley Cates yesterday. Cates, a resident of nearby Lenoir City, presided at the hearing after other magistrates here refused to hear the case.

Pending action by the grand jury the officers are at liberty under $5,000 bond.

Meanwhile, the resignation of McDonald and Hughes has been demanded at three mass meetings but they said they would not do so unless forced to by court order.

The last of these meetings was held last night in the ball park here. Previously the resignation demands had been voiced by groups which congregated at the county jail here.

Although there was outward calm here today, Constable Jake Littleton said "I don't know how we could keep it that way without help."

Brewster was a popularly known ballad singer over Knoxville radio stations. His home was at Loudon, 30 miles southwest of Knoxville and about 50 miles northeast of Chattanooga. Loudon is the seat of the county of the same name.

Tennessee Adjutant Gen. Hilton Butler left Nashville for Loudon early this afternoon to take overall command of the troops.

Butler relayed Governor McCord's orders to the troops after the sheriff and mayor here had informed the chief executive the situation was beyond control of local agencies.

DEWEY

this overshadowing threat of another war.

"That is the cause that lies closest to our hearts tonight. That is the cause above all other causes to which our next national administration will be dedicated."

Dewey pledged to wage the peace "patiently and firmly with intense labor and a new devotion."

He promised to "enlist for this momentous task Americans of the highest order of competence and added:

"We will follow strong, clear policies. The world will once again know where we stand and it will be the same every day. We shall be all out on the side of human freedom."

"We will work for peace through the United Nations and by every honorable means wherever the peace is threatened."

Noting that tomorrow night is Halloween, Dewey then proceeded, without naming him, to jab at Mr. Truman's campaign.

"I mention the date," he said, "because since this campaign began some people have been trying to give the impression that every night is Halloween. Grown men have been going around our country threatening: 'Vote our way or the goblins will get you.'

"We have been hearing blood curdling stories about 'mossbacks,' 'blood suckers,' 'men with calculating machines where their hearts ought to be,' and one shadowy ogre after another.

"Members of congress elected by the people, have had special Halloween treatment of tall tales. They are described as "predatory animals.' Each has a single 'mossback.' They do their dreadful work with 'meat axes, butcher knives and sabres.' And what do these monsters eat? Why, 'red herring,' of course."

Dewey said the people have not been "fooled or frightened."

"Halloween will be over tomorrow night, but next Tuesday the people of America are really going to bring this nightmare to an end," he declared.

Speaking of his own campaign, Dewey said he and his vice-presidential running mate, Gov. Earl Warren of California, spent many hours discussing their plans before it got under way.

"From the very first," Dewey said, "we agreed that something more important was at stake in this campaign than merely winning an election.

"We agreed that this was too grave a time for politics as usual, for political circuses and sideshows; that it was too grave a time for cheap wisecracking; that it was too grave a time for ranting, boasting partisanship.

"We agreed that in this grave time we would conduct a campaign worthy of America. I am very happy that we can look back over the weeks of our campaigning and say: 'This has been good for our country.' I am proud that we can look ahead to our victory and say: 'America won.'"

Dewey reiterated previously promises to give full backing to the farm price support program, to soil conservation efforts, and to development and saving of the nations' natural resources.

He also pledged again that if he is elected "labor's freedoms * * * will be zealously guarded and extended."

And he promised again that "here at home we will carry on the fight against injustice and discrimination, the fight for the civil liberties of all our people in all our land."

Dewey was scheduled to leave immediately after tonight's address for his farm home at Pawling, N. Y. He will spend Sunday there, attending services in the morning at Christ Church on Quaker Hill.

The G. O. P. candidate will start back to New York Monday noon and remain here to vote Tuesday and get the election returns at his hotel suite that night.

besides cabinet reorganization. His government has been severely criticized for inability to suppress Communist rebels and fulfill public desire for faster economic recovery.

Last July he offered his resignation after nine Liberal deputies demanded higher prices for domestic wheat, but he withdrew it after talking with King Paul.

Venizelos was received by the king today and said he would confer later with U. S. Ambassador Henry W. Grady. High American officials here are known to be opposed to major government changes at this time for fear a political crisis might retard military and economic developments.

Venizelos claims he has the support of 60 of the Liberal party's 100 deputies. The smaller parties would join them in any move against the government, making the fall of the cabinet certain.

Greece continues its effort to crush the Communists. Today police arrested 44 alleged Communists in Piraeus, the port of Athens. Yesterday the country was placed under martial law.

PACK-A-TOWEL PLAN POPULAR

Church Women Through Twin City Council Urging Movement

The Pack-A-Towel for a teen-ager project of the Twin City Council of Church Women for World Community Day observance has been presented to the schools and church women of the Twin Cities this week by the members of the committee on Christian world relations, according to Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, chairman. The response to this project has been most encouraging, according to Mrs. Metcalf, and it is hoped the report to be made on Friday, November 5, giving the number of towel packages mailed to the Church World Service Center, 510 South Elm avenue, Webster Groves 19, Mo., will show the generous spirit exhibited in 1947 when boxes and bundles were packed and mailed for the younger children.

"Peace Is My Responsibility" is the theme for this year's observance of World Community Day, and at the program planned in observance of this world-wide celebrated day, there will be an offering taken to speed the sending of these towels overseas, and furnish vitamins and medical supplies. Part of the offering will be kept by the United Council of Church Women to be used in their never-ceasing work for peace.

According to Ruth Mougey Worrell, executive secretary of the United Council of Church Women, this is definitely no time for weariness in well doing. Mrs. Worell asks: "How strong is your imagination? Can you realize what it means to be without a home or country, to be herded in a great camp having no idea of the future and still less hope? Can you realize what it would mean to have been hunted and shunted from one place to another until finally you become just another number among these thousands of homeless ones? To have never known what a real home meant, or perhaps to have memories that at times become unbearable because that part of your life seems to be gone forever? It is for these young people from 14 to 21 years of age that we are packing our towels this year.

"I beg of you," Mrs. Worrell continues, "as you include clothing and vital necessities for everyday living in that towel that you add a bit of brightness to each package—a pretty blouse, an artificial flower, a ribbon, a scarf, sweet-scented soap, a necktie, a pocket-knife. No, we are not asking for new things, only please do not forget needles and thread and yarn, material for patches, yardage for something new, but let us be sure that everything we do send is clean. That has been one of the greatest values in the packages that have been sent in other years by the church women of America."

Anyone interesting in packing a towel who has not seen a project sheet giving details as to how the packing is to be done and with what, may get this information by contacting members of the Christian world relations committee: Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, chairman; Mrs. Earl Stovall, Mrs. C. C. Lindley or Mrs. R. C. Powless.

BARTENDERS OFFER SELVES AS SITTERS

DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 30.—(AP)—About 100 Decatur union bartenders will be available for baby sitting jobs next Tuesday, election day.

Mothers wanting a sitter so they can go to the polls can get a bartender as baby sitter at Local 23, Bartenders, Hotel and Restaurant Employes Union.

R. K. Young, union business agent, said the bartenders agreed to offer their services because they will be idle. By state law saloons are closed in Illinois during the time the polls are open on election day.

Young said the union has not decided on wages for the bartenders. But they won't be much, he said.

DOING THE 'IMPOSSIBLE'

B. I. McGuffey, owner of a tract of unusually fine virgin cypress timber located 11 miles northeast of Bastrop, has done the "impossible" by felling and harvesting this large area. It had been regarded as "impossible" as the trees in swamp land were 500 or more feet distant to the nearest elevated bank. The getting out of the timber was made possible through the use of a so-called "loggers dream" which carries as equipment 1200 feet of 5/8 inch wire cable. McGuffey states that to date only three trees have been damaged in the process of pulling them out of the swamp lands. Some of the logs were 100 feet long, about eight inches at the top and 24 inches at the base. They were all located in a 1,000 acre lagoon. The logs are being shipped over the Missouri Pacific railroad to New York City where they are to be used in piling operations.

Mackenzie's Column

SHANGHAI, Oct. 30.—(AP)—If communism's fast flow over Asia is to be stopped, the United States must tackle the knotty problem of China again quickly and find a better solution than any tried so far.

Whether or not communism has been halted in Europe, it certainly has not been stopped in Asia where its encroachment appears geared to China's civil war. Every time the Chinese Reds score a big victory Communist cells begin to ferment all over the Far East.

Red China never looked stronger. The loss of Tsinan, Shantung capital, for example, left Nanking, Shanghai and the Yangtze heartland of Chiang Kai-Shek's China open to attack. Time draws short.

What can America do? Veteran observers in China know the answer is not simply granting more money. The money will disappear and the Reds will keep on coming. Observers see these four courses open:

1. Write off China, let Chiang fall, and hope that Chinese communism will not succeed. A lot of people don't think it would.

2. Abandon China except for a foothold on the coast as a beachhead should a war against world communism come. Tsingtao, U. S. navy base, seems logical. It isn't strong now, but it could be built up.

3. Continue small-scale aid to Chiang in the hope of buying time. This is the present policy, but it hasn't had much success.

4. Throw in big-scale aid and try to defeat communism in China in the hope that thereafter other Asiatic Reds will curl up and die.

The fourth course seems to be the most popular now with Americans except those who would have to administer the job. These last favor the idea but despair of making it work.

China is a huge, sprawling land mass, criss-crossed by mountains and rivers with few roads and railroads. In its best days China had little national cohesion. Large sections are almost autonomous and pay little heed to Nanking. Some of these sections are the richest.

Its 450 millions live at peaks of sumptuous wealth and depths of grinding poverty. Literacy is about 10 per cent. Millions of Chinese even in cities don't know the name of their own president. Always badly governed, Chinese have little or no feeling of patriotism by western standards.

As to the civil war, the average Chinese is more interested in keeping out of the way than in winning it. He isn't half as concerned about saving China from communism as the Americans are.

To him the Communists are just another conqueror, and he has had conquerors coming and going for centuries without any noticeable change in his lot. He dislikes soldiers, Red or government, and has suffered at the hands of both.

So this vast, loose and indifferent nation, which in its heart dislikes foreigners much more than it dislikes any special political breed of Chinese, is asked to halt the spread of communism.

Some pretty good U. S. military brains have come to China and tried to bend it to a unified war effort. Most of them admitted they went slightly crazy in the process.

A very large segment of foreigners in China believe the United States can stop communism in China only with a terrific amount of direct intervention in the nation's affairs.

They say the intervention must be almost as much as the U. S. now is exerting in such conquered countries as Japan.

Such intervention would be hard to sell to the people of the United States, and it would be intensely unpopular with the Chinese.

Six months ago you wouldn't have suggested it to the Nanking government, but the government is pretty much on the ropes now and might listen.

Apropos of this, Republican Presidential Candidate Thomas E. Dewey was quoted in new dispatches out here as saying "China needs technical advisers most of all."

To which an American-owned Shanghai newspaper replied that China doesn't need technical advisers half so badly as she needs somebody who will take the advice and act on it.

Stopping communism in Asia boils down to stopping the Chinese Communists. But beyond that point it no longer boils down. It boils up.

STRETCHING FAILS TO GET MAN POST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Peter G. Barrick, 21, has had his up and downs.

He was rejected for the metropolitan police force last spring for being three quarters of an inch too short (the minimum: 5 feet, 8 inches).

Some time later, after doing a stretch with a chiropractor, he marched back in for a fresh examination. Again he was turned down—this time a quarter of an inch from success. Back to the chiropractor he went.

Yesterday Barrick tried again. He was rejected.

He had shrunk 3/8 of an inch.

He was last seen headed for his chiropractor—for more stretching, he said. Not for a refund.

35 PER CENT OF LOUISIANA VOTE MAY BE ENOUGH TO WIN

Split In Democratic Ranks Makes Clear Majority Unlikely

By Edmond Le Breton

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 30.—(AP)—What proportion of the Louisiana vote will it take for a presidential candidate to carry the state next Tuesday?

Some think the winning candidate—whoever he may be—will receive as little as 35 per cent of the vote in the state. Many capitol observers predict that no one will get more than 40 per cent.

The reason, of course, is the split in the Louisiana Democratic ranks—a new thing in Louisiana politics.

The normally overwhelming Democratic vote will be divided between Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, the States' Rights candidate formally adopted as the Louisiana Democratic nominee by the Democratic state central committee, and President Truman, nominated independently under a special law.

Then Republicans are predicting a surprisingly heavy vote for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York. They are saying that it is not beyond the bounds of possibility that he may carry the state. Their argument is that the intra-party row has shaken many Democrats out of their normal voting habits and that some of them will listen to the G. O. P. argument that the best way to register a protest and inaugurate a two-party system in Louisiana is to vote Republican.

Finally, there is the Progressive party vote, an unknown quantity. All that is known definitely is that Henry A. Wallace's supporters apparently did not need much time to get 1,000 signatures to a petition to place his name on the ballot.

Louisianians have been accustomed for so many years to a two-party general election ballot, with the Democrats conceded an easy victory, that they may wonder what happens when no candidate in a general election gets more than half the votes.

The answer is that the man with the highest total takes the prize—in this case ten electoral votes for president. There is no provision for running off a general election, comparable to the familiar "second primary" between the two high candidates in a party primary.

That is why Louisiana's entire presidential electoral vote may go to a candidate who polls much less than half the popular vote in the state—theoretically it could go to a candidate polling only 26 per cent, if the vote were very closely divided in this four-cornered contest.

The last time Louisianians had a choice of more than two presidential candidates on the ballot was in 1924, when Robert Lafollette, running as a third-party nominee, picked up 4,063 votes in the state.

The best Republican showing in recent years came four years earlier, when Warren G. Harding polled more than 30 per cent of the Louisiana vote—38,538 to 87,519 for Democrat James Cox.

In 1944, Governor Dewey attracted about 19 per cent of the Louisiana vote. The returns were 67,750 for Dewey, 281,564 for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Unlimited Spending And Borrowing

(Amendment Number One)

This amendment, removing all limitations on spending and borrowing by the State Board of Liquidation, has been described correctly by the Bureau of Governmental Research as "one of the most dangerous proposals made in recent years for the undermining of democracy in Louisiana."

Amendment No. 1 is a brazen attempt to bypass time-honored legislative processes in the handling of state funds. By centralizing vast spending and borrowing power in the hands of a few, it creates a grave menace to the financial integrity of the state and to the welfare of all of the state's taxpayers.

The Louisiana citizen who gives thought to his own interests, the interests of his family and of his state, will vote against Amendment No. 1 and do all that he can to persuade others to cast their votes against it.

Adoption of Amendment No. 1 would, in practical effect, enable the governor and his Board of Liquidation to spend and borrow without limit between legislative sessions, and the public would be deprived of any right or chance to protest.

By creating a shortcut for unlimited state spending and borrowing, with the legislative process of committee hearings and debate eliminated, Amendment No. 1 would open the way for a return of the scandals which disgraced the state in the late 1930s.

It would flash the green "go" light for careless, reckless handling of state funds by the same state administration which recently doubled the tax load on the people of Louisiana.

Prior to 1935, the State Board of Liquidation operated in a modest manner to meet real emergencies arising between legislative sessions. In 1935 and 1936, the legislature greatly increased the powers of the board, with the result that the board took over many of the spending and borrowing operations previously handled by the legislature in regular or special sessions.

Spending and borrowing by the board was then, as before and since, subject to a mail poll of the legislators. But a graft-ridden regime in the years from 1936 to 1940 had no trouble getting approval of its proposals from a majority of the individual legislators contacted by mail.

There was no opportunity for debate or publicity or public protest. The set-up was ideal for the free-spenders and Hayriders of the "scandals" years.

In 1943, the legislative act expanding appropriation powers of the board was ruled unconstitutional.

In 1944, the people of Louisiana voted a Constitutional amendment limiting Board of Liquidation appropriations to $100,000 for any one item, and to $1,000,000 in the aggregate for any one year. The board was authorized to borrow funds not in excess of $1,000,000 in any one year. The outstanding board debt at any one time was limited to $2,000,000.

These wholly reasonable restraints on the operations of the State Board of Liquidation would be thrown aside if Amendment No. 1 is approved next Tuesday.

It is a highly pertinent, and ominous, fact that the present administration in drafting this amendment did not ask that the ceilings on board spending and borrowing merely be lifted to a higher level. The administration amendment asks that all limitations and restrictions on the board be wiped out.

If this amendment is adopted, the sky will be the limit so far as spending and borrowing via the State Board of Liquidation and its legislative mail-polls is concerned.

Viewed in this light—or in any other light—Amendment No. 1 is vicious and should be rejected overwhelmingly by the voters of Louisiana.

Every vote cast against it will be a vote to keep a check-rein on spenders and borrowers in Baton Rouge.

Every vote cast for it will be a vote for still higher taxes and a still greater state debt to be paid in the future by Louisiana's taxpayers.

DON'T VOTE A STRAIGHT TICKET

A number of persons, irked by the record thus far of the state administration and also realizing that some of the proposed constitutional amendments are filled with opportunity for power grabs and political skullduggery, have informed us that they intend to "vote against all the amendments."

The World urges that such persons reconsider. There is no more reason to vote against all of the amendments than there is to vote for all of them. Neither course would, in our opinion, be good citizenship.

There are some very good amendments—beneficial to the state as a whole—among the 41 to be on the ballot Tuesday. In addition, there are some amendments applying solely to localized areas—parishes and cities—which are essential to progress of such areas. It is unfortunate that so often the state as a whole must decide the welfare of a single parish or a single city, but that is the law.

Details of all 41 amendments have been—or will be—presented to the public by the World, by other newspapers, by radio and through other means. The World today publishes, on the opposite page, a summary of its recommendations, with the suggestion that voters clip it and take it to the polls.

In doing this, we emphasize again that none of our recommendations, whether for or against an amendment, have been made on political grounds, but that each recommendation has come through careful and tedious study and conference by the guiding executives of this newspaper, plus the advice of competent constitutional attorneys where legal technicalities are involved.

The World urges voters to remember, also, that they do not have to mark all of the amendments on the ballot. A voter can vote for or against only one amendment and leave the other 40 blank and the ballot still is legal, with the one vote counted and the others disregarded.

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30—Richard Dix, who recently suffered a broken hip, then a heart attack, is in such poor health that he will probably cancel all screen commitments and announce permanent retirement . . . I hear that Hedy Lamarr is trying to buy all rights to her famous first picture, "Ecstacy," in order to shelve it for keeps . . . Altar-bound: Marilyn (Miss America, 1946) Buferd and Photographer Lazo Willinger . . . Hoagy Carmichael, a hit in every supporting role he's played, will be starred in a forthcoming filmusical by Eagle-Lion.

Myrna Loy, working on location on Capri, lost a couple of thousand bucks worth of wardrobe last week when the villa in which she and her husband, Producer Gene Markey, are living was partially destroyed by fire. . . . Gene Autry is bewailing the theft of four champion Doberman pinschers from his San Fernando Valley ranch. . . . Wotzis about a Hollywood "stuntman" offering, for $500, to pin a Dewey campaign button on President Truman? . . . Look for Dancer Marc Platt to swap "I do's" with Columbia Starlet Pat White as soon as his divorce is final a few weeks hence.

Even Robert Walker's best pals now predict that he will be "through in pictures" as a result of his latest escapade . . . Deanna Durbin and hubby Felix Jackson, now reportedly agreed on a property settlement, will probably end their marriage via divorce courts within the month . . . Blue-pencil that widely circulated rumor that Spencer Tracy is "seriously ill" . . . I hear that Actor's Equity is plotting another political campaign against the tax on theater tickets.

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of the week: RKO's "Joan of Arc" (Ingrid Bergman-Francis L. Sullivan-J. Carrol Naish-Ward Bond-Jose Ferrer). A superb artistic triumph, distinguished by great performances, and a "must-see attraction" for fans of all ages—yet it lacks the emotional power that should be inherent in the story of the peasant girl of Lorraine . . . ADD RIB-TICKLERS: Paramount's "The Paleface" (Bob Hope-Jane Russell). Broad travesty on western melodramatics, with Bob Hope at his best. GOOD: Republic's "Night Time in Nevada" (Roy Rogers-Adele Mara-Andy Devine). The same ingredients, but better mixed than usual . . . Columbia's "The Return of October" (Glenn Ford-Terry Moore-Albert Sharpe). The zaniest horse-racing picture to date, but it's an odds-on bet to win by a laugh . . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Ingrid Bergman in "Joan of Arc."

Movie "Czar" Eric Johnston seems so proud of the deal he's made with Uncle Joe Stalin for the distribution, behind the iron curtain, of American pictures that I feel like a heel to quibble. But I'd like to wager a buck or two that Johnston in particular and the entire movie industry in general will have occasion to regret the whole transaction before all is said and done. Consider the set-up. The Russkis are to take their pick, each year, from a list compiled for their approval. Having selected the films they want, they will refrain (the contract negotiated by Johnston stipulates) from adding any new material, but they will be at liberty to make any cuts they choose to make and can use their own discretion in embellishing the pictures with Russian titles. According to Johnston, he has eliminated, by that contract, any possibility that American-made films will be used for the purposes of anti-American propaganda. How naive can Johnston get?

Interesting, I think, is the announcement that Leo McCarey, the producer-director responsible for "Going My Way" and "Bells of St. Mary's" is again embarking on the filming of a "religious" story. This time he's to produce a picture entitled "simply Joe," the story of a faith healer in the hinterlands of British Columbia. I don't question, for a moment, the altruistic purpose behind McCarey's decision, but the fact remains that he is also a business man, vitally concerned with the necessity for showing a big profit on his pictures. Quite obviously he must believe that religious subjects are also profitable subjects. Whereas Hollywood attributed most of the financial success of his former pictures to the popularity of his stars, Bing Crosby and Ingrid Bergman, McCarey, himself, must be convinced that the stories were the box office magnets. His continued success will prove his point.

Now that it's safely established that the ultra-wealthy Ali Khan actually has been in Hollywood for several weeks, visiting Rita Hayworth, Rita's going to be a mighty unpopular gal with the social set of Filmville. They might forgive her anything else, but they will never pardon her for keeping such a prize to herself and denying them the opportunity to entertain "royalty."

SOUTHERN POLITICS

Now that the election is right on us, it is well to survey the political scene. What has happened? What is the present situation? What of the future?

Here in the south we are going through the greatest political upheaval since 1860. We can tell by now that it is not a "flash in the pan," but a movement of lasting influence that is destined to affect the future course of the whole nation.

Thoughtful people have been convinced for a long time that under our system of government one of the greatest needs of the south has been a strong two-party system. This is true from a pure economic viewpoint, because it is an undeniable fact that economic benefits accrue to a region whose vote is doubtful that do not accrue when that vote is always "in the bag." There is a definite tie-in between politics and economics that many people do not realize—and that fact, it might be remarked in passing, is one reason why business men should take more interest in politics.

Human nature and tradition and sentiment being what they are, however, it has naturally been difficult for the people of this region to break away from the "Solid South" tradition, the tradition of consistently voting the Democratic ticket. This could very easily have been the natural result of the Republican party being in power in the nation when the south was defeated in the War Between the States, which of itself would make the term "Republican" anathema to the southern people.

But it goes beyond that. Traditionally the Democratic party has been the party of states' rights and local self-government, the party of free trade and freedom of the individual. These being the principles over which the south fought and lost its war, a war which was lost on the battlefield but not in the hearts of its people, it was again only natural that the people of the south should adhere to the party which stood for the principles they cherished.

But time brings changes. The leadership of the Democratic party fell into hands that would centralize the government in Washington rather than leave its direction with the local communities, into hands that would plan the peoples' lives for them rather than leave it up to the individual citizen. The people of the south became restive when they found out the true purposes of the leadership of their party.

That the break-up of the "Solid South" would come sooner or later became inevitable, but that it came during this presidential election year was, as we all know, due to the fact that the Democratic leadership proposed certain force bills that would change the life of the south, sociologically, politically, and economically, in ways to which it could never submit.

So the "Solid South" was broken—not by a direct switchover to the Republicans, because the people of the south could not trust the Republican leadership not to do the same things which the Democratic leadership proposed, but by the formation of a States' Rights party. This provided an "out" for the southern people; it was the only way in which the solidity of the south could be broken. The result of this movement will be good—for the south and for the nation.

For, as we look to the future, we can see arising from the present situation a complete realignment of the major political thinking in this nation. We can see the formation of two new major parties. Whatever the names those two major parties adopt, we can be quite certain that the one will believe in individual freedom, the other in state planning; the one will believe in states' rights, the other in centralized government; the one will seek to preserve our constitutional republic, the other will lead to some form of totalitarianism, call it socialism, communism, or "what-have-you."

When this realignment comes, the south will know what to do.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The problem of suffering has been a puzzling one ever since men began to think.

It particularly occupied the minds of the writers who gave us the Bible, and whose distinction in life and literature is the supremacy of their interest in moral and spiritual values.

They early made a distinction between good and evil in thought and conduct. Their first solution of the matter of suffering and welfare was in the broad observation that good conduct made for happiness and well-being, while evil conduct brought its consequences, expressed in the warning, "Be sure your sin will find you out."

In a general way this conclusion is true and is upheld in experience. But more thoughtful observers soon perceived that the simple equations—good living equals happiness and welfare, and evil living equals evil consequences—did not fit every case. In fact, life offered wide and deep exceptions.

Similarly observers saw that prophets who stood for God and right often suffered for their convictions, and cruel persecutions were often inflicted upon those whose faith and zeal for righteousness were strong and pure.

It was obvious that the easy, simple solutions of the problem of suffering didn't square with the facts, or at least with all of the facts.

The first effective challenge to that simple solution came in the great drama, the Book of Job. It is important to remember that it is a drama, in which various characters are speaking.

The late Professor Moulton, in his Modern Readers' Bible, arranged the book in its dramatic form. He pictured an ordinary reader turning to the Book of Job and accepting, possibly some word of Eliphaz, Bildad, or Elihu, "because it was in the Bible," not realizing that the Lord, speaking later in the drama, declared that not one of them had spoken the truth.

The drama of Job is skillfully set to emphasize the problem of a good man, beset by severe afflictions, who refuses to accept the easy solutions of his friends and admit a guilt of which he is not conscious.

What, then, does the Book of Job offer as the solution of this problem of suffering of the innocent with the guilty? Nothing but the solution of faith, the placing of the mystery of suffering in the deeper mystery of the world and life, and the faith that the Judge of all the Earth will do right.

This is reaffirmed in the assurance of Jesus concerning God's love and care—"Not a sparrow falleth to the ground without your Father." But it is still a matter of faith, for there is still the mystery of why the sparrow falls. But Job found a real solution in faith.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

UNBELIEVABLE!

Altogether apart from partisanship, even ignoring the campaign, Harry Truman's speech in Chicago on Monday must be reported as a dangerously vicious document which can and may bring harm to his country for years to come. It was a new low in political campaigning, because it sought to stir racial and religious hatred and bigotry with the object of frightening what he calls "minorities" into voting as a bloc on election day.

This is what he said:

"The tragic story of what happened in Germany is all too fresh. We know how Hitler used anti-Semitic propaganda as a way of stupefying the German people with false ideas while he reached out for power.

"This was not the first time such a thing has happened. The persecution of minorities goes hand in hand with the destruction of liberty.

"This country has been mercifully spared extreme racial and religious strife, but in recent years there has been a new outcropping of demagogues among us. Dangerous men, who are trying to win followers for their war on democracy, are attacking Catholics and Jews, and Negroes and other minority races and religions.

"Some of these demagogues have even dared to raise the voices of religious prejudice in the eightieth congress. We need only remember the shocking displaced persons bill passed in the second session of the eightieth congress, which cruelly discriminated against Catholics and Jews."

The danger is not that this kind of speech-making will produce votes for or against Truman; it is rather that these irresponsible, maladroit statements will leave a mark upon popular thinking on the subject of race and religious relations. Instead of using his high office to achieve national unity to halt the segmentation of our country into races, classes, creeds, religions, originating nationalities, functional activities—a segmentation to which the Communists and other enemies of America have devoted themselves—Harry Truman accelerates this trend and uses his high office to provide a moral sanction for it.

Unfortunately, the fears that men live by in this miserable era are only too real not to flare up on the least incitation.

The quarrel between Governor Dewey and Senator Revercomb over the displaced persons act requires explanation. This act provides for the admission into the United States of 205,000 displaced persons from Europe for permanent residence. Mr. Dewey was opposed to certain characteristics of the bill as limiting the type of displaced persons to be admitted and he requested Senator Revercomb, who was in charge of it, to amend it. Senator Vandenberg, Herbert Brownel, and other important Republicans made a similar request. Senator Revercomb declined to accept their judgment, which was his right under the law. The bill was passed and signed by Harry Truman, although he stipulated that he did not like it. President Truman said the bill was anti-Semitic and anti-Catholic, but Monsignor Edward E. Swanstron, chairman of the National Catholic Resettlement Council, said that the bill was not anti-Catholic as at least 55 per cent of the displaced persons to be admitted under it are Catholics.

The Jewish objection to the bill is that 30 per cent of those admitted must be farmers and 40 per cent must be from the overrun Baltic countries or from eastern Poland. It also provides that 50 per cent of the regular German and Austrian quotas must be exclusively available to the Volkdeutsche (persons of German origin).

These quotas seem to limited and they definitely reduce the number of Jewish displaced persons who can avail themselves of its benefits. Against this fact, both President Truman and Governor Dewey objected.

However, on June 25, President Truman signed the bill. He could have vetoed it and congress might or might not have passed it over his veto. He signed it.

Mr. Truman's current absorption over racial questions forces one to recall that when he was a United States senator, he voted "No" on an amendment, sponsored by Senator C. Wayland Brooks, of Illinois, lifting poll tax requirements for military service personnel in national elections. This is the only instance when the poll tax matter arose in the senate while truman was a senator and he voted "No." This was in August, 1942—before Mr. Truman became a statesman, I suppose. The bill passed and is law.

Editors' Roundtable

HOW DIVIDE PALESTINE?

The report of the late Count Bernadotte recommended revision of the patchwork boundaries of the UN Palestine partition plan by giving Galilee in the north to the Jews and Negeb (or Negev)—scene of the latest fighting—in the south to the Arabs. Editors appear to divide rather evenly as between favoring this area arrangement or giving the Negev over to Jewish irrigation and improvement for large-scale settlement. In continuing UN inability to enforce decisions, on-and-off strife is generally expected to continue.

Norfolk Virginian-Pilot (Ind.-Dem.): "As the maps show, the original plan would have divided Palestine into a crazy-quilt of three Arab and three Jewish areas, none wholly contiguous with the others. Bernadotte's plan is designed to achieve a geographically homogenous state of Israel. Under it, the Israeli would win less territory, but they would be assured boundaries within which all parts of the state would be in contact and communication—an essential for any viable national entity."

Christian Science Monitor (Ind.): "Galilee is a very small piece of land as compared with the Negeb. Both are poor territory, Galilee being rocky, the Negeb a desert. But it is to the development of the Negeb through irrigation that the Jews have looked for sustenance for many Jewish refugees from Europe. Moreover, Palestine Jews have felt that . . . this territory is . . . needed to make their state 'viable,' or reasonably equipped to sustain itself . . . in the world economy."

Denver (Colo.) Post (Ind.): "Perhaps this is true. But . . . if the UN were to follow that premise, the Jews could claim other areas of Arab territory on showing necessity to 'absorb new immigrants.' As the Arabs and their sympathizers lament—'the Arabs are people, too.' From time to time the Zionist world tends to forget this, as any intensely nationalistic society tends to forget the claims of its opponents."

New York Times (Ind.-Dem.): "The Negeb, from one-third to one-half of Palestine, depending on how Palestine is defined, may have supported as many as 300,000 people in ancient times. In modern times it has been largely uninhabited, except for a few thousand Arabs who raised and pastured camels there. Within the past few years Jewish settlers . . . have irrigated a little of this long-sterile land. . . . It might support from half a million to a million or more pioneers, who would enrich the whole country without displacing large Arab populations."

St. Louis (Mo.) Globe-Democrat (Ind.): "King Abdullah of Transjordon . . . has indicated . . . that he might make a deal, with Israeli holding what it now has including western Galilee and a substantial portion of the Negev, and he holding what he now has in Palestine, which is considerable. Whether such an agreement would mean peace is speculative because of Abdullah's standing with the other Arabs, who fear him and have never recognized the existence of Israeli as a nation."

Kansas City (Mo.) Star (Ind.): "The battle of the Negev(stopped by UN truce) did more than end in a defeat for Egypt. Because the Egyptians this time received no support from the other members of the Arab league, it suggests the virtual collapse of the coalition which was to drive the Jews into the sea. . . . The main thing now is to revise the assembly's plan, with the support of Israel and Transjordania, and then give the other Arab states a choice of accepting it or risking a war they are almost sure to lose."

Washington (D. C.) Star (Ind.): "The reported lack of aid to the Egyptians may be regarded at least as an indication that . . . the Arabs are weakening. . . . However, irrespective of the rumors about King Abdullah, the Arab world in general still seems so sincerely and bitterly opposed to the idea of partition that . . . the situation remains full of explosive possibilities."

Charlotte (N. C.) News (Ind.-Dem.): "The war in Palestine . . . defies analysis. . . . Truman and Marshall have constantly been at odds over the situation. Russia has exhibited a cautious, confusing attitude. Britain has trained and supplied the Arab Legion which, without that British aid, could not have waged war."

Davenport (Iowa) Daily Times (Ind.-Rep.): "Considerations of defense against Soviet Russia enter into the support given the Bernadotte proposals by the United States and Britain. Russia is expected to vigorously oppose giving the Negeb to the Arabs, since they do not want the British to control it indirectly through Transjordan."

Pitching Horseshoes

By Billy Rose

On the way home from the office the other night, I passed one of those suds-and-sawdust parlors that fill the spaces between the pawnshops on Third Avenue, and having nothing better to do, I stepped in and ordered a double Moxie, seltzer on the side.

Standing next to me at the bar was a well-gotten-up gent, grey of temple and pink of jowl, and, as though his life depended on it, he was stacking matchsticks over the opening of an empty beer bottle.

As I was musing over my Moxie, the martender pointed to the clock on the wall and, addressing himself to the matchstick piler, said, "Time to get going, Doc. It's after 6."

Pink Jowls glanced at his wristwatch, smiled and nodded. "I hadn't noticed," he said happily. "You won't believe it, but I've balanced 237 matchsticks on this bottle today. That's a record, isn't it?"

And with that, he picked up his homberg from the next stool, waved a cheery good-bye, and walked out.

"I recognize the symptoms," I said to the bartender. "It's the old Erector-Set complex—and at his age, too! What he needs is a good psychoanlyst."

"He don't need one," the bartender said. "He IS one, and the way I hear it, the most important bird-brains in town pay him fifty bucks an hour to listen to their troubles."

"Another Moxie," I said, reaching for a pencil. "I'm sure you won't mind if I make a few notes on the back of this menu—I'll write around the fly-specks."

"Well," the barkeep began, "for twenty years this psycho-whatchamacallit has been listening to people who had troubles, thought they had troubles, or were troubled because they didn't have troubles.

"As you can imagine, it's no cinch to play slop barrel for everybody's mouldy beefs, and a few months ago the Doc began to crack up. It got so that he couldn't sleep nights, snapped at the servants, and finally took to reading Russian novelists. This, of course, worried his wife, but dames being what they are, it didn't worry her half as much as it did when he suddenly got cheerful again."

"Let's reprise that," I said, "and this time when you repeat the last sentence, light a match."

"It's the old story," said the barman. "As soon as her husband started cracking jokes and acting normal around the house again, his wife figured another woman was the reason. So, to check up, she began phoning his office during the day, and it didn't ease her mind none when she found the Doc was out every afternoon from five to six and never left word where he was going.

"When she finally cornered him about these strange disappearances, her husband laughed and told her he was simply taking his own medicine—he had done what he'd advise any person similarly troubled to do—see a psychoanalyst. Every day at five he stopped being a doctor and became the patient of a wise, capable and experienced therapist—a certain Stephen R. Watts.

"His wife was relieved to hear this and, to show how she felt, leaned over and kissed him full on the mouth. And that's when she got curious all over again—his breath smelled of liquor.

"That night she leafed through the medical directories and phone book, but she couldn't find a Stephen R. Watts listed anywhere, and so naturally she concluded there was no Stephen R. Watts.

"Next day at five when the Doc left his office, she was standing in a nearby doorway, and when he entered a cafe a few blocks away, she was watching from the other side of the street.

"'So this is where he meets her,' she said to herself. 'I'll break every bottle in the joint on his head . . . .'

"But then she thought of the messy publicity and decided on a more genteel way of letting him know she was on to his game. She went to a nearby drugstore, looked up the phone number and dialed the cafe.

"'I'd like to talk to Mr. Stephen R. Watts,' she told the man who answered. 'Tell him the doctor's wife is calling.'"

"I'll bet it knocked old Freudycat right off his bar stool," I said. "Did his wife get a divorce?"

"Of course not," said the drink dispenser. "You see, it was Stephen R. Watts himself who answered that phone, and when he finished talking to the lady, she apologized, went home and laid out the Doc's pipe and slippers."

"This story of yours has suddenly gotten muddy," I said. "Are you sure you aren't making it up?"

"Everyword of it is true," said the bartender, "or my name isn't Stephen R. Watts."

COTTON GINNINGS HIGH IN OUACHITA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(Special)—Cotton ginnings in Ouachita parish are continuing well above last year, the census bureau reports. Latest figures released by the bureau reveal that as of October 1, 12,680 bales of cotton had been ginned in Ouachita, compared with only 7,262 bales on that date in 1947.

Throughout the state ginnings totaled 467,000 bales on October 1 compared with 305,000 a year ago. St. Landry parish is in the lead with 43,907 bales ginned.

OUACHTA BAND GETS HIGH SPOT

Travis DuFreese, Local Drum Major, Gets First Place At State Fair

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The snappy band from Magnolia, Ark., High School was awarded first place in the competition by 41 bands in the 13th annual Ark-La-Tex band festival today.

Prize-winning bands, drum majors and twirlers were announced by the judges after the two-hour parade of 50 bands, including nine which were not competing for awards, had marched through downtown Shreveport. The parade was held in conjunction with the Louisiana state fair.

Second prize winner among the bands was the organization from Levert Chapel High School, Overton Texas. Third was the big, familiar Bossier City High School band.

Travis DuFreese of the Ouachita Parish High School band, Monroe, was named first in the signal drum major competition. Drum major of the Gibsland High School band, James Crumpler, was second, and Minnie Mae Shepherd of the Haynesville High School band, was third.

Camden, Ark., High School's twirlers took the two top prizes in that class. James Crumpler won first. Bess Malone placed second. Third was Lane Lawrence of the Ruston High School band.

Thousands of Shreveporters and out-of-town visitors lined the curbs along Milam and Texas streets to watch the long parade. As each band approached the judge's stand on Texas street near the courthouse, it paused momentarily, then moved along again, strutting in its flashiest manner for the judges and the large crowd.

After the forward units of the parade had completed the route, the colorful uniforms of some band members were seen in the crowd as players came back along the route to see how their competitors looked.

Because of the excellency of many of the units, the judges awarded honorable mention to three bands or persons in each class. No honorable mention awards had been made in previous years, it was said. Those cited were:

Atlanta and Jefferson, Texas, and the Ouachita parish bands.

The twirling sections of the Kilgore, Texas, and Bossier City and Magnolia, Ark., bands.

The signal drum majors of Carthage, Atlanta and Henderson, Texas bands.

First, second and third prize winners in each class will receive trophies or medals from the Ark-La-Tex Music Directors' Association, sponsors of the event, according to Sherman Almanrode, Shreveport, secretary-treasurer of the organization. Other officers are J. R. Sherman, Haynesville, president; Harold Ramsey, Bossier City, first vice-president; Adam West, Magnolia, Ark., second vice-president; and Tom Lavin, Atlanta, Texas, third vice-president.

The judges were Col. George H. Blase of Barksdale air force base; Lt. Col. C. M. McDermott, wing adjutant of Barksdale; Judge Chris Barnett, judge of the Caddo parish juvenile court; Chief Warrant Officer Carmine Luce, director of the Barksdale band, and Winston Hilton of Louisiana Tech, Ruston.

Originally 53 bands had been scheduled for the parade. However, those of Glenmora, Oak Kill, San Augustine and Avinger, Texas, and Delhi bands did not take part. Bands from Sabine High School, Kilgore, Texas, and Overton High School, Overton, Texas, did take part although they had not been among those listed in advance.

Several of the bands gave informal concerts at the fair grounds this afternoon.

Today was strictly a "fun" day at the fair. Gigantic crowds swarmed out to the lot early in the afternoon and in the evening. Judging of livestock, poultry, dogs and exhibit booths had been completed. Exhibitors and livestock owners joined the throngs on the midways and on the tours of various buildings.

Sunday was expected to prove another banner day for attendance at the fair, with national championship motorcycle races a major event. Monday, the final day of the fair, will be Negro day.

COURT JURY AWARDS DAMAGES TO WOMAN

GULFPORT, Miss., Oct. 30.—(AP)—A Harrison county circuit court jury Friday night awarded Miss June Reynolds $5,000 damages in her $100,000 suit against a Texas revivalist and six of his relatives.

The suit charged Charles Jessup, president of the Fellowship Revival Association, with attacking Miss Reynolds and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Reynolds, outside a Gulfport theater on the night of May 8.

Also named as defendants were Mrs. Jessup, Mr. and Mrs. Darrel Jessup, and Byron, James W., and Walter Jessup, Sr., and the Revival Association of Fort Worth.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Reynolds since her daughter was only 17 at the time. It blamed a "violent dislike and hatred" entertained by the Jessups for the two women as cause of the beating.

Jessups maintained he was at the association headquarters in Gulfport at the time of the alleged attacks.

LINCECUM HELD

UNITED STATES ALLOWS ONE DEPENDENT TO CHOOSE EXEC

Puerto Rico Goes All-Out To Elect Its First National Governor

By Ruth Cowan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(AP)—One particular aspect of the American national election Tuesday will be noted with especial interest around the world by colonial possessions and satellite countries.

In a period when Russia seeks to dominate border governments with the influence of her clenched Red fist, the United States is permitting a strategically situated dependency, Puerto Rico, to choose freely its own governor.

This right was given the island by congress last year. The Puerto Ricans are exercising it. They began their campaigns early. They've conducted them with excited oratory and colorful party banners.

But they've been orderly. The Puerto Ricans boast they jammed more people—60,000—into a political convention than did any U. S. mainland party.

It is the first time in the island's more than four centuries of history that Puerto Rico, which now has nearly 2,000,000 inhabitants, is selecting its own chief administrator. It is just 50 years since the island was ceded to the United States after the Spanish-American War.

The gubernatorial election is a step forward in colonial government in the troubled, restless Caribbean where Britain, France and The Netherlands have colonies. Its conduct and results will be watched.

This reporter on a recent trip to Puerto Rico asked San Juan newspaper reporters, political leaders and residents if in their opinion the forthcoming election was one truly free of government pressure from the United States. The answer was: Yes.

But the United States in these uncertain times internationally has a very important military stake in Puerto Rico. On this island is located the 10th U. S. naval district; headquarters of the army's Antilles department, and air force units.

At its eastern tip is Roosevelt roads, highly secret during the second world war, with possibilities of being one of the greatest, if not the greatest naval base in the western hemisphere.

Puerto Rico is the key in the chain of defense bases leased from Great Britain—Antigua, St. Lucia, Jamaica, Trinidad, British Guiana.

Military observers stress that for protection of the United States the Caribbean must be an "American lake."

Yet Uncle Sam stands by with hands off while Puerto Rico goes to the polls to name its island leader. Not even the soap boxers in London's Hyde Park have greater freedom than the "independentistas" who shout loudly for Puerto Rico's separation from the United States.

Every one with whom I talked expects Luis Munoz Marin to be the first elected governor of Puerto Rico. He is the son of the island's foremost prewar statesman, Luis Munoz Rivera, first Puerto Rico resident commissioner in Washington.

Munoz, 51, a forceful, magnetic chap, is president of the insular senate. He is the candidate of the Popular Democratic party which he organized in 1937 and which in the last election captured all but a few of the legislative seats.

He draws large support from the landless peasants — the "jibaros." Formerly strong for independence, he has moderated to "the status quo" for the moment. Recently he became the publisher of "El Diario," one of San Juan's leading newspapers.

Socialists have got together with Republicans and Reformists in the "Statehood party." Their candidate is Martin Travieso, a lawyer, who resigned from the senate to run.

The Independents' candidate is Francisco M. Susoni, a physician and former speaker of the house.

There is some communism. But despite poverty in Puerto Rico—and there is a lot of it—no one with whom I talked considered it has caught on.

IT WORKS

BEND, Ore., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Nearly half of Bend's parking meters were out of commission yesterday, police reported: "It's politics." It was, too. High school students were taking campaign buttons and removing the pin clasps. Then they stamped the buttons flat and slipped them into the meters. They worked in some, but jammed others.

CRITICIZES U. N. DRAFT OF RIGHTS

Vatican Newspaper Says Committee Did Not Include Mention Of God

VATICAN CITY, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The Vatican newspaper, Osservatore Romano, criticized a United Nations committee today for failing to include mention of God in a draft declaration on the rights of man.

A front page editorial initialled by Count Giuseppe Dalla Torre, editorial director of the Catholic organ, declared:

"The new ethical-juridical edifice in which the man of the U. N. era is to find the security of a fortress, bears on its threshold the ancient warning: If God be not the builder of the house, its building will be in vain."

The editorial praised the Brazilian U. N. delegation for introducing before the U. N. social committee — which is working out a declaration of human rights—a proposal to recognize the doctrine that the rights of man are based on the spiritual declaration: "Man is created in the image of God."

"We challenge whoever denies that in this declaration is found the highest and most irrefutable expression of the rights of man," Dalla Torre wrote.

Brazil withdrew its proposal after Alexi Pavlov of Russia declared that in the Soviet Union the postulate that man is created in God's image is "much disputed." Chinese, British and Indian delegates also urged Brazil to withdraw the proposal because of differing religious beliefs in the world.

Dalla Torre quoted the declaration as adopted by the committee:

"All human beings are born free and equal in dignity and responsibility. They are endowed with intelligence and conscience and should act, one toward the other, in brotherly spirit."

Then he commented:

"Decreeing thus is intrinsically to err. It is to err because in the nature of things men are, it is true, endowed with intelligence and conscience, but not all of them equally. If liberty, therefore, if dignity, if responsibility are deduced from that, the deduction falls. * * *

"Only among the decadent exists the 'fear of God,' not in happy dawn, but in the sadness of sunset, is the eternal sun veiled; atheism is a symptom of spiritual arteriosclerosis, as anti-clericalism is a sympton of political arteriosclerosis."

TULANE GREEN MASTERS MISSISSIPPI STATE

WAVE INTERCEPTS PASS; STOPS PUNT TO GAIN 9-0 EDGE

'Shorty' McWilliams Constant Threat Until Injured Late In Game

By Kris Kreeger

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—It was "Shorty" McWilliams vs. Tulane here today, and the final score was Tulane 9, Mississippi State 0.

Until he was carried injured from the field with twelve minutes to play, Shorty's passes were a constant threat to Tulane's goal and his kicks—all except two—kept the Green Wave mostly back up in its own sector.

One of those boots that didn't do State any good was a second-period quick kick that Tulane Center Stan Kottemann rushed in to block on State's 20-yard line.

The ball bounded through the end zone for an automatic safety and two points.

Then early in the fourth period Tulane Halfback Bill Svoboda intercepted a pass from McWilliams—the only one Shorty tried and failed to complete—and Tulane was off on a 42-yard scoring push.

Fullback Ed Price gained 38 of the yards in four rushes, driving like a buffalo through right tackle for the last seven. Dick Sheffield placekicked the extra point.

Coffin-corner punts by McWilliams kept Tulane in a hole all the first period. Late in the game one of his punts slipped off his foot and went only seven yards, but otherwise he kept Tulane going back starting from taw.

State kept driving into Tulane territory, once getting to the Tulane 13. But the Maroons couldn't make those last yards, largely because when they turned to running plays Tulane's Tackle Paul Lea, Guard Dennis Doyle, End Rex Partridge and Svoboda charged in to spill the ball carriers.

Tulane outgained State 210 yards to 103 in rushing, and in passing 99 to 48. Most of McWilliams' tosses were of the short variety, and when he was out of the game his subs couldn't hit their targets.

The lineups:

Center—Ray, Bullock, Taylor.

Right halfback—H. Davis, Crocker.
Fullback—Bailey, Pittman, Daly, Crumbley, Stanley.

Tulane

Right tackle—Rogas, Bounds.
Right end—Watkins, Riggs, Doland.
Quarterback—Keeton, Ernst, Bonar.
Right halfback—Svoboda, Glisson, Sikora, Prats.

Score by periods:
Tulane .... 0 2 0 7—9

Tulane scoring: Touchdown—Price. Point after touchdown, Sheffield (placement). Safety, Kottemann blocked McWilliams' quick kick and ball rolled through end zone.

JENA GIANTS FALL BEFORE BLOCK, 19-13

JENA, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—In a bitter grid duel. The scrappy Block High Bears of Jonesville upset the favored Jena Giants, 19-13, here Friday night before an enthusiastic crowd of over 2,500 fans. It was Block's sixth victory of the season.

Billed as Jena's No. 1 game of the season, the rival teams battled so savagely that numerous players were carried from the field with injuries despite clean play by both sides.

Colin Crawford, one of north Louisiana's leading contenders for all-state honors, scored all three Block touchdowns. The first marker came on a trick play when Crawford took the ball on the Jena 30 on the first play of the second quarter and then walked and ran through the awestruck Jena team for pay dirt.

In the same period, Bobby Fairbanks tossed a pass to Hilton Bordelon to give the Bears a first down on the Jena three from where Crawford cracked the line for another touchdown. Late in the same period, Bubba Bailey of Jena went around left end 30 yards for a Jena score and Rex Andrews hit the line for the extra point.

In the third quarter, Andrews climaxed a series of power drives by going over from the two and making the score 13-12, midway of the fourth period. Crawford, on two plays, swept from the Jena 35 to the five and four plays later, he finally broke through the stubborn Jena line for the final touchdown of the game. Densil Humble added the extra point on an off-tackle run. The heavier Jena team rolled up nine first downs to Block's seven.

AIR SHOW ARTIST COMING HERE

Billy Fischer is shown above with his tiny 14-foot wide Rose Parakeet in which he won the national light plane acrobatic championship at the Cleveland, Miami and Los Angeles Air Races. Billy will fly the little plane in the huge Jaycee Air Show set for next Sunday at the Monroe Municipal Airport. The brightly colored little racing ship is capable of a top speed in excess of 200 miles per hour. It weighs slightly less than 500 pounds and would easily fit into the average living room. Fischer will execute every known trick in the airman's book of tricks. His specialty is the outside loop with a snap-rolls on top and inverted flying across the field at ten feet. The airplane is equipped with sky-writing smoke and the roaring engine will belch heavy smoke rings into the sky so that the low level maneuvers will be easier to follow by the layman. Fischer hails from Decorah, Iowa. Is 22 years old and single. He has been flying acrobatic and racing aircraft for four years. He was an officer in World War II.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton, jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—"Why don't you write something about Alf Letourner and the 'New Letourner,' Henri Surbatis?" Asked Jersey Jones, the perpetually young and perpetually voluble publicity man. . . . The obvious answer — ignorance — wouldn't work and remaining silent didn't help much, either. Jersey, whose racket now is publicizing New York's second six-day bike race of the autumn, kept right on talking. . . . "Letourner was one of the most colorful riders we ever had (that much the listener could remember). And this may be his last race. He's ridden in three since the war and has finished all of them. That's something for a guy his age. Give him a young, strong partner and he may get somewhere. We're thinking about teaming him with Surbatis here. Surbatis—I think he's the only Greek ever to ride in a six day race in this country—is just like Letourner used to be. He's got a lot of color; the fans really go for him. He's finished second twice and third once and he's improving all the time. We have a lot of other good riders, too." . . . Jones bent over a desk to search for a list of names and the listener sneaked out the door. The voice still followed: "Don't forget to mention our new track. If it's as fast as we think the boys may be shooting for the world record."

Not Unbreakable

A Charlottesville, Va., jewelry and crockery store has come out with a special plate commemorating Virginia's 41-7 football victory over Washington and Lee . . . the center is decorated with a likeness of the Virginia mascot, Seal, a brown mongrel dog which marches in front of the band and earns his way at football games by chasing off any other dogs that sneak in.

Sportspourri

Maurice Podoloff, basketball association prexy, claims the latest rhubarb with the National League over a cancelled exhibition between Minneapolis and Oshkosh came about more or less by accident. He just happened to hear about it during a stopover between planes and immediately notified the Minneapolis management that such a game was against a B. B. A. rule passed in September. . . . Bob Nork, who coaches football at Garfield, N. J., high, never has seen his nephew, Jack, play for Columbia. He'll have the same complaint for some time as two other nephews are Columbia freshmen. . . . Guess Columbia football really is the Norks. . . . Georgia's athletic dept. boasts that requests for press tickets for the Georgia-Georgia Tech game have been received from as far away as Shenandoah, Pa. . . . Case of the press following the players.

Safety Man

After Michigan State's pint-sized George Guerre had a 100-yard touchdown run against Penn State recalled last week, someone asked him how he felt about it. Said George: "If nothing worse than that happens to me in my lifetime, I'll be very happy."

WOLVERINES GET PAST ILLINOIS BY BARE 28-20 EDGE

Inspired Underdogs Miss Upset Because Of Two Costly 'Breaks'

By John F. Mayhew

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Unbeaten Michigan stayed on the victory trail today by edging a stubborn and courageous Illinois football team 28 to 20. But the Wolverines had an assist from the breaks in chalking up their 20th consecutive win.

For Michigan, it was an even-stronger claim to its second consecutive Big Nine title.

A homecoming sellout crowd of 85,938 saw lady luck hand out two favors that helped win the ball game.

The first game in the form of an offside penalty that nullified Dike Eddleman5s 94-yard dash into the Michigan end zone on the second half kickoff play while the scoreboard read 7-7.

Moments later, officials ruled Chuck Ortmann's pass to Dick Rifenburg complete for interference on the Illini 1-foot line when Rifenburg dropped the ball as he was hit by three Illinois defense-men. It took Michigan two plays to cash in on that one.

Inspired Illinois made a fight of it all the way, however, sparked by Eddleman's punting which averaged 41.1 yards on six kicks and the amazing pass work of Bernie Krueger, who completed 12 out of 21 for 216 yards. The Illini traded punch for punch with the Big Nine champions down to the final whistle.

Both teams scored in the second and the fourth period. In the rugged third, the Wolverines chalked up two to the visitors one.

It was strictly an air game as Illini almost doubled Michigan's aerial yardage by completing 13 of 23 tries for a fat 256-yard total. Michigan, which outrushed Illinois 102 yards to 40, was able to gather but 132 yards on 10 completions of 24 tries. But two of the seven touchdowns came on pass plays.

Pete Elliott flipped 14 yards to End Ed McNeill for Michigan's first score early in the second stanza, but Krueger's 10-yard pitch to Paul Patterson tied the score before halftime.

After Eddleman's field-length sprint with the second half kickoff was rubbed out, the Wolverines scored twice in 3 1/2 minutes.

Fullback Tom Peterson pitched 14 yards to Dick Rifenburg, climaxing a 59-yard Wolverine march. Teninga swung wide around end for the other score after Bob Malinsky of the Illini was charged with interference on Ortmann's long pitch to Rifenburg at the goal line.

Trailing 21-7, Illinois fought back to count twice on Krueger's passing, once to End Tony Klimek for 13 yards and a touchdown and the other on Krueger's quarterback, sneak after Walt Kersulis had made a 37-yard catch on the Michigan 1.

That trimmed Michigan's lead to a narrow 21-20, but the Wolverines came back with a scoring pass, this time from Ortmann to End Harry Allis for 39 yards. Allis finished off his perfect placekicking day by converting his fourth point after touchdown.

ORTIZ WINS WITH EIGHTH ROUND K. O. OF JACKLICH

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Bantamweight Champion Manuel Ortiz, 129, El Centro, Calif., survived a rugged evening with Buddy Jacklich, 131 1/2, San Francisco, to win by an eighth round knockout.

Ortiz whipped over a left to the jaw, then a right cross, to send Jacklich down for the 10-count after two minutes, 10 seconds of the round.

BLAIR JOINS LOCKHART

Nathan "Buddy" Blair (left above), manager of the Vicksburg club of the Southeastern League who formerly played third base for Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics and won athletic fame at Louisiana State University, has joined Ed W. Lockhart (right) as partner in the sporting goods firm here of Wilson-Lockhart. Blair purchased the interest of Barney Wilson in the firm. He is uncertain whether or not he will continue his baseball career.

BLAIR ENTERING BUSINESS HERE

Nationally Known Athlete Joins Ed W. Lockhart In Partnership

Nathan "Buddy" Blair, member of L. S. U.'s Hall of Fame, manager of the Vicksburg club of the Southeastern League and once third baseman for Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, is entering business in Monroe.

Ed W. Lockhart, of Wilson-Lockhart Sporting Goods, announced yesterday that Blair, who has made his home in Monroe for the past six years when not away attending to his baseball interests, has purchased the stock of Barney Wilson in the sporting goods firm which, beginning tomorrow, will be operated solely by Lockhart and Blair.

Wilson, a coach at William and Mary College, has been unable to devote any time to the operation of the firm here, and decided to sell out with Blair stepping in as Lockhart's new partner.

Blair, who got his grammar school education at Ferriday and high school training at Sicily Island, first won athletic fame at Louisiana State where he won nine letters in track, baseball, and basketball. He was a member of L. S. U.'s national championship track team in the early 1930s and last night was presented with other L. S. U. greats as guests of honor at the Tigers' homecoming game against Ole Miss.

The New York Yankees first laid claim to Blair's professional services in 1936, working him in their farm system and he attending Yankee spring training in 1940 and 1941. Connie Mack acquired Blair and brought him into big time baseball with the Athletics in 1942. Next he entered military service and was stationed with the army air force at Selman Field here where he managed Selman's baseball club in addition to his military duties.

The war over, Blair was given his release by Mack so that he might accept the management of the Vicksburg baseball club in the Southeastern League, a job Blair has held for the past three seasons.

Blair, before leaving for Baton Rouge and the L. S. U. homecoming game last night, said he was undecided about his baseball future, indicating he might or might not be back at Vicksburg next season. He is well known throughout Louisiana and was a standout in semi-pro baseball circles of this area for several years before signing with the Yanks. He played semi-pro ball for Natchez, Miss., and Vidalia, Ferriday, Winnsboro, Bastrop, and Sterlington in Louisiana. At L. S. U. he was a member of the honorary fraternities, O. D. K. and Kappa Phi Kappa.

Blair never played football, but that sport is the forte of his new partner, Lockhart, who played three years at Marion (Ala.) Military Institute, was a guard with the University of Oklahoma in 1932 and coached for ten years in various Alabama high schools before entering military service in 1942. When discharged from service in 1946, Lockhart opened his business here.

NATIONAL PROS REACH HALFWAY POINT IN SLATE

Eaglers, Steelers In Important Eastern Division Battle Today

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The halfway mark in the 29th season of the National Football League will be reached tomorrow when eight of the ten teams play their sixth game of the year. Green Bay and Boston will play for the seventh time although not opposing each other.

In the eastern division the pace setting Philadelphia Eagles will meet their perennial rivals, the Pittsburgh Steelers, in Forbes Field in one of the crucial games of the day. Washington, which is making a determined bid for the sectional title, will entertain Boston in Griffith Stadium. The New York Giants travel to Chicago to meet the Bears for the thirty-third time.

The four other western division teams will play highly important games with Green Bay engaging Detroit in Briggs Stadium and the Chicago Cardinals meeting Los Angeles in the Coliseum in the latter city.

Philadelphia, which will be at top strength for the invasion of Pittsburgh, will have the league's leading passer, Tommy Thompson, ready for starting duty. Last week the former Tulsa star was used sparingly against the Bears because of a shoulder injury suffered the week before. Bill Mackrides, who spelled Thompson last week and scintillated as a signal caller and passer, is expected to see considerable action against the Steelers.

Ray Evans, who last week completed 11 of 26 passes for 194 yards, and John Clement, versatile back, are expected to bear the brunt of the Steelers' attack. The Eagles lead in the series with 14 wins to ten losses. One game resulted in a stalemate.

The Bears and Cardinals tied for first place in the western division with four victories and one defeat each, will meet formidable opposition. The Giants, with Charley Conerly, rapidly developing into one of the standout passers in the league, will engage the Bears for the 33rd time, while Los Angeles, a great second half team, will match runs, passes and punts with the Cardinals, whose only loss was to the Bears. The Bears lead in the series with the Giants, 19 to 12 with one tie game while the Cardinals and Rams each have won two of the four games played.

Boston, victor in two of its last three games, and Washington, which made a great comeback last week, will

OUACHITA'S TITLE HOPES IN BALANCE AGAINST JACKETS

Important Class AA Conference Battle Slated Here Friday Night

The Ouachita Parish High School Lions make their final bid for a place in the north Louisiana Class AA championship playoff here next Friday night when they take on the Byrd High School Yellow Jackets at Brown Field.

The game will be the feature attraction of Ouachita's homecoming day program, and the game itself will decide whether Ouachita is eliminated from the title race or given a chance to appear in the title series.

Haynesville, beaten by Ouachita and conqueror of Fair Park, is back on top in the district chase by virtue of the Tornado's surprise 18-16 win over Byrd Thursday night.

Thus Ouachita and Byrd come into Friday night's scrap with one loss each in the district campaign and the lower will bow out of the picture permanently. Fair Park, with its impressive win over Ouachita and despite the loss to Haynesville, also still has a chance in the race, providing the Indians can whip Byrd in their coming contest.

As the league race now stands Haynesville is sure of a playoff spot, and the other three members of the circuit can move, depending on which teams win all their remaining conference games.

The Lions rested through an open date last week and expect to go into action against Byrd in a little better shape than they were for Fair Park although Mark Boatright isn't expected to be back at his early season form but may get spot assignments if he is able to play at all.

E. J. "Bunny" Sievers, hard charging right halfback, apparently has about overcome his siege with a bad ankle and will be ready to go at full blast against the Jackets. Without Boatright, the Lions will be leaning heavily on Sievers, one of the state's best backs when he's able to go at full stride, and the running of Bob Carter who has replaced Boatright in the backfield.

"Red" Phillips, fullback who spearheads interference for the ball handlers, and Billy Joe Milstead will certainly be at their peak for the game. Expect for a brief ailment by Milstead, both have been capable of full time duty in every game so far and may have to go all the way against Byrd.

Ouachita's line expects to go against the Jacket forwards with the invaders holding a weight advantage, but the Lions have turned in some sterling line play in most games this year and get their chance to produce a masterpiece Friday providing they are able to stall the big Byrd linemen.

Tommy Wilson looms bigger each game as probably the most consistently outstanding of Lion forwards, looking particularly impressive with his deadly tackling. Bobby Bruce, coming around fast after an early season injury, appears back at his peak and ready to share to a greater extent the duties at right and left tackle with Wilson.

Guards Bert DeLoach and Robert Earl Parker, Center Johnny Goodwin, and Ends Kenneth Greer and Fred Bosley round out the starting line and all have produced some hard line play in keeping the Lions in the running for the district crown.

START OWLS BEAT MANGHAM, 27 TO 7

MANGHAM, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The Start Owls spoiled Mangham High School's homecoming Friday night by defeating the Dragons 27 to 7. The hard running Owls trailed the Mangham eleven only once during the fracas, and led at the half by a score of 13 to 7.

Start scored early in the first quarter on a sustained drive after the opening kickoff. The attempted conversion was blocked. The Dragons also tallied in the initial period. Their touchdown was setup by a 52-yard punt by Lovie Free, which was dropped by the Owl safety and recovered on the 2-yard line by Dragon tackle, Bobby Hendrix. Free carried the pigskin into pay dirt, and James Etier plunged over for the extra point. Mangham's 7 to 6 lead did not last long, however, as Start came back to score again on the first play of the second quarter.

In the second half the Owls took to the air, with Pahal tossing. Although held by the Mangham team in the third period, the Start lads added 14 points in the last period, and stopped a Dragon drive on the Owl one-yard line.

Sapp and D. Hogan led the Start scoring, each tallying twice. For Mangham, the line play of Hendrix and Edward Moore stood out.

During the half, a colorful ceremony was presented by the Dragonettes, who formed the letter "S", then went into an "M". Each Dragonette carried a small light, and as the playing field lights went out, the lighted "M" made an impressive sight. In this formation, the Dragonettes sang the Mangham "Alma Mater". Following the marching of the pep squad, Miss June Bell was crowned Homecoming Queen in a picturesque ceremony. Miss Bell was accompanied by James Etier, Dragon captain, and was attended by Misses ittye Pardue, Jerry Lou Hagar, etty Eppinette, and Mickey Brown.

Nine Teams Considered For Date In Junior Sugar Bowl Grid Game

Nine of the nation's top ranked junior college elevens are currently being considered for the second annual Junior Sugar Bowl football classic here Saturday night, December 11.

Ralph Marionneaux, chairman of the sponsoring Lions Club's selection committee, said "feelers to be regarded as tests of their favorability toward the Junior Sugar Bowl and not to be considered definite bids to appear in the game" had been sent to nine institutions in Minnesota, Oklahoma, Georgia, Texas, Mississippi, Kansas, Arkansas, Tennessee and Louisiana.

"We're out to get the best available teams for our game," Marionneaux said. "We'll choose the teams with the best records from those committing themselves as desiring to appear in our show."

The teams considered strongest possibilities right now are:

Duluth Junior College, Duluth, Minn., winner of six games without defeat.

Cameron Aggies, Lawton, Okla., winner of five games without defeat.

Kilgore College, Kilgore, Tex., winner of six games without defeat.

South Georgia Junior College, Douglas, Ga., winner of four games without defeat.

Perkinston Junior College, Perkinston, Miss., winner of seven games without defeat.

Hutchinson Junior College, Hutchinson, Kans., winner of five against no defeats.

Little Rock Junior College, Little Rock Ark., winner of four games, and three times beaten with all losses being to four-year schools.

John McNeese, Lake Charles, La, winner of five and once beaten.

Tennessee Wesleyan, Athens, Tenn., a two-time winner once beaten.

The job of selecting the Junior Sugar Bowl opponents rests entirely with Marionneaux and his committee of Dr. W. L. Bendel, Lawrence Gibbs, Stanley Passman, Bob Dumm and Paul Martin.

HARRELL TO BATTLE THOMAS IN BOXING MATCH AT KALLIO'S

10-Round Fight Main Event Tuesday; Marcarcostas Meets Bruckman

Boxing claims the spotlight on Promoter Gus Kallio's weekly wrestling show Tuesday night when tusslers Henry Harrell, Memphis, Tenn., and George "Lefty" Thomas, Shreveport, discard their usual methods of brawling to don the gloves for a scheduled ten-round main event fight.

Thomas, angered at the result of a tag team wrestling match here last Tuesday night when Harrell and George Maracarcostas teamed to defeat Thomas and Don Serio.

For some time after the match was over Thomas, a former middleweight boxer, carried on a battle royal with Harrell and Marcarcostas, with the scrap finally settling down to a brawl between Harrell and Thomas before Kallio, who refereed the match, managed to break them up.

Both left the ring without satisfaction and Thomas immediately entered a challenge, demanding that Harrell settle the issue with the gloves.

Harrell leaped back into the ring with the threat to "settle it now," but Thomas shouted him down with the challenge, "We'll settle this next week in ten rounds or less."

"Why wait until next week," stormed Harrell, threatening to launch another attack at Thomas, but Kallio finally chased both to their respective showers and then began to make quieter plans to bring them together in Thomas' proposed fisticuffs.

Thomas, who also claims Marshall, Tex., as his home but who once sold newspapers in Shreveport, is a former S. A. A. U. middleweight champion, and was a three-time champion as a contender in the amateur Tri-State Tournament held annually at Shreveport. He claimed the southern middleweight professional title in 1936 and has turned to wrestling only in recent years.

Just how good Harrell is at boxing is unknown here, but the Memphis bruiser is known to be a high-strung wrestler with plenty of back-alley battling tactics that can be expected to prove a severe storm for Thomas, regardless of the latter's fistic ability.

Kallio hasn't presented such a card since Jack Curtis, world's light heavyweight mat champion, donned the gloves to knock out Pat Cronin, Jackson, Miss., in four rounds after Curtis and Cronin, the latter an ex-fighter and referee, got into a disagreement about the way Cronin officiated a Curtis match.

Semi-final attraction on the Tuesday card will be a wrestling battle between George Marcarcostas, the Greek tussler who made his first appearance here last week, and "Tog" Bruckman, a newcomer from Brooklyn, N. Y., who'll be showing for the first time before Kallio's customers.

Bruckman and Marcarcostas are scheduled to open the night's fireworks at 8 o'clock in a match that will have an hour time limit, two falls to win.

LAKE PROVIDENCE TRIPS OAK GROVE

Panthers, Leading Class B Race, Turn Back Tigers By 15-0 Margin

OAK GROVE, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The powerful Lake Providence Panthers, apparently due to command the northeast district Class B race this season, slipped past a hard fighting Oak Grove High School eleven, 14 to 0, here last night.

It was a case of a good big team against a good little team and the big team won over an eleven that has been unable to hold a decent workout for several days as members of the Tiger grid squad have been busy with the cotton picking season in addition to their school work.

Denny, Clements, and James Hopkins played outstanding ball for Lake Providence, while "Red" Mix, Oak Grove left halfback and regarded as one of the outstanding prep gridders in this section, and Posey and Lee carried the load for Oak Grove.

Nix kept the Panthers rocked back frequently with spectacular punting. He punted five times, one of his kicks going for 75 yards and two getting away for 50 each to hold Lake Providence off. Nix also completed three of the five passes he pitched and turned in some excellent running.

Oak Grove celebrates homecoming next Friday night with the Arcadia High School Hornets as their guests.

SOUTH BENDERS BRAND MIDDIES WITH 11TH LOSS

Fighting Irish Continue Pattern Of Scoring In Every Quarter

By John Chandler

BALTIMORE, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Notre Dame's dazzling football forces rocked shell-shocked Navy 41 to 7 today as the undefeated Irish scored in each quarter as they have done in every game this season.

The South Bend maulers ripped to a touchdown in the first two minutes and 55 seconds. That gave the sell-out crowd of 63,314 jammed into Babe Ruth Stadium a quick idea of what was going to happen.

Led by Right Halfback Emil Sitko, who tallied one touchdown and set up a pair of others with slashing runs, the fighting Irish handed Navy its 11th consecutive defeat. This is record low for the Midshipmen—five losses to end the 1947 season and six in a row this year.

Navy did manage a touchdown early in the fourth quarter after Notre Dame had run up 35 points. It was the first time the Sailors had been able to score on the Irish since the 1945 game ended in a 6-6 tie.

Right after the opening kickoff by Navy, Notre Dame found itself on its 42 yard line. Frank Tripucka, whose T-formation trickery was clicking perfectly, faked a handoff to Bill Gay, then shovel-passed to Sitko.

Emil had full steam up as he cut around right end and skipped 55 yards down the sideline before Jim Green knocked him out on the Navy three. Sitko was elected to crack over on the next play for the initial score. Steve Oracko placekicked the first of five extra points.

Shortly after the initial score Bob Horne fumbled and Bill Fischer, Notre Dame captain, recovered near midfield. Sitko ran twice and the ball was on Navy's 18. Then Tripucka faked to Sitko, shovel-passed to John Panelli and he romped over.

Sitko rambled 44 yards in the second quarter to Navy's 15 and five plays later Tripucka lobbed a four-yard pass to Gay in the end zone.

Less than two minutes later, the Navy jitters hit Quarterback Reaves Baysinger, who fumbled on his own 25 yard marker, where Gerry Groom recovered for Notre Dame. On the first play Bob Williams, in for Tripucka, lateraled wide to Hank Smith, who went all the way to prove the reserves also knew how to get points.

In the third quarter it looked like the Notre Dame record of scoring in every period would end. Twice touchdowns were called back on account of penalties, but after 13 minutes and 20 seconds of fooling around deep

'PRICELESS' PRICE ONE REASON WHY TULANE ROLLS ON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30.—(Special)—Another hurricane is whipping into the mid-south area.

That hurricane is in the form of Tulane's Eddie Price, now churning through the leading gridiron powers like a buzz-saw to lead Wave ball carriers.

Priceless Eddie Price as he's affectionately known to southern football fans is piling up yardage as it hasn't been done around Tulane since the days of Jitterbug Bobby Kellogg, Claude "Little Monk" Simons and The Blond Blizzard that was Bill Banker.

The 188-pound, 5'11" native New Orleanian had amassed a total of 419 yards at the end of the first half of Tulane's 1948 schedule and at the rate he's going may reach the 1,000 yard mark before the season's over.

Price combines the finesse of a toe-dancer on a hot plate and the bruising power of an Army tank. In other words he's one of those boys who can turn on the speed and run past a would be tackler or run over him—whichever Price chooses.

Only one other back in the Southeastern Conference has gained more ground than Price. Two backs in the Southwestern circuit and none in the Southern Conference surpass him.

Thus Price stands among the four leaders on the ground from Texas to North Carolina, from the Gulf to the northern most point of Maryland. Among the nation's best he ranks 14th rushing and has played against such defensive stalwarts as Georgia Tech, now the top team in the nation on rushing defense, South Carolina, which ranks 11th in the nation on total defense, and defensive powers in the Southeastern Conference like Alabama and Ole Miss.

This role is nothing new to Price. Last year he bore the pigskin 106 times for 471 yards net—a 4.4 average. He was a constant threat and his performance as a sophomore tabbed him as a man to watch and beware of among coaches of Tulane foes this year.

But despite that tab he's still rolling along and like the Mississippi that flows within a half mile of Tulane Stadium where Price cavorts, he's likely to "just keep on rollin' along."

RUSTON KNOCKS BASTROP TITLE HOPES FOR LOOP

Bearcats Hand Rams First Defeat In Class A Competition, 15 To 0

By 'Skipper' Morris

BASTROP, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—An aroused clan of Ruston Bearcats ruined the Bastrop High School homecoming affair last night, scoring in the second and fourth periods to give the Rams their first 1948 Class A defeat, 15 to 0. Ruston threw a nonpenetrable defense at the local lads, and brought out a smashing offense, sparked by Left Halfback Al Torbert, that pushed its way up and down the field at will.

Except for two occasions, just before the halftime intermission and at the beginning of the fourth quarter, Bastrop was never in the game. The Rams just couldn't start clicking, either offensively or defensively, although Bob Lamb, Walter Savage, Paul Storment, and Bill Peters displayed some excellent defending talent. However, these four boys alone could not stem the overwhelming Bearcat charges.

An exchange of punts placed the ball on the Bastrop ten-yard line in Ram possession early in the second quarter. Two runs by Crowell and Lindsey respectively failed to gain. Hindmon attempted to punt, but the kick was blocked and the ball rolled out of bounds in the end zone, where it was covered by Ruston's Carter. The play resulted in a safety for the Bearcats, and the visitors led, 2-0.

Hindmon kicked off from his own 20-yard line, the ball going to the Bearcat 43. Smith picked up the bounding pigskin, ran to his left and then cut back through a large hole in the right side of the charging Bastrop linemen. Eluding Charles Keene, Ram fullback, the 150-pound halfback galloped down the sideline to score. The entire play covered 57 yards. Bob McLeod blocked E. Bain's try for the extra point, and Ruston led 8-0, a lead which they never relinquished.

After the ensuing kickoff, Ruston recovered a Ram fumble on the Bastrop 29, but a play later, fumbled themselves, a Ram lineman covering the oval on his own 15-yard stripe. Bastrop moved 69 yards with lightning speed in a last final effort before halftime. Keene passed down the field to Dalton Harrell, who was tackled on the Ram 43 after a twenty-

CRUSADERS DUMP EASTON TARPONS FROM LEADERSHIP

Sulphur's Upset Of Baton Rouge Bulldogs Shares Class AA Spotlight

(By Associated Press)

A 20-0 victory for Holy Cross over Warren Easton shared the spotlight with a startling 33-6 upset of Baton Rouge by Sulphur Friday night in Louisiana's Class AA prep football doings.

Holy Cross knocked Easton from the New Orleans district leadership. The winners thoroughly dominated the game, gaining 310 yards to 62 for Easton.

Joe Heap, the Holy Cross star, passed to Dave Natasi for one touchdown and ran 18 yards for another. Hayden Mayeaux made one touchdown and two extra points.

It was the first 1948 district game for Holy Cross, and was the only one in the state during the evening.

Sulphur outplayed Baton Rouge completely. Pete Miller got three touchdowns, on a 27-yard end run and two short plunges following sustained drives. He booted two extra points as well.

Newton Shows passed to Jim Matthews for a Sulphur touchdown and Johnny Hebert went a yard for the other after a 65-yard drive.

Baton Rouge pushed 69 yards for its touchdown. A roughness penalty put the ball on the Sulphur ten, and Billy Higginbotham passed ten yards to R. I. Bourgeois for the score.

The Istrouma Indians evened things up for the capital city against the southwest district by slapping Bolton of Alexandria, 35-7.

The Indians were in good physical shape for the first time since their opening game. Fullback Cliff Efferson, injured most of the season, set the keynote with a 58-yard touchdown dash on the first scrimmage play.

Other Istrouma touchdowns came on a 19-yard pass from Lester Landry to Harry Hodges, a 46-yard run by Marvin Taber, a 22-yard toss by Landry to Kline Courtney, and a 52-yard sprint by Carl Wolsefer. Efferson toed all five points.

Hardin Lewis, Bolton tackle, scampered 65 yards for his team's touchdown after catching a fumble in the air.

Lake Charles High won as expected from Fair Park of Shreveport, 28-13.

A 93-yard kickoff return by Woody Watson, which put Lake Charles permanently ahead, was the feature play. Halfback Harold Wood scored twice on short runs, and L. J. Fredericks plunged six yards for the same number of points.

Donald Weneman set up Fair Park's first touchdown with a 47-yard dash,

N. J. C. POINTS FOR JOHN M'NEESE INVASION

REDSKINS BATTLE COWBOYS FRIDAY AT LAKE CHARLES

South Louisianians, With Best Record, Favored To Trip Indians

An improved Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. eleven, depending largely on a hard fighting line for keeping ahead in the win column, goes against highly ranked John McNeese Junior College in an underdog role at Lake Charles next Friday night.

The game, second and last of the season away from home, finds the Tribe matched against the state's only other junior college eleven in a game that carries with it the Jaycee championship of Louisiana.

McNeese, ranked high among the leading junior college elevens of the nation, boasts a record of five victories in six games with the result of the Cowboys' Edinburg game still to be heard. The Cowboys' lone defeat was at the hands of the mighty Cameron, Okla., Aggies who are slated to appear in somebody's bowl game. The Ags stopped McNeese in a hard fought scrap, 33 to 13.

McNeese victories were over Magnolia A. and M., 32 to 7; Wharton, 26 to 12; Wentworth Military, 39 to 0; Tulane frosh, 19 to 13, and Connors Aggies, 39 to 13.

Coach James L. Malone's Redskins, showing improved performances as they won their last two games from L. S. U. "B" and North Texas Agricultural College, definitely expect to have their hands full at Lake Charles and could go a long way toward reestablishing themselves among the nation's leading junior college teams by upsetting the Cowboys Friday.

N. J. C. and McNeese have met previously only three times with the south Louisianians holding the edge, two games to one. The Malonemen routed the Cowboys, 38 to 6, in their initial meeting in 1945. They met twice in 1946 with McNeese winning here, 16 to 0, and taking the next at Lake Charles, 31 to 6.

Three members of the present N. J. C. squad were on the team that lost to McNeese in '46, and they'll be seeking some measure of revenge. They are Tackle Charles "Red" Dillon and Guards Claude Brawner and Charles "Bud" Cain. Whether or not Cain is able to play will depend on his recovery from injuries suffered in the L. S. U. "B" game that kept him out of the North Texas Agricultural battle here Friday night which the Tribe won, 14 to 0.

then scored it from the two. Charles Russell plunged for the other losers' tally.

Jennings gained 335 yards to 49 in winning a 34-6 game from Lafayette. Al Pujol scored two touchdowns for Jennings. Virgil Fontenot made one and plunged for three extra points. Howard Seagraves and Al Johnson scored also.

Lee Leonard's 17-yard pass to Raymond Shaw gave Lafayette six points.

St. Aloysius of New Orleans beat St. Stanislaus of Bay St. Louis 6-0. A 66-yard march climaxed by Gerald Zimmerman's one-yard end sweep brought the game's only score.

Neville Shoots For 5th 'A' Win Against Winnsboro

UNBEATEN TIGERS INVADE WILDCATS' CAMP FOR BATTLE

Bill Ruple's Bengals, Pointing For Title, Play Friday Night

Highly favored to win their fifth straight Class A conference battle, the undefeated Neville High School Tigers, only remaining unbeaten Monroe eleven, goes into action against the oft-beaten Winnsboro Wildcats at Winnsboro's Memorial Park next Friday night.

Coach John Nicosia has practically none of the players left from his Winnsboro team that appeared in the district championship playoff last year and is building back again, but the Wildcats will be out to give the heavier Bengals the best they are capable of producing.

If Winnsboro should spring an upset over Neville it would go down as one of the biggest reversals of form in the state this season.

Actually, the Tigers are thinking more about their coming date with the Bastrop Rams on November 19 and giving Winnsboro little regard, a fact that might enable the Wildcats to catch the Tigers unaware and produce a harder fought game than the "experts" figure on.

Winnsboro and Bastrop remain as the only conference foes in the way of Neville's district title hopes. Bastrop had its hopes dampened Friday night when the Rams took their first conference loss of the season, 15-0, from Ruston, a team already beaten by Neville, 14-13.

If the Tigers successfully pass both Winnsboro and Bastrop it's likely that they'll move into the district crown without the necessity of a playoff.

Neville last appeared in a title contending role in 1940 when the Tigers met in a playoff for the district crown with Bastrop, losing to the Rams, 20-0. Back in 1936, before the forming of the Class A loop, Neville, Bolton of Alexandria, Ouachita, and Ruston wound up their schedules in a deadlock for the district Class A crown, but Neville was beaten out by Bolton in a downpour of rain, 6 to 0, and the Bears went on to cop the district title by whipping Ouachita in the finals, 14 to 6.

Last year Neville's eleven claimed a team of distinction although it failed to get into any playoffs. The Tigers were beaten only twice, once by Bogalusa's state Class AA champs, 13-12, and once by Ruston's Class A state titlists, 14-13. This year the Tigers are striving to get a title for the first time since the old Monroe City High School eleven laid claim to the state crown 37 years ago, back in 1911.

'NO ALIBIS' FOR LOSS, SAYS PEP

Dethroned Feather Champ Appears 'Washed Up' After Loss To Saddler

By Jack Hand

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—Willie Pep is all washed up after losing his featherweight championship to Sandy Saddler.

That seems to be the consensus following last night's stunning knockout win for Saddler, a lean Harlem speedster, in 2:38 of the fourth round. Pep never looked the part of the fighter who had lost only once in 136 previous starts.

Slow to move and an easy target for Saddler's fast left uppercuts, wily Willie went down and out for the first time in his illustrious career. He had been on the deck twice before he took the full count by Referee Ruby Goldstein.

Saddler, up to now a prelim fighter in the Garden but a main go boy elsewhere around the globe, was hitting faster and sharper than ever before in a local ring. All the way he carried the battle to the fading champ.

Rumors of a betting coup that sent the odds favoring Pep fluctuating from 1 to 3 down to 1 to 2 and then back to 1 to 3 at ring time, resulted in a word of caution from Commissioner Eddie Eagan at the noon weigh-in.

"With every contest we get lots of rumors," said Eagan, "we don't believe any of them. You two are honest athletes. We are holding you responsible to uphold the good name of boxing."

After the fight began Eagan said he thought it was a "good scrap."

"Both boys did their utmost," he added.

Pep had no excuse for his poor showing that disappointed so many of his homefolks from Hartford, Conn., who had helped contribute to a house of 14,685, and a gross of $55,751.78.

"I have no alibis," Pep said. "I felt fine before the fight. * * * I didn't expect him to be that tough. I thought I could lick him easy."

Pep was guaranteed a return shot within four months. He says he still wants it but there were few rousing cheers around this town today at any mention of a return go.

Saddler, hitting Pep with an ease that disturbed the crowd, took charge in the first round. But Pep had an edge in the second, sticking his left jab five or six times to Saddler's head, while the clung to his taller opponent's talented left.

Saddler sent Pep to the canvas twice for nine counts in the third and with a left uppercut midway in the fourth buckled Willie's knees. Then a left hook drove Pep down and out for keeps. It was the first kayo loss in the career of Pep dating way back to 1940.

in Navy territory, Williams lateraled to Frank Spaniel and he skidded into pay dirt from the seven.

Navy fans got their first real chance to cheer late in the third stanza when Rookie Halfback Walter Marquardy was sent into the game.

Marquardt cut loose for 44 yards to Notre Dame's 45. The drive stalled momentarily, and Baysinger angled a punt out of bounds on the Irish two.

Bob Williams' return kick went out on Notre Dame's 36, and the Middies went to work. Marquardt and Pistol Pete Williams alternated for six cracks at the line, then Williams hit right guard from seven yards out and got Navy into the scoring act. Rodger Drew booted the point from placement.

GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD

By Harry Grayson

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.— (NEA) — Where do they get off—ranking Michigan, Notre Dame, North Carolina, California and Army ahead of Georgia Tech?

And followers of the Rambling Wrecks give you quite an argument.

When a dozen years or so ago certain coaches went lateral pass scarewy, a football writer asked Wallace Wade of Duke which team in the country, in his opinion, had the most deceptive attack.

"Year in and year out, there's no doubt about it—Georgia Tech," replied the Old Man.

And reports brought to Coach Wade prior to this year's Tech-Duke engagement had the current Engineers the razzle-dazzliest of them all.

"They do more tricks with the ball than any team I have ever seen," says Blue Devils' end coach and scout, Herschel Caldwell, who has known Tech football since 1923, when he starred at Alabama. Caldwell has kept close tab on the Atlanta entry down through the years.

Duke's report has no less than three dream Georgia Tech backfields operating behind block of granite who are six deep on either side of Lewis Hook, who, oddly enough, at 170 pounds is probably the lightest center on any major team in the land. Hook turned in a grand job last autumn filling the sizable brogans of All-America Paul Duke.

Schooled football men call unbeaten Georgia Tech's the finest defensive line in college football. Guard Bill Healey—six feet, 210 pounds—is the biggest man in it, and is rated by those who know as the most formidable lineman in the college ranks. Healey won the silver and bronze star during three years in the army.

The gold-clad forwards held their first five opponents, which includes Vanderbilt and Tulane, to a total of 14 points.

Ends George Brodnax and Jimmy Castleberry are co-captains, but because competition is so keen, the latter has had to settle for a second-team berth. On the second team with Castleberry is vastly-improved Jim Nolan, an end who stands six feet eight and also excels in basketball and track.

Jimmy Southard is doing a grand job of quarterbacking Tech's amazing T-formation outfit. Dinky Bowen ran at fullback two years ago, and was a whiz. Last year, because Frank Ziegler was an equally extraordinary fullback, Bowen was moved to halfback, where he continued to run the opposition ragged. Georgians believe Ziegler would be an All-America if he didn't have to share the limelight with so many other stickout backs. Bob McCoy is the other starting halfback.

John O'Neil didn't even get in the Yellow Jackets' first four skirmishes, but was trotted out as their 14th back, and ran hog wild as Florida was flogged, 42-7.

Georgia Tech's big one is with Georgia, Nov. 27.

The winner, or both, will go a-bowling on New Year's Day.

SEWANEE PROTECTS RECORD

ROANOKE, Va., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Sewanee's Purple Tigers remained among the nation's dwindling group of undefeated, untied football teams today by turning back Hampden-Sydney 20 to 13. A small crowd of 4,000 watched the contest.

Between courses in Contemporary Civilization and Psychology of Behavior, Columbia University's freshman and sophomore classes put on their annual brawl in New York. The horizontal freshman was trying to reach a greased pole, defended by the sophs, and wound up in this embarrassing position just prior to being depanted.

TECH FATHERS KEEP BABIES BETWEEN CLASSES

FLORENCE, ALA., SEEKS PLACE IN CAGE LEAGUE

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Directors of the Southern Professional Basketball League will meet in Birmingham tomorrow to adopt the 1948-49 schedule and to formally admit Florence, Ala., to the league.

The Muscle Shoals Raiders of Florence will replace Jackson, Miss., a member of the circuit in the inaugural season.

Montgomery, last year's league and playoff champions; Birmingham, Nashville, New Orleans and Laurel, Miss., compose the south's only pro cage circuit.

eight yard gain. On a naked reverse, Leon Johnston, speedy wingback, retreated all the way back to his own 35, and then whipped around left end and down the sideline to the Cats' 21. However, he stepped out of bounds on the Ruston 35, and the ball was placed down at this point.

McLeod completed a running pass to Dalton Harrell for another 19 yards and a first down on the Cats' 16-yard stripe. Johnston attempted a reverse, but he was trapped for no gain. Keene fired a pass intended for Johnston, but it was incomplete. McLeod heaved a long aerial to Harrell in the end zone, and he dropped it, to the dismay of the Bastrop fans. Another aerial intended for Harrell, thrown by McLeod, fell to the ground, and the first half came to a close with the entire crowd standing up.

The Ruston High School band performed at the half, wearing green, blue, red, and yellow lights on their caps. With all the field lights extinguished, the Bearcat band played while a drum major twirled flaming batons. Restoring light again to the stadium, the visiting musicians formed a B and an R, for Bastrop and Ruston, and played "Casey Would Waltz With the Strawberry Blonde" while the majorettes swung white and gold banners in time with the music.

The Bastrop pep squad, with the aid of blue and white crepe paper, constructed the world ALUMNI in front of the stands, and the local musical corps formed a long processional hall from the south goal posts to the press box. Through the hall the queen and her court made their entrance, accompanied by their escorts, and were presented with corsages and flowers.

The queen, maids and their escorts: Betty Carpenter escorted by David Snyder, Patsy Reynolds escorted by Roland Barry, Joan Keller escorted by Harold Weatherly, Bonnie Ruth Barr escorted by Claude Pickett, and Sue McLendon escorted by Mack Barham. The queen, Mrs. J. T. Higginbotham, (Joyce Chestnut) was escorted by the Bastrop co-captains, Bob Lamb, and Walter Savage.

To close the activities, the Bastrop band played "Auld Lang Syne."

In the third quarter Ruston threatened to the Bastrop 15-yard line, and Bastrop made their second and last determined bid. The Rams recovered a short kickoff on the Bearcat 49, but couldn't get their offense working, and were forced to punt, Jackson's kick going out of bounds on the Cat 23. Ruston hammered 62 yards to the Bastrop 15. Torbert set the Bearcats on their way with a fourteen yard end run, and seven plays later, drilled a 15-yard pass to Smith to place the ball on the Bastrop 20. Smith reversed around left end to the 15, and a pass fell incomplete. Torbert passed to Smith, but Harrell intercepted the throw and returned to the Ram 15.

The Ruston line held, and Bastrop punted to the Bearcat 43. Ruston fumbled, and Storment fell on the ball for Bastrop on the Cat 40. McLeod pounded off right tackle for fourteen yards and a first down on the Ruston 26. McLeod picked up six through center, and then plunged off right tackle to the 17-yard stripe. On the next play, McLeod fumbled and Colvin recovered for Ruston on the Bearcat 19, leaving the Bastrop fans disgusted.

Ruston smashed 81 yards to their second touchdown, Al Torbert accounting for 46 of the 81 yards before he was injured four plays before the score. Charles Bain tallied after Stinson, substitute left halfback, had carried the ball to the one foot line. E. Bain kicked the extra point, and Ruston was ahead, 15 to 0.

Following the kickoff, Bastrop drove to the Ruston 47 before losing the ball on downs, and as the game closed, the Bearcats thundered down the field to the Ram 20-yard line.

Score by quarters:

Ruston	0	8	0	7—15

JUSTICE PASSES KEEP TAR HEELS AMONG UNBEATEN

North Carolina Hands Tennessee Volunteers 14 To 7 Beating

By Ted Smits

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Charlie Justice's two first quarter touchdown passes kept North Carolina in the dwindling list of major undefeated college football teams today by defeating Tennessee, 14 to 7. It was North Carolina's thirteenth consecutive victory.

Tennessee, starting slowly, came back savagely to score in the third period on J. B. Proctor's pass to J. W. Sherrill. The Vols challenged all the rest of the way.

The most brilliant run—for 90 yards—was cancelled by a clipping penalty. Near the end of the first half, Hal Littleford of Tennessee took Justice's punt on his 10 and ran the length of the field. The officials ruled, however, that Ermal Howard clipped Hosea Rodgers, the mighty North Carolina fullback. The ball was called back to the Tennessee nine yard line to a mighty chorus of boos from the record crowd of 50,000.

Until the last period ennessee kept Choo-Choo Justice's running fairly well under control, but Rodgers, the other half of North Carolina's offensive punch, took over on behalf of his shifty team-mate.

North Carolina's first touchdown was ground out the first time the invading team got the ball. Eleven plays were required to go 55 yards. Then from the three yard line Justice passed to Bill Flamisch in the end zone.

A few moments later Hal Littleford's only bad punt of the game sent North Carolina going from the Tennessee 27. This time Justice passed from the 12 to Art Weiner who was charging through the end zone. Bob Cox made both conversions and it looked as if the nation's 3rd ranking football team was on its way to obliterating Tennessee.

CITATION IS BREEZE-IN FOR 3-YEAR-OLD CROWN

BALTIMORE, Ore., Oct. 30.—(AP)—"Where'll we go from here with Citation?" Calumet farm strategists were asking themselves today.

Yesterday the refrain was "I'll walk alone," as the colt was acclaimed three-year-old turf champion in Pimlico Special. He had mopped up every other contender so thoroughly in winning 17 of 18 races this year that none even bothered to show up for this sporting fixture.

This concession to greatness left Calumet farms in somewhat of a quandry about where to take Citation in quest of handicap honors in 1949. The speedy son of Bull Lea-Hydroplane, II has been top horse in his two years of running.

He's through for this year and now Calumet is torn between Florida and California.

No matter where Citation goes, there isn't much left for him to conquer. His solo romp in yesterday's Pimlico Special was about as easy as he had won 24 in 26 previous races.

In fact, Jockey Eddie Arcaro gave the colt quite a fast ride, considering the fact he had only to show up on the track for the $10,000 Walkover purse.

Arcaro, piloting his fourth special winner, held Citation rather tightly until the last quarter of the mile and three sixteenths.

Then he let him run free and Citation finished in 1:59 4/5 which was remarkably good time, considering the colt never was urged.

meet for the seventh time. With the veteran Roy Zimmerman returning to the form that made him a star passer before being traded to the Yanks, Boston is formidable opposition for any team in the league. Washington, with the rookie Dan Sandifer playing a stellar role in recent games, and with the always dangerous Sammy Baugh to do the passing, will be at full strength for the Yanks.

The series shows five wins for Washington to one for Boston.

The Green Bay-Detroit game in the Motor City will pit the hard running Tony Canadeo, the league's leading ground gainer and Jack Jacobs, tenth in passing, against the rookie Frank Enke and the veteran, Clyde LeForce, both of whom are among the league's leading passers. The game will be the thirtieth between the two old rivals with Green Bay leading in victories with 24 to 5.

JOHNNY REBELS TROUNCE TIGERS BY 49-19 MARGIN

Ole Miss Scores In Every Quarter To Humble Rival Bayou Bengals

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Mississippi's powerful Rebels rolled to a 49-19 victory over Louisiana State University here tonight before 40,000 fans.

In 11 plays the Rebels paraded 53 yards to a first quarter touchdown, with Quarterback Farley Salmon going over from the two. Bobby Oswalt converted from placement. The Tigers came back hard with a 58-yard touchdown pass from Quarterback Charlie Pevey to End Abner Wimberly. Carroll Griffith tied the count with a perfect placement.

The Johnny Rebs struck twice in the second quarter on a 54-yard pass, Bobby Wilson to Dixie Howell, and again when Howell set it up on a 48-yard punt return. Salmon passed to Wilson for the score.

Oswalt kicked both extra points from placement. A beautiful catch by Wimberly of Pevey's pass, good for 57 yards, put the Tigers back in the ball game. Griffith's placekick failed and the score at the half was Mississippi 21, L. S. U. 13.

Ole Miss got two touchdowns and L. S. U. one in the hectic third period. Tiblier went over from the three for one and Buddy Bowen, quarterback, sneaked another. Oswalt kicked both extra points from placement, keeping his record intact. Burly Zollie Toth, L. S. U. fullback, lumbered around end for 46 yards and the Tiger tally. Griffith's placement was not good.

The Rebels scored twice more in the fourth and Oswalt's placekicks were good for two extra points. An intercepted pass set up one score, made by Dottley from the two. Bobby Jabour scored the other from the one after a 59-yard march.

STEPHEN AUSTIN DOWNS LOUISIANA COLLEGE, 21-12

PINEVILLE, La., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Stephen F. Austin College of Nacogdoches, Tex., grabbed a quick first quarter lead here tonight and built it into a 21-12 victory over Louisiana College.

An estimated crowd of 3,000 watched Bobby Smith heave a seven-yard scoring pass to James Due in the opening period. Smith added the extra point.

Louisiana College came right back with a touchdown of its own, Ray Newman connecting with Bernard Callendar on a 75-yard pass play.

The Lumberjacks from the piney woods of east Texas climaxed a 50-yard push in the second quarter when Sherman Hughes blasted over from the one-foot line. Smith again converted the extra point.

Billy Jack Robinson gave the Texans their final tally in the fourth period, intercepting a pass on Louisiana College's 22-yard line and going over untouched. Billy Roberson booted the extra point.

Newman's five-yard toss to Callendar accounted for the last Louisiana College score with one minute of the game remaining.

CLAYTON HAND TOPS POLICE RANGE SHOOT

Officer Clayton Hand of the Monroe police department, led thirty-one other police participants in last week's shooting contest held at the Monroe police shooting range at the intersection of Plum and Sixth streets.

The contestants competed in four quick draw and four off hand shooting events. The morning group shot at 9 a. m. and the evening group shot at 2 p. m.

The nine high shooters and their score were: Clayton Hand, 112.0; Billy McBride, 87.6; Ralph Graves, 83.4; W. H. Lockett, 80.4; H. T. Ward, 80.2; H. J. McMurray, 73.5; H. B. Johnson, 69.8; H. R. Wall, 69.6 and George Whitlow, 69.0.

Although the University of Mississippi has beaten Kentucky in three of five games, the point totals balance exactly—68 each.

prospects for realizing the American foreign policy aim of promoting a "free, Democratic and stable government" over all China appear very dim at the moment.

These same authorities are unwilling to say definitely, however, that even a complete Communist rise to power would make a wholly black outlook for American foreign policy and cut this country off from all contact with the land in which it has a deep traditional interest.

They contend that Russia, having its own Siberian needs to meet, could not provide a Communist China with the help it would require to grow. They reason that the need for such help might provide some slender basis on which to begin to try to establish friendly relations between a new China regime and this and other western countries.

Yet there is no denial that the development of a Chinese government either wholly or partly Communist would run counter to the hopes of the United States as these hopes have been defined in the cold war with communism since the advent of the Truman doctrine 18 months ago. In that period the Washington government has worked against the emergence of new Communist regimes or coalitions including Communists anywhere outside the Soviet and satellite areas.

This policy has been vigorously — and expensively—applied in Europe and the middle east. China has fitted into the picture as a place for American help in holding off Communist expansion while the main contests of the cold war were being fought out in the European area.

The U. S. attitude toward China is likely to be a subject of debate in the next congress, regardless of the result of Tuesday's elections. Governor Dewey, as the Republican presidential nominee, has criticized the Democrats in his campaign speeches for allegedly not doing enough for China.

Since 1937, the United States has put approximately $3,000,000,000 into China in the forms of loans and grants. It has added roughly another $185,000,000 of civil and military aid funds. These figures compare with many billions which are being poured into western Europe.

The current China aid program of $400,000,000 was enacted by congress last spring. Secretary of State Marshall frankly called it at the time a stop-gap measure to give the Chiang administration a breathing spell in which to take strong new social and economic reforms.

Some such measures have been taken, but in the opinion of many officials here they have not been either bold or well timed and have therefore down and the social and political ills failed to check the economic breakin the nationalist areas.

NEVADA'S HEATH SETS NEW MARK IN AERIAL WORK

Justice Leads Tar Heels Past Tennessee In Nation's Top Battle

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—North Carolina, Michigan and Notre Dame—the Big Three of 1948 college football—subdued stubborn rivals today and added to their gridiron reputations.

Charlie Justice, North Carolina's great back, manufactured two touchdowns as his mates sidetracked an aroused Tennessee outfit, 14 to 7, in the game that got most attention.

It was Emil Sitko who was the hero as Notre Dame pulverized a willing navy crew, 41 to 7, for the South Bend Irish team's 24th game without a defeat. It was Navy's 11th straight defeat.

But it was Lady Luck to whom Illinois fans point as the culprit in Illinois' 28 to 20 loss to Michigan. Dike Eddleman, the Olympic athlete in the losers' lineup, dashed 94 yards for an apparent touchdown only to have it called back for rules violation. Minutes later a Michigan pass was ruled complete on the Illinois one-foot line for interference.

Thus the Big Three came through. But so did nearly all their brethern, in a day almost devoid of upsets.

Georgia Tech spotted an alert Duke team an early touchdown and then turned loose a bevy of speedy backs who built up a 19 to 7 victory. Georgia belted Alabama, 35 to 0, for the Tide's worst defeat in 38 years. Army permitted Virginia Tech to score but spilled the southerners, 49 to 7. California, its sights set on the Rose Bowl, won a cherished 13 to 7 victory over Southern California.

Penn and Penn State had relatively easy times. The Quakers crushed Washington and Lee, 40 to 7, while Penn State kept its two-year undefeated skein going with a 32 to 13 conquest of Colgate.

Northwestern became the midwest's No. 1 Rose Bowl candidate with a rugged 21 to 7 verdict over Ohio State. Johnny Miller, quick-footed substitute back, scored twice for the winners.

Doak Walker went 67 yards for one touchdown, scored another himself, passed for a third and converted all three as Southern Methodist moved out in front of the Southwest Conference race with a 21 to 6 score over vaunted Texas.

Harry Stuhldreher, Wisconsin coach, and his eleven were greeted with a "Yea, Harry" sign at the start of the second half of the Badgers battle with Iowa at Iowa City. The team then had a 13 to 0 lead. But the sign was gone at the end of the fray. Iowa won, 19 to 13.

Minnesota came from behind to defeat Indiana, 30 to 7, and Purdue got its decisive touchdown in the fourth to beat Marquette, 14 to 9.

For the third straight week Columbia went down in the final minutes. This time Cornell got late tallies for a 20 to 13 decision. Dartmouth showed unexpected power in battering Yale, 41 to 14, and Harvard took a step on the comeback trail with a 20 to 13 verdict over Holy Cross.

Crippled Rutgers lost its first home game in almost four seasons by bowing to Brown, 20 to 6.

Missouri, Oklahoma and Kansas—the favored three in the Big Seven race—all triumphed with relative ease although Kansas's margin was close. The Jayhawks sneaked by Oklahoma A. and M., 13 to 7. Missouri romped over Kansas State, 49 to 7, and Oklahome bopped Iowa State, 33 to 6. Missouri and Oklahoma meet Saturday.

Arkansas administered a seventh straight beating to Texas A. and M., 28 to 6, and Rice surprised by beating Texas Tech, 14 to 7.

Shorty McWilliams was injured and Mississippi State bowed to Tulane, 9 to 0. The New Orleans outfit moved into temporary third place in the Southeastern conference with the victory.

Wake Forest and Virginia Military had a scoring race. The former spilled North Carolina State, 34 to 13, and the latter punished Davidson, 33 to 6.

Stanford, which now comes east to take on unbeaten Army, shut out Washington, 20 to 0, for its third victory in seven games and Oregon had all it could handle in St. Mary's, winning by a 14 to 13 edge.

In a pair of intersectional frays, U. C. L. A. found the Nebraska pass defense full of holes and won, 27 to 15, and Michigan State ran and passed to a 46-21 victory over Oregon State.

Stan Heath, Nevada ace, broke the national collegiate passing record as he and his mates romped to a 79 to 13 verdict over Oklahoma City. Heath broke the old mark of 1,457 yards in his sixth game and has three games left in which to add to his total.

LOUISIANA TECH MASTERS S. L. I. BULLDOGS, 24-14

Joe Michael's Kicking Accounts For Six Points For Ruston Eleven

LAFAYETTE, La., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Louisiana Tech defeated Southwestern Louisiana Institute 24-14 here tonight before a homecoming crowd of about 8,000.

Quarterback Joe Michael's boots accounted for six of Tech's points. Early in the game, he kicked a field goal to put the visitors in front 3-0. He later made three successful conversions.

Late in the first period, Right Halfback David Fischer skirted left end from the 10-yard line to tally for S. L. I. Guard Paul di Giovanni added the extra point. Then Tech Half Back Jimmy Harrison shook loose and went 78 yards to score and regain the lead.

Halfback Carrell Downies intercepted an S. L. I. pass to set up the second Tech touchdown, scored by Fullback Bobby Aillet.

After a scoreless third period, Fullback Maurice Chappuis made the second S. L. I. touchdown and Di Giovanni again converted.

Tech put on its clincher late in the game. Fullback A. C. Schiro carried the ball on a 35-yard jaunt to the S. L. I. six yard line and then plunged over to score on the next play.

Good old gospel hymns to do honor to the greatest religious song writer of all time, Isaac Watts, will be presented in an evening program at the First Presbyterian Church, Sunday, November 14, at 7:30 o'clock. The purpose will be to present a pre-Thanksgiving festival of song and also to do honor to Watts, the 200th anniversary of his death being on November 25.

Watts wrote in all 600 or more church hymns, many of which are still used all over the Christian world and no writer of religious songs has ever equalled his record. Also as time passes, these hymns seem to be even as much or more in demand as they were when they first appeared two centuries ago.

This great man was born in England July 17, 1674, and died November 25, 1749.

Many families are right now planning one-day excusions into the alluring fall woods now clad in gladsome array since frost has painted leaves with rainbow colors. Some people also plan week-end camps. The following precautions are timely, states Sam Blackwell, member of the Red Cross first aid committee:

1. Select a campfire site, in accordance with local regulations, that is well drained and free from growth. Underbrush may catch fire and stubble trip the campers or picnickers.

2. If you build a temporary stove, choose hard stones. Soft rock will break and may scatter fragments when heated. Flat stones will not give way and upset scalding liquids.

3. Outdoor fires cook quickly, and flames spread rapidly. Handle cooking utensils with pot holders. Smaller equipment used for stirring, serving, or handling cooked food should have long handles that won't burn.

4. Select utensils of proper size to prevent boiling over. They should be no more than three-quarters full while food is cooking.

5. During cooking, add wood in small amounts as needed. Do not pour water or food on the fire. Keep combustible articles and liquids away from the fire.

6. Remove food from the fire when serving. Avoid spilling liquids. Two persons should handle a heavy kettle, using a strong stick or pole between them and keeping a safe distance from both fire and kettle.

7. Fats for frying should not be heated over an open flame, only over the coals.

8. Keep loose clothing away from flames.

9. Be sure the fire is completely extinguished before you leave.

It required the efforts of three women Thursday afternoon to get a balky car back into running form. It happened that the first of the trio was called out in the general direction of Northeast Junior College on an errand. Thither she went in a car borrowed from a fellow young woman worker, as her own car was in the garage. All went well even if the borrowed car was of a vintage of about 15 years ago. But when it once stopped at its destination, it was physically all in. The ignition just would not ignite. After 10 minutes of fruitless efforts, the owner of the car was informed by telephone in downtown Monroe that the auto was seemingly hopelessly "dead."

Then the owner of the stalled car, well conversant with its varying moods, got a third young woman in the office to drive woman number two out to where there was distress in camp. Arriving at the scene the owner of the offending car spoke just a few sweet words, applied the needed technique and, presto, the car started to move! The three women drove home in the two cars and when they arrived the other members of the office staff made no end of fun at their expense.

Miss Butler was described as being five feet two inches tall, weighing about 108 pounds and having blonde hair, grey eyes and a mole in the center of her neck. Both girls looked considerably older than fourteen, the sheriff stated.

ACCOUNTANTS END TWO-DAY SESSION

Joint Meeting Of Shreveport, Monroe Chapters Close Out Conference

RUSTON, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—A joint meeting of the Shreveport and Monroe chapters of the Society of Louisiana Certified Public Accountants was the final event on a two-day program at the first annual conference of Louisiana accountants held Friday and Saturday at Louisiana Tech. About 300 accountants attended the meeting.

Nine prominent speakers, including T. Dwight Williams of Oklahoma City, former president of the American Institute of Accountants, and John L. Carey of New York City, executive director of the American Institute of Accountants, appeared on the program.

Speaking at a banquet held for the group, Williams stressed the necessity of maintaining the traditional independence of certified public accountants' reports. The future of the American system of free enterprise is closely linked with the independence and high ethical standards maintained by the nation's accountants, he said.

Emphasizing that reports of certified public accountants are completely independent, Williams warned that this free enterprise viewpoint must be safeguarded, if the nation is to be kept from turning to some form of collectivism.

"If the people don't continue their faith in the reports of accountants," Williams said, "they will trust someone else."

In his address, Carey urged members of the profession to take an active part in public affairs. He said every means must be taken to inform the public of the services certified public accountants stand ready to render.

The visiting accountants were guests of Delta Sigma Pi, Tech business and economics professional fraternity, at a barbecue luncheon Saturday at noon.

The Society of Louisiana Certified Public Accountants, headed by Robert Hawthorn of Baton Rouge, cooperated with the college in sponsoring the conference, which is to be held at Louisiana Tech each year hereafter.

New York Day By Day

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

Title Reg. U. S. Patent Office

NEW YOPK—Diary: In a discussion of high finance, it developed that few New Yorkers ever heard a ten-dollar bill called a sawbuck. I was asked why country people used such an expression, and what was the meaning of sawbuck. I had to draw a picture of a sawbuck, such as most of us country boys used with a bucksaw, to demonstrate that the X on the bill looks like one end of a sawbuck.

But none of us know why a dollar is called a buck, nor could anyone make a reasonably good guess.

On our trip to Tuxedo and Tuxedo Park we visited Mr. Jim Barry, a notably successful salesman who works in and out of New York and recently has bought two houses in Tuxedo Park. In one of these he and his family intend to make their permanent home. The other is being reconditioned for probable sale.

These houses are on the old Mortimer estate, the headhouse of which has been demolished because nobody could afford to pay taxes on it or keep it going, it was so big and old-fashioned.

Barry, who was reared in the town of Tuxedo, with the poor boy's curiosity about the great families who liked "in the park," first bought a house that had been designed and built as a gardener's cottage. He fixed it up, at great expense, and made a charming place of it. But there was one handicap that couldn't be defeated. The kitchen was in the basement, and Mrs. Barry was about to give birth to an heir to the Barry fortune. She couldn't be expected to run up and down to serve meals.

So Jim bought a garage, a minute's walk from the cottage, and rapidly transformed it into a roomy, interesting, well-designed home, practically all on one floor.

Trouble developed when remodeling of the garage started.

Termites. The house was a hollow shell, the insides having been eaten out by termites. Every piece of wood had to be removed. Killing the termites was simple. But the damage had been done.

A garage which cost Jim $3,000, big bargain, now stands him $23,000, and the job is unfinished. For $40,000 he can have a nice new home, attractively designed, bearing no resemblance to a garage, and full of individuality.

But for that much money you could have a fairly decent house almost anywhere, without all those worries.

By reason of personal connections in the sales business, Jim has been able to get the best of modern household equipment, such as refrigerators, dish washers, washing machines, and deep freezes. These dress up the kitchens beautifully, and it looks as though Jim and his neighbors will live the life of Riley, in spite of the dirt the termites did them.

None of the Barrys was at home when we arrived, but Arthur Hale did not hesitate. After sitting on the lawn until the mosquitos, twice and a half the size of the New Jersey birds, drove us out, we entered by the front door, which Jim had left hospitably ajar, fixed ourselves a lemonade, and relaxed.

Eventually Jim came home with Prince Obelensky, with whom he'd been playing golf, and, after good conversation, we rolled on home. Good day it was.

Top oil producer for the week was the Hunt Oil Company's DaDel Lumber Company, et al, No. 7 in 6-4-5E, of the Saline Lake Field in Catahoula parish. Reached at a total depth of 6,000 feet, the well yielded 194 barrels per day.

With a yield of 83 barrels per day, the Sohio Petroleum Company's Chicago Mill and Lumber Company's No. 1 in 35-14-9E of the Killens Ferry field in Franklin parish, was reached at a depth of 7,018 feet.

The Sohio Petroleum Company's Ayer Timber B-2 in 36-14-9E of the Killens Ferry field in Franklin parish, yielded 60 barrels per day at 6,907 feet.

In 31-11-10E of the Holly Ridge field in Tensas parish, the Southern Production Co.-Shelley Unit No. 1, produced 16.72 barrels per day at 3,033, but was shut in.

The only other producer, the Dan Lester Oil Company's M. B. Tucker No. 2 in 27-22-1W of Union parish's Ora field yielded 16 barrels per day at 2,174 feet.

Wells listed as abandoned included those in LaSalle, Union, and Franklin parishes. They were:

Tullos Urania field, LaSalle parish: The Alfred Black-Tullos Association-W. E. Wright No. 1 in 35-9-1E.

Ora field, Union parish: The Shell Oil Co.-Frost Lumber Industry A-6 in 23-22-1W; the Shell Oil Company's S. L. Smith No. 2 in 34-22-1W; and the Bagley & Cararas Company Auger No. 1 in 36-14-9E.

The Killens Ferry field, Franklin parish: The Sohio Petroleum Company's Chicago Mill and Lumber Company's No. A-3 in 34-14-9E.

Five new locations were staked off by producers in three parishes. They were:

Grant parish, Tullos Urania field: The Placid Oil Company's Tremont Lumber Company B-11 in 10-9-1E, and the R. W. Nortan, Jr., et al., Colfax Lumber Company, Inc., No. 1 in 36-8-rW.

LaSalle parish, Tullos Urania field: The Arkansas Fuel and Oil Company's Tremont Lumber Company's C-32 in 2-9-1E.

Union parish, Truxno field: The Lyons & Prentiss, et al., Midstates Oil Corp.-Frost Lumber Industry No. 4 in 19-23-1E, and in a wild cat field, the Jerry Cararas Company Auger No. 1 in 36-23-1W of Union parish.

Tests from the Auger No. 1 last week showed up good, oil men said. If the prospective producer is a prosperous adventure, it will open up an entirely new field.

OIL YIELD IN U. S. HITS ANOTHER HIGH

Third Record-Breaking Week Reported With Production Set At 5,597,735 Barrels

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The nation's crude oil production reached another new all-time high during the week ended October 23—the third straight record-breaking week—the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

The Journal listed the week's total daily average production at 5,597,735 barrels, an increase of 12,030 barrels over the previous week's record.

Oklahoma, the Journal reported, reached its production high for the year with a gain of 2,200 barrels to 434,450 barrels.

Other large gains were listed for these states:

California, up 11,500 barrels to 949,000 barrels; Kansas, up 4,400 barrels to 306,950; Indiana, 1,500 to 26,000.

Florida increased 150 barrels to 975, Alabama gained 50 to 1,450 Kentucky was up 100 to 24,000 and Colorado jumped 540 to 47,990.

Greatest declines were reported by the Journal for Illinois, down 2,600 barrels to 178,000; Michigan, off 2,450 to 45,500; Arkansas, 850 to 81,200, and Wyoming, 910 to 160,700.

The eastern area decreased 550 barrels to 67,250, Mississippi dropped 50 to 126,350, Louisiana was off 700 to 481,250 and Montana was down 300 to 26,010.

Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,507,000 barrels; New Mexico, 133,310, and Nebraska, 350.

LA.'S OIL PRODUCTION ALLOWABLE IS RECORD

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Louisiana's daily oil production allowable for November will be a record 543,523 barrels; Commissioner of Conservation S. L. Digby announced today.

The new figure marked a resumption of month-by-month increases that fell off in October, for the first time since May, 1946. The current allowable is 539,059 barrels.

The new allowables, by districts: Houma 79,757, Lafayette 140,938, Lake Charles 67,088, New Orleans 119,007, Monroe 86,144, Shreveport 50,589.

OIL COMPANY COMPLETES DISCOVERY SOUTH OF L. C.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Union Oil Company of California has completed an oil discovery in Calcasieu parish south of Lake Charles.

It is the D. C. Powell No. 1, section 5-11S-9W, west of the Moss Lake field.

The well flowed 180 barrels of 34.8 gravity oil per day from perforations at 8569-74 feet. Flowing pressure was 1250 pounds and the gas-oil ratio was 500 cubic feet of gas to the barrel.

In south Cameron parish, Sohio Petroleum Company opened a new gas-condensate pool. The discovery well is the S. W. Sweeney No. 1, five miles southeast of lower Mud Lake and eight miles south of the Little Chenier gas field.

The well was drilled to 13,067 feet and production string was perforated at 8250-75 feet. A potential flow of the gas and condensate was being made.

L. S. U. MAY SOON HAVE 8 CAMPUS PRODUCERS

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Louisiana State University has seven—and may soon have an eighth—producing oil wells on its campus here.

B. C. Craft, head of the L. S. U. petroleum engineering department, said the seven wells are producing 43,500 barrels of oil a month. All are drilled within 2176 acres of University property leased to William Helisoil Co.

Craft considers the territory one of the most closely observed drilling stations in Louisiana. He said the wells are used for field trips by students, who need only go a mile to observe six active drilling rigs.

ently is one of "wait and see," with the embassy, consulates and military and naval advisory groups continuing to function.

Possibly significant in this connection, Consul General Angus Ward and his wife and staff of 12 remained in Mukden. Twenty other Americans are reported also to be there. The consulate is said to have ample food under its own guards.

Nervous Tsingtao, big north China port which is a U. S. naval base, was heartened by the arrival of U. S. task force 38 at noon Saturday.

This force, comprising the carriers Tarawa and Princeton, light cruisers Astoria and Pasadena, and eight destroyers, sailed from Pearl Harbor Oct. 13 of what was officially described as a routine cruise. It was then scheduled to stay in Tsingtao two weeks.

Non-American foreigners there and in such tense northern cities as Peiping and Tientsin speculated on whether the U. S. navy would give them a lift out. The navy removed British subjects from Chefoo when that Shantung port was abandoned by the government two weeks ago.

Veterans foreign residents of China, however, did not anticipate disorders in major cities due to the military situation. They said Chinese simply do not act that way, and predicted that almost certain changes would come slowly, by Occidental standards.

Members of the legislative yuan, still hammering at the government over the economic crisis, said food and fuel shortages (rather than the military plight) might lead to rioting.

They said a promised government statement on economic plans "had better be good."

HALLOWEEN CELEBRANTS HAVE GAY TIME

Fifth, sixth and seventh graders, all robed in hilarious Halloween costumes, participated in numerous activities at a party Friday night at the Monroe Recreation Center. Contests held were apple-grabbing, and ducking, musical chairs, pie-eating, and baby bottle sucking. An amateur program, community sing, and two cartoon movies added to the night's activities. The above picture shows the youngsters in their costumes. Below, Wayne Evans, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Evans, is taking a bite at an apple in the apple-grabbing contest. Parties will be held for the youngsters every Friday, Jack Hesketh, stated.

PALESTINE

dicated hard fighting was going on, but said the operations were restricted to a Jewish counter-attack to drive out Syrians, Lebanese and Kaukji's liberation army from heights the Arabs had seized in the Menarah region north of Lake Hula.

This is in a finger of northeast Palestine territory reaching between Lebanon and Syria where the Jews claimed Arabs seized heights a week ago, cutting off Israel's line of communications to Dan, Dafne and a dozen other settlements. Israeli units, including armor, have been hemmed in by the Arab seizures.

The Jews said their counter-attacks also were designed to silence Arab guns that have been shelling Safad, Rosh Pinah, Metullah and other centers north of the Sea of Galilee.

Brig. Gen. William Riley, U. N. truce mission staff chief at Haifa, sent orders to Israel and Lebanon to cease-fire on the deadline of 4 p. m., Israeli time, today (7 a. m., E. S. T.). U. N. headquarters said the Lebanese government promptly agreed, on the condition the Jews would also carry out the order. U. N. headquarters said no reply had been received from the Israeli government.

The Israeli communique said the Jews were fighting Syrians and Kaukji's irregulars as well as Lebanese, however.

Iraqis were also reported to have launched an attack of their own on the central front and to have knifed into the coastal plain at a point 20 miles north of this Jewish capital. The Israel army denied this. Earlier, the Iraqis were said to have lobbed shells to within 13 miles of Tel Aviv.

U. N. spokesmen at Haifa said there was fighting "of serious proportions" along the Lebanese border yesterday, last night and today.

Jerusalem dispatches reported the noisiest night and morning there in weeks, with dozens of dynamite and shell explosions and an almost constant chatter of machinegun and rifle fire around Mount Zion and Mount Scopus.

Meanwhile, southern Palestine where Israeli and Egypt put into effect a cease-fire on Oct. 21 after a week of fighting, appeared to be quiet. Israel has refused to obey the order of Acting U. N. Mediator Ralph Bunche to withdraw from positions she occupied during that campaign.

(Unconfirmed reports from Amman, Trans-Jordan capital, said Beersheba was being evacuated by the Jews and that the Egyptians were preparing to return. Beersheba was taken by the Jews during the offensive.

(U. N. quarters in Paris said Israel's refusal to withdraw from captured positions in the Negev apparently complicated the situation in the north. Lebanon apparently felt she should not have to give up positions she has captured unless Israel does likewise, these quarters said).

DISPLACED PERSONS ARRIVE IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. —(AP)— The army transport General Black brought 813 of Europe's displaced persons to their new home today.

These latter-day pilgrims, first of 205,000 coming here in the next two years, crowded the ship's rail, shouted, whistled and waved their handkerchiefs and hats wildly as they passed the statute of liberty.

Harbor boat whistles shrieked their finest welcome. A fireboat spouted streams of water from its deck pipes. Smaller vessels sounded their foghorns. The General Black answered with a whistle blast.

Two hundred official welcomers, including Attorney General Tom Clark, representing President Truman, went in army and coast guard boats to meet the newcomers.

"Welcome to America," read the banner atop one boat.

At 4:40 p. m. (EST), the General Black slid into the dock at pier 61, on the Hudson river at 21st street. Here more officials, including Mayor William O'Dwyer, came aboard.

In a ceremony amidships, the DP's heard the attorney general say the president sent greetings to "the pilgrims of 1948."

interested powers, did indeed have in his hands an agreed draft decision on the question of the situation in Berlin. But the representatives of the U. S. A. and Great Britain once again declared that agreement to be null and void."

The reported text of the agreement was headlined in the Moscow press today as "project of resolution of security council—agreed upon between U. S. S. R. Representative Vishinsky and Bramuglia, representative of other interested powers, during unofficial conversations Oct. 24 and denounced by representatives of United States, Britain and France Oct. 25."

The pertinent section of the text would have committed the four powers:

"To carry out simultaneously, i. e., on the day of notification of this resolution to the four interested governments, measures necessary for the fulfillment of points (a) and (b) given below:

"(A) The immediate removal by all parties of all restrictions on communications, transport and trade between Berlin and the western zones of Germany and restrictions on the flow of transport and trade from the Soviet zone of Germany and inside it, it thereby being understood that the restrictions indicated are those which were introduced by the parties after March 1, 1948.

"(B) The immediate convening of a meeting of the four military commanders for the achievement of agreement in respect of unification of the currency in Berlin on the basis of the German mark of the Soviet zone. The four military commanders shall establish the conditions for introduction, circulation and further use of the German mark of the Soviet zone as the sole currency for the whole of Berlin, and shall come to an agreement on the withdrawal of the western "B" mark.

"All the above mentioned should be carried out in accordance with the conditions defined in the joint directive given to the four military commanders in Berlin which was agreed by the four governments in Moscow and published on Aug. 30, 1948, and shall be fulfilled under the supervision of a four-power financial commission of which the organization, powers and duties are outlined in the directive.

"(C) points (A) and (B) shall be fully carried out by November 20, 1948."

(Western delegates in Paris pointed out that "A" read alone seemed to provide for immediate lifting of the blockade. Point "C" however provided that it would not be completely lifted until Nov. 20. Russia could continue the major parts of the blockade throughout the currency questions and reimpose it fully if agreement were not reached in the negotiations.

(This would amount to negotiation under pressure, which the western powers have refused to do from the first.

(The western delegates reiterated that Vishinsky had advanced counter-proposals, along the line of the Moscow text, to amend the six neutrals' resolution finally presented in the security council. The western powers refused to accept his amendments, however, and Vishinsky vetoed the resolution last Monday.

(The resolution provided for the immediate lifting of the blockade and immediate negotiations on currency provisions to go into effect by Nov. 20).

ADMINISTRATION

ning for non-judicial office—described by opponents as a slap at Judge Robert Kennon, who opposed Governor Long in the gubernatorial race and the governor's nephew, Russell Long, in the senatorial contest.

Among the other amendments, not contested on factional lines, is a proposal for $50 to $250 bonuses for veterans.

The fight on the controversial amendments has been waged largely on Long and anti-Long arguments. Among the anti-administration leaders is Mayor de Lesseps S. Morrison, of New Orleans, where several of the governor's candidates for local office were defeated in recent primaries.

The governor's faction so far is ahead in the political contests in which it has engaged since his term began. Russell Long was nominated for the senate in the Democratic primaries, though by a small margin than his uncle enjoyed in the gubernatorial race. The administration program floated through two sessions of the legislature on an ample majority. Only in local elections, notably in New Orleans and Shreveport, have there been reverses.

The proposed amendments of statewide application, numbered as they will appear on the ballot, are:

1. Increase appropriation power of board of liquidation.
2. Authorize separate handling of school lunch and other funds.
3. Reorganize New Orleans dock board.
4. Require judges to resign before running for non-judicial office.
5. Reorganize Louisiana State University board.
6. Create new board for state colleges.
7. Revise authority of board of education in accordance with No. 6.
8. Reorganize wild life and fisheries department and forestry commission.
9. Reorganize liquefied petroleum commission.
11. Revise expropriation procedure for highway rights of way.
12. Veterans' bonus.
13. Extension of veterans' homestead exemption.
14. Transfer one-half cent of gasoline tax from schools to roads.
18. Authorize regional education compacts with other states.
19. Permit district judges to serve temporarily on supreme court.
20. Lake Pontchartrain causeway and Lakeshore-Hammond highway—$40,000,000 bond issue.
21. Toll bridge over Mississippi river at New Orleans—$30,000,000 bond issue.
22. Release sixteenth section land funds to school boards.
23. Reduce age for Confederate widows to qualify for pensions.
24. Allow parishes to create airport districts.
25. Pave way for employe retirement systems in cities.
26. Authorize codification of laws.
29. Exempt farm equipment and fishing boat fuel from tax.
31. Allow parishes to use mineral royalties for ferries.
33. Permit parishes to form hospital districts.
35. Provide for expansion of juvenile court system.
40. Increase bonding powers of school boards.
41. Dedicate forest products severance tax to reforestation.

Others, with official numbers, of local interest principally, are:

10. Local measure for Caddo.

15, 17, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36 and 37. Local measures for New Orleans.

16. Divide twenty-eighth state senatorial district in two.

27. Local measure for Shreveport.

New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Cotton futures were irregular in slow dealings today. Nearby positions were subjected to hedging pressure. This selling centered in the December and March contracts and was absorbed by trade dealers, on the scale down, who were covering export sales and sales of cotton to mills. Commission House support was evident in deferred contracts and this buying accompanied a slightly lower reduction in the mid-October cotton parity.

Futures closed 35 cents a bale lower to 20 cents higher than the previous close.

BODY OF HANGED MAN IS LOCATED

Elderly Person Apparently Murdered Found In Ozark Mountains

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 30.—(AP)—The body of an elderly man, who apparently had been hanged several months ago, was found on a mountainside two miles east of here today.

A coroner's jury tonight declared the man, believed to be Walter P. Rivers, of Oklahoma, "came to his death at the hands of a person, or persons, unknown."

Papers found on the body contained the name of Walter P. Rivers, former employe of the Spartan Aircraft Co., Tulsa, Okla., and listed a "1428 South California Drive" address in Oklahoma City. But Sheriff Bruce Crider said neither Tulsa nor Oklahoma City police had been able to find such an address.

The body was discovered by two 12-year-old boys, Buddy Connell and Bill Ritchell. Sheriff Crider said it was under a small tree from which a length of rope still dangled, and the hands had been tied with a piece of the same rope.

Coroner Edmon Watson said he had been dressed in a well made suit, and wore good shoes and a straw hat. Watson said his expensive wallet contained no money, but did hold numerous papers.

The card giving the Oklahoma City address also contained a name Watson said appeared to be "Mrs. Marie Hedy." Other papers showed deposits in the Farmers Bank at either Heber Springs or Hot Springs, and a payment to "Dr. Matthews" at Hebe Springs. The wallet also contained the picture of a young girl.

Dr. Jim Stoker, who accompani the coroner's jury to the scene, estimated the victim to have been between 60 and 70 years old.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Slim buying was enough to lift the stock market fractions to a point or so today.

Demand was fairly well distributed, with steels and motors doing as well as any.

Slow business was normal for a Saturday. Turnover for the two-hour session ran at the rate of about 300,000 shares.

A spattering of railway liens advanced in the bond market.

EVERYBODY'S SHOUTING
"BARGAINS!!"

It is almost impossible to recognize a "bargain" in a Used Car. Every car advertised is not a bargain nor is every "cut-price special" a good buy. A real bargain is a car worth the price paid for it. If a Used Car runs well the week you buy it and demands repairs the next—whatever price you paid for it was too high! Only an expert mechanic can predict perfect performance for a motor. Only an honest dealer will back up such a claim.

L. PROVIDENCE CLUBS BANQUET

Achievement Day Conducted For Home Demonstration Groups

LAKE PROVIDENCE, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The nine Home Demonstration Clubs of East Carroll parish with 245 members met at the municipal auditorium on October 29 for the celebrating of their tenth anniversary and Annual Achievement Day dinner.

Mrs. Keener Howard, council president, in welcoming the members and guests congratulated the clubs on the progress shown for 1948, and the manner in which they had striven to follow the program as set by the council.

Mrs. H. L. Lively, secretary and treasurer of the club, giving a resume of things accomplished listed 57,675 quarts of fruits, and 68,610 quarts of vegetables and 7,565 quarts of meat canned and 83,525 pounds of meat cured by the club women of East Carroll parish during the year. Additional effort of the club women was in raising 15.280 chickens and 150 turkeys. In the home orchard 285 new fruit trees, 700 cuttings of pear and pig trees and 85 papershell pecans were planted.

Each club, stated Mrs. Lively, raised their quota of $33.35 on the scholarship fund, and Billy Brown, Charlotte Martin and Edith Burgess, were awarded $75 each from the fund as the outstanding 4-H Club boys and girls of the year.

Rev. A. A. Collins, pastor of the Lake Providence Methodist Church, and chairman for East Carroll parish of the CROP organization, stated that the canvas of food and clothing for overseas would be through the churches and would be November 11, 12 and 13.

Rev. Father Joseph Germillion, rector of St. Patrick's Church of Lake Providence, is state chairman of CROP and informed on his recent trip to Europe where he spent ten weeks in Germany and Austria in the interest of the immigration of thirteen million DP's. Housing, or the lack of it, and food with cigarettes as the medium of exchange were the principal subjects of interest. "America is a foreigners paradise," and "there is something we can do about this critical condition in Europe, so you give and the churches will distribute it over there," was the father's advise to all.

All enjoyed a bounteous dinner with the anniversary birthday cake as the decor of the refreshment table.

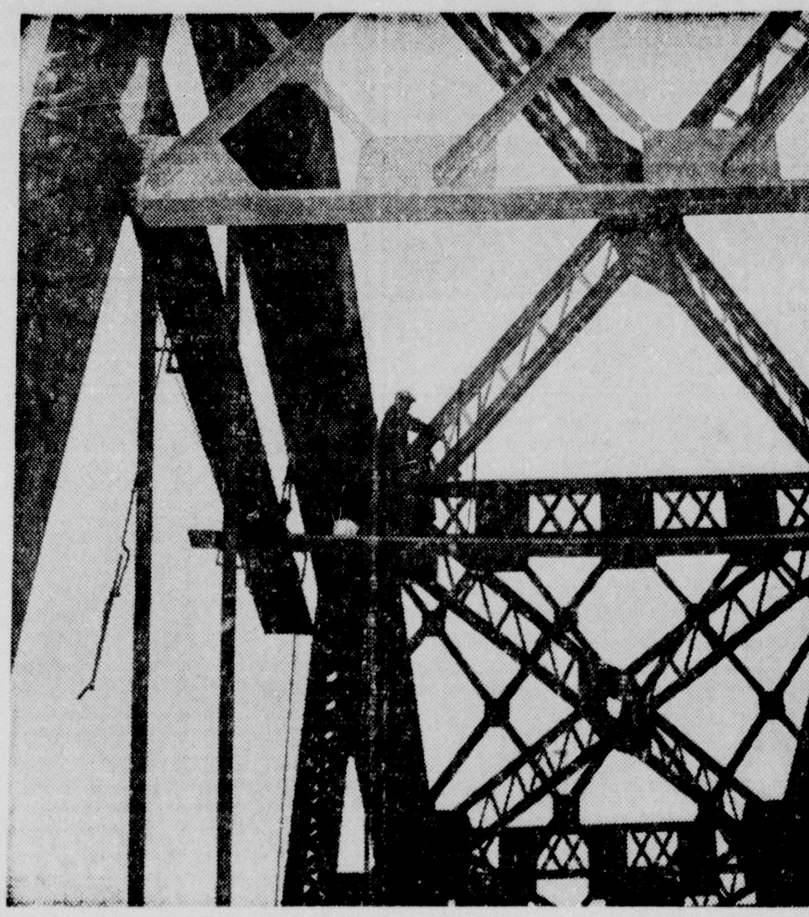
PAINTERS ABOVE THE OUACHITA



The Illinois Central railroad bridge (above), spanning the Ouachita river at Monroe, is receiving a new coat of paint which is being applied by workmen of the Illinois Central Railroad Company. According to Dr. W. R. Hammond, head of the Northeast Junior College Social Science department and author of a treatise on the economic history of transportation on the Ouachita river, the present bridge is a successor to two other bridges which formerly occupied the same approximate location. The construction of the first railroad bridge across the Ouachita river at Monroe in 1881, marked the beginning of death to river transportation on the Ouachita river. When shipments could be made by rail much cheaper and faster than by river boats, merchants and traders gave their business to the railroads, thus choking the river boats virtually out of existence.

PROFESSIONAL NURSES TO OBSERVE DIAMOND JUBILEE

Many persons are prone to take nurses for granted. They assume that nurses, like the poor, we have always with us—but the fact is that professional nursing in the United States is only 75 years old this year. Not that there weren't any nurses prior to 1873. It's safe to say that nursing, of a kind, must be as old as the human race, for it developed side by side with the mother-care of the young. Originally "to nurse" meant "to nourish," which still remains one of the meanings of the word.

In India, centuries before Christ, young men belonging to the priestly orders of Buddhism dedicated themselves to nursing the sick. They were probably the first trained nurses. The nursing principles laid down in Indian writings of their day are more complete than those to be found in any other ancient records, and many of them would fit into modern textbooks. One of the earliest references to nurses, as distinct from physicians, is contained in an old manuscript on medicine listing the desirable qualities of "the physician, the drugs, the nurse and the patient."

From India, Buddhism, and with it the art of healing spread to China, and thence to Korea and Japan. The Jewish religion always emphasized the duty of visiting and relieving the sick, and at the hands of Moses, it elaborated remarkable codes of hygiene. That the hospitals of ancient Greece employed women as well as men nurses or attendants seems probable. Nursing therefore antedates even the Christian Church.

But when we say that American nursing is 75 years old, we mean professional nursing, of the profession of nursing. The year, 1873, saw the establishment of the first three nurses' training schools based on the Florence Nightingale system: One at Bellevue Hospital in New York City, another, the Connecticut Training School for Nurses, at New Haven, and the third at the Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

Up to the time of Florence Nightingale, "probationers," as student nurses were called, received no formal schooling whatsoever—they were immediately set to work in the hospital wards, to learn nursing by trial and error. Technically, probationers were under the supervision of head nurses, but the latter were so overloaded with work that they could spend little time on instructing the tyros. As a result, the students got most of their nursing education at the expense of the patients.

Florence Nightingale changed all that. In America, the first professional nurse was Linda Richards, who got her diploma from the training school of the New England Hospital for Women and Children at Roxbury, Mass., in the same year that the three Nightingale schools of nursing were opened, 1873. Thus 1948 not only marks the diamond jubilee of nursing in the United States, but signalizes the 75th anniversary of Linda Richards' graduation from nursing school. It is fitting that these two closely related events should be celebrated together by the nursing profession and the public, and that the memory of Linda Richards should come to symbolize the diamond jubilee.

Perhaps we'd better review the high points of Miss Richards' career before taking up the diamond jubilee in detail. Melinda Ann Judson Richards, then, to give her full name, was born July 27, 1841, at Potsdam, N. Y. When Linda was four, her family moved to Watertown, Wis., where the father died. She was taking care of sick neighbors by the time she was 15, becoming known throughout the neighborhood as a "born nurse."

Linda Richards was 29 when she took the position of assistant nurse in a ward of the Boston City Hospital. Two years later, in 1872, she enrolled as the very first student of the nursing school opened that year by the New England Hospital, graduating the following May. In October of that historic year, 1873, Linda Richards was made night superintendent of nurses at Bellevue Hospital, which had just founded the first American school for nurses based on the Nightingale system of training.

The jubilee has a very serious purpose, according to Pearl McIver, president of the American Nurses' Association. By means of the nationwide celebrations the A. N. A. says, Miss McIver, will attempt "to focus public attention on the current nursing crisis resulting from the insecure economic status of nurses, inept licensure laws and ineffective counseling and placement."

'JAKE BIRD HEX' IS WORKING AS STATED

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 30.—(AP)—Jake Bird, Negro transient, remarked last fall after being sentenced to hang for an axe-slaying:

"The guys who had anything to do with this case are going before I do."

That remark has come to be known as the "Jake Bird Hex."

Since it was made, four persons connected with the case have died, including the judge who tried it, the chief deputy clerk who filed the official papers and an undersheriff who helped obtain Bird's confession to more than a half dozen midwest slayings.

The latest death was that of Tacoma Police Lieut. Sherman Lyons, who also obtained a number of confessions.

His death came Thursday, two days before the first anniversary of the axe-murder of Mrs. Bertha Kludt of Tacoma and her daughter, Beverly June.

Bird, meanwhile, is very much alive. His appeal is still before the supreme court.

ONE KILLED, EIGHT HURT AS FIRE RAZES BUILDING

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—(AP)—At least one person was killed and eight others reported injured today in a fire that razed a four-story brick apartment building on the south side.

Firemen found a charred body, burned beyond recognition, on the third floor of the structure. They continued to search the ruins for any other possible victims.

About 25 persons were rescued by firemen from the flaming building. Several others fled from the building down fire escapes before flames blocked the exits. The building was divided into 42 apartments occupied by about 100 persons.

Chief Fire Marshal Anthony Mullaney said the center stairwell collapsed and that the rear of the building tilted toward the center.

Seven of the injured were removed to the Illinois Central Hospital and one to the Woodlawn Hospital. The injured included a boy and a girl, both suffering from fractured skulls who had been found in an areaway of the building.

The cause of the fire was not immediately determined. Mullaney estimated damage at $25,000.

United States production of canned soup reached 890 million pounds in 1945.

SANATORIUM IS GIVEN PRAISE

Rev. Mitchell States Many Lives Are Saved From T. B. Scourge

Rev. A. T. Mitchell, local minister, after many visits paid to the G. B. Cooley Sanatorium, has been deeply impressed with the substantial progress made there and has written the following letter in this connection:

"The G. B. Cooley Sanatorium is a Ouachita parish owned and operated intsitution for T. B. For many years I have visited the patients in this fine hospital from once to several times a week.

"This small hospital for the much dreaded and feared disease of T. B. has most likely saved more lives, helped more people back to health and given more numbers of sick with this disease a new lease on life for the cost of operation than any other free hospital in the state and maybe nation.

"One of the finest and best things G. B. Cooley and the Ouachita parish police jury ever did or ever will do was to establish this small but great humanitarian institution of mercy.

"Last week I walked into one of the large downtown stores of Monroe and a pretty lady smiled and spoke to me. She looked healthy and strong. Who was this lady . . . she was a former patient of the G. B. Cooley Sanatorium, now well and back home with her husband and two fine little boys.

"The other day a heavy 200-pound man walked into my church office. He looked well, strong and happy. Who was this man . . . a former patient of the G. B. Cooley Sanatorium, now well and back home with his wife and little girl.

"I could go on and on and tell of the people restored back to health and life through the treatment and care of the small G. B. Cooley Sanatorium, operated at a small cost to Ouachita parish. I would like to see it remain a Ouachita parish hospital. It is free from politics and the spirit of charity that usually goes along with a state-owned institution. The G. B. Cooley Sanatorium is more like family doctor and private home treatment than any hospital I have ever visited, of any kind anywhere (and I have been around in my life). As a public citizen of Ouachita parish and a pastor much interested in seeing people saved from having T. B. and treated if they do have it before it is too late, I would like to see Cooley Sanatorium continue to be operated as it is and in the same spirit.

"My friends, don't get the idea T. B. can be cured by 'hokey spokey' ways. It is still an awful, fatal disease and will be with us as long as we use dishes, cups and glasses not properly sterilized and other mouth contacts. I see patients linger and slowly die with it. Some time ago I saw a beautiful little blonde girl pass by her young mother's casket and say, 'Mother I will meet you in heaven.'

"I see patients with their lungs collapsed and with several ribs removed. I have seen them sick, gasping for breath, and have seen them hemorrhage until they die.

"Let's keep this hospital and do more for it. If you have never done so visit this hospital. It is safe if you will do as you are instructed."

A drop of one's blood put under a rose tree will insure rosy cheeks, according to a belief prevalent in some parts of Europe.

There are approximately 32,000 rural mail carriers, serving 8,000,000 families daily, in the United States.

When 40,487 fans jammed the University of Washington stadium for the Minnesota game this season, all attendance marks for the arena were smashed.

Call your shots on anti-freeze

by Don herold

You should be VERY SPECIFIC when you buy anti-freeze.

Study the situachun. Study the field. Pick a good dealer. Study the companies. Pick a good company.

EITHER CSC ANTI-FREEZE IS FRIENDLY TO US POCKETBOOKS

All right, CSC makes two fine anti-freezes; which one do you want?

TWO CSC ANTI-FREEZES

One is frankly economical—$1.25 a gallon—called NOR'WAY*—with a methanol base. It's more than economical: it is the most efficient anti-freeze you can buy. It takes less than of any other type to protect your radiator against freezing and it contains an ingredient that helps to reduce evaporation losses.

Another nice thing, it doesn't make your car smell as if it had a snoot full. And another, it embodies an efficient anti-rust.

The other CSC anti-freeze is PEAK*—a fine, permanent type—more costly at the start ($3.50 a gallon)—but you can put it in your radiator and feel safe all winter. It's guaranteed to last all season in a properly prepared cooling system—won't seep—won't hurt rubber or clog your radiator.

BUT, FIRST—

But before you have anti-freeze put in, let your service man tighten all hose connections, check the thermostat, and purge the cooling system with NOR'WAY CLEANER or NOR'WAY QUICK FLUSH to rid it of its summer collection of rust, scale and grease. And then get him to use NOR'WAY STOP LEAK to seal any leaks so you won't lose your anti-freeze.

Harold Touchstone Weds In Baton Rouge

Monroe Man Weds Miss Georgie Burden In Impressive Recent Ceremony Out-Of-Town

A wedding of paramount interest in Monroe was that of Miss Georgie Burden, of Baton Rouge, and Mr. Harold Dixon Touchstone, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Touchstone, of this city, which took place in Baton Rouge on Saturday, October 24.

The ceremony was performed by Dr. John Melton in the First Presbyterian Church in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Barbee Burden.

Given in marriage by her father, she wore a traditional satin wedding gown fashioned along princess lines. A yoke of illusion was edged with a deep bertha of appliqued lace medallions, and the graceful skirt ended in a long train.

Her veil of illusion fell from a tiara of seed pearls. She also wore a necklace of seed pearls with a diamond pendant belonging to her mother and a platinum and diamond pin, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bridal bouquet was of white roses interspersed with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Harry V. Barton, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor who preceded her to the altar. Miss Peggy Hilsmeyer was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. M. S. Dixon, Jr., Mrs. John L. Creed, and Miss Jean Langhart of Memphis, Tenn., who was a schoolmate of the bride.

The young women wore dresses of American Beauty faille taffeta with long fitted bodices edged with soft folds above full skirts. The gowns featured off-the-shoulder necklines. Their bonnets were of a matching shade, with ostrich tips trimming them, and they wore white short gloves and single strands of pearls.

The honor attendants and bridesmaids carried round colonial bouquets of pale yellow rosebuds tied with satin streamers.

Miss Dana Barton, niece of the bride, and Miss Helen Touchstone, niece of the groom, served as flower girls. They wore for the occasion dusty rose faille gowns fashioned like those of the other attendants, and they also wore similar bonnets. They carried tiny muffs of dusty rose faille with nosegays of sweetheart roses attached and satin streamers.

Mr. H. K. Touchstone served his son as best man. Groomsmen included Mr. H. K. Touchstone, Jr., Mr. M. S. Dixon, Jr., Mr. Nelson Abell, Mr. Joe Hart Dixon, Mr. John Irwin Neel of Monroe, and Mr. Dan Burden, Jr.

Soft background music was played at the organ by Mr. John Waymouth. Vocal soloist was a classmate of the bride, Mrs. Pierre Barrios.

Mrs. John Burden and Miss Ione Burden stood at the door of the Woman's Clubhouse to welcome the large number of guests who called there after the wedding for the reception honoring the bridal couple.

Receiving friends with the bridal party, the bridegroom's mother wore for the occasion a dustry rose crepe dress trimmed with silver beading at the neckline. The bride's mother was attired in a pearl grey crepe trimmed in lace and silver sequins.

Assisting in serving during the reception were Mrs. A. R. Johnson, Mrs. H. H. Huckabay, Mrs. J. A. Miller, Mrs. Stephen Henry, Mrs. Robert Connell, and Mrs. Frank B. Jones. Tea girls included Miss Iris Connell, Miss Mayme Jones, Miss Theo Kramer, Miss Marjorie Mae Jumonville, Mrs. Walter Lamb, Mrs. H. K. Touchstone, Jr., Mrs. Nelson Abell, Mrs. T. P. Singletary, Mrs. Lee Jarrell, Mrs. W. T. Allen, Mrs. Robert MacGowan, and Mrs. M. E. Byrd, Jr.

The bride's table at the reception was laid with a mosaic cutwork cloth, highlighted with a double wedding-ring cake. Silver candelabra held white tapers.

Later the bridal couple left for their wedding trip, the bride wearing for traveling a suit of grey-beige gabardine with detail at the waist and hipline. Her blouse was of toast brown crepe, and her matching felt hat had a velvet brim and trimming of talisman roses. She wore a corsage of lilies-of-the-valley.

The bride and bridegroom are both graduates of L. S. U. She was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, Delta Gamma intersorority, and of the Panhellenic council. The bridegroom attended Georgia Tech before entering L. S. U., where he was a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity, Samurai interfraternity, and Scabbard and Blade.

Out-o-town guests here for the wedding of Miss Georgia Burden and Mr. Harold Dixon Touchstone included, from Monroe: Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Touchstone and Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Touchstone, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Abell, Mrs. Nelson Abell, Sr., Mr. John Neel, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Dixon, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. R. E. McDade, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Johnston and Miss Jo Libby Johnston.

Phillip Kinsman To Appear Monday

A young man who sings like a potential Chaliapin and looks like the movie version of a football captain is extraordinary enough without saying of himself that maybe he should have been a business man. Nevertheless, Philip Kinsman, the bass-baritone star of the Metropolitan Opera, radio and the concert stage who will come to this city on Monday at Northeast Junior College, at 8:15 p. m., has proven that he has a head for business. As general manager of one of Chicago's finest interior decoration shops, he paid for his musical education and comfortably supported his wife and little daughter. He calls interior decoration "inferior desecration," and cheerfully admits he never took much interest in color schemes and slip covers. His eye for those fripperies was luckily an eye for business, since it gained him his four years at Chicago's American Conservatory of Music and his nine years of study under Dr. F. Lulek, one of the greatest lieder singers of his day. Thus it has also gained Kinsman that desideratum of every singer, a contract with the Metropolitan, and the American public a rising opera star—"a royal figure with a voice that promises royal dividends," according to Albert Golding of the Chicago Tribune.

Kinsman's life story suggests that of an Alger hero, and Alger heroes invariably got rich, but never became opera singers. Phil Kinsman was a Michigan boy who hitch-hiked to Chicago when he was fifteen years old. Arriving there with twenty-five cents in his pocket and not a single acquaintance in the whole city, he rode the El all night and next day found a job as salesman in a shoe store. This lucky break occurred because he was already six feet tall and because his good looks, which have since enabled him to turn down two movie offers, were there to ease his way.

MISS FRANCES FLANDERS REPORTS ON BOOKS IN PARISH LIBRARY

The new service given by the Ouachita Parish Public Library in staying open until eight o'clock at night on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights is gaining many new patrons for the library. Both the Monroe and West Monroe branches inaugurated the new schedule on October first. It is surprising to find how many people are interested in using the library, but were prevented from doing so because their working hours coincided with the hours when the library was open. If you have not taken advantage of the new hours, be sure to do so, Miss Frances Flanders, librarian, urges.

The policy of the library is to buy copies of all the new books that are worthwhile and for which there is a demand. If you read a review of a book and feel that you would like to have it, call the library and ask about it.

Historical novels continue to be popular. A new one by John Jennings is "River to the West." This is the story of the settlement of Astoria and the opening up of the Pacific Northwest to trade. John Jennings already has an established following and his new book is in demand. Another historical novel is Harnett Kane's "Bride of Fortune," based on the life of Varina Howells Davis. Mr. Kane is one of Louisiana's own sons. His success as a writer has been phenomenal and this book will be widely read and discussed. Naomi Mitchison is the author of another historical novel called "Blood of the Martyrs." This is a story of the early Christian era and is reminiscent of "Quo Vadis."

Another Louisianian who has produced a book this season is James Aswell. Mr. Aswell's father was a prominent political figure in Louisiana a generation ago and his name is remembered by many. The book called "Midsummer Fires" is the story of an artist. It is not an important book, but it will be of interest to the people of our state. Almost every month a novel with a New Orleans setting appears. The latest one is called "Rampart Street" and was written by Everett and Olga Weber.

When we consider the more serious novels of this month, there are three outstanding ones. "The Young Lions" by Irwin Shaw has had excellent reviews. "Bright Leaf" by Fitz-Simmons is a fascinating story based on the development of the cigarette industry in North Carolina. It is a long novel, but a vital one. Mr. Fitz-Simmons lives in North Carolina and there is no doubt that he knows his tobacco. If you are looking for a compelling book, be sure to read this one. Lin Yutang is one of the most polished of our modern writers. He produces both fiction and non-fiction. His latest work is a novel, called "Chinatown Family." It will appeal to the discriminating reader.

There has been a great vogue for books about preachers. The latest one of this type is "Pioneer Preacher" by Mrs. Opal Berryman Paap. This book is part fiction and part truth. It is entertaining and appealing.

Mr. Somerset Maugham, who is one of the masters of story telling in English has produced a new novel, called "Catalina". This is a story laid in the Sixteenth Century Spain. It is a novel of the manners and exploits of the time. It is laid in the Golden Age of Spain, when Moors and Jews and Protestants were being burned at the stake in honor of God. In that age anything could happen and did. Mr. Maugham has caught all of this in "Catalina". No one should miss this book.

Hilda Wernher, who established herself as an expert on the Indian scene, with "My Indian Family" has written a new book of the same locale, called "The Story of Induraja". It is well-written and will be popular.

Louis Bromfield, whose works are always in demand, has a new novel, "The Wild Country". Be sure to read this.

Readers of mystery stories will be interested in "Murder Is Served" by the Lockridge's; "The Skeleton in the Clock" by Carter Dickson; "In Cold Blood" by George Babby; and "Dead Man's Gold" by William C. McDonald.

Readers of non-fiction have not been neglected. Some of the more interesting new titles are "The Record Book" by David Hall; "Your Income Tax, 1948" by J. K. Lasser; "Magic in a Bottle" by Milton Silverman; "Early Tales of the Atomic Age" by Daniel Lang; "Anything But Love" by Elizabeth Hawes; "The Roosevelt Myth," by John Flynn; "The Plague and I," by Betty MacDonald and "The Field and Stream Game Bag" by Robeson Bailey.

Adults Enjoy Tot's Theater

The same urge that makes father devote most of Christmas day to playing with the electric train he bought for Junior, or that makes mother spend more time dressing little Betty's doll than Betty does herself, is also responsible for the fact that there is always a larger adult audience at a Children's Theatre play than just the number necessary to chaperone the youngsters, according to Miss Elizabeth Langford, publicity chairman for the Parker Memorial class of the First Methodist Church, whose organization will sponsor the performance of "Hansel and Gretel" to be given at the Neville High School auditorium on November 23 by the famous Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre of New York.

Average adults remain children at heart, and in these plays see in vivid, realistic form the stories they loved as children. They relive childhood pleasures and experiences through these presentations and plots of childhood fiction.

This is borne out by the fact that most of the stories included in the Clare Tree Major Children's Theatre repertoire have been produced successfully in the adult theatre. Of the six plays chosen to tour the nation this year, four have enjoyed numerous popular runs as adult entertainment. "The Poor Little Rich Girl" is well remembered as a smash hit on Broadway as well as a successful motion picture. A children's story seen frequently at the Metropolitan Opera House is "Hansel and Gretel" as immortalized in the score by Weimer Humperdinck; while "Little Women" has already been seen in two motion picture versions and Hollywood has announced a third filming is in preparation. "Pinocchio" drew large adult audiences as a Disney production.

"Little Women" is repeatedly being revived as a stage play and last season played for two weeks to packed houses at New York's vast City Center.

Clare Tree Major, founder-director of the Children's Theatre of New York, which is celebrating its twenty-fifth anniversary this year, reports that each year several hundred thousand adults see her traveling productions, in addition a general audience of approximately two million children.

Mrs. R. E. Bedwell, chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the forthcoming production anticipates a capacity audience of youngsters and grown-ups when the curtain goes up at three o'clock.

Altrusa Club Members Attend District Meet

The following delegates and alternates from Monroe attended the Seventh District Conference, October 22-23, in Beaumont, Tex.: Adrienne Carr, president; Emma Lee Short, Erlene Adams, Agatha Burkett and Helen Luckett.

The conference opened Friday night with a buffet supper, followed by an informal meeting when Corinne Loomis, of Boston, international president of Altrusa International Associations spoke. Interesting pictures were shown of Banff, Canada, where the international convention will be held in June, 1949.

Adrienne Carr, president of the Monroe club had the honor to be selected to serve on the resolution committee.

Emma Lee Short, immediate past president of the Monroe club gave a report on the local meeting held last spring when the club had as its guest In-Ai-Yang, the Korean nurse that the seventh district is sponsoring at Vanderbilt University for a year of Post-Graduate work in nursing and hospital management, and Willie Walker, governor of the district.

At the "President Luncheon" the presidents of all clubs were honored. They were placed at a separate table with the district and international officers. Each officer was called upon for a report, and Mrs. Carr gave a report, for the Monroe Altrusa Club, the first service club for women, has done much in their field in this city. Vocational books have been placed at the Junior College Library.

The conference closed with a formal dinner Saturday night. The guest speaker of the evening was the international president, Corinne Loomis and Olive Enslen-Tinder assisted. Monroe received further recognition from the international president for their outstanding work. The new district officers were installed and the district committees were appointed by the new governor. Emma Lee Short, of the local club, was named chairman of the international relations committee for the seventh district.

Music Lovers Hear Rudolph Ganz Concert

The recent appearance of Rudolph Ganz, world-renowned pianist, in Monroe is an event that will long be remembered. This marked Mr. Ganz' fourth professional visit to Monroe, a distinction attained by few, if any artists of like caliber, since repeat performances are the exception rather than the rule in this vicinity.

A heavy program which included Bach, Beethoven, Schubert, Chopin and, Brahms, along with a group of late French compositions, was gratefully received by an audience that had come with serious intent. A number of important athletic events occurring at the hour of the recital created a real conflict. Therefore the audience was not as large as Mr. Ganz merited, yet was composed entirely of ones whose love of music is paramount, according to Mrs. B. D. Albritten.

This distinguished master of the keyboard immediately won the hearts of all present when he approached the piano and spoke in his own inimitable manner before beginning the program. Verbal annotations offered before each group were granted in accordance with the request of the sponsoring organizations and added appreciably to the understanding and enjoyment on the part of the audience.

Many local musicians later remarked that none other than Rudolph Ganz could have achieved such remarkably beautiful tone from the instrument placed at his disposal. For each person present, there seemed to be a favorite composition, but the majority of votes were cast for the French group—perhaps because of the expert performance of Mr. Ganz, which surprised his listeners into becoming thoroughly delighted with music they ordinarily listen to with mere courtesy. So ran the opinion of some.

It is difficult to realize that through only two hands there can come such a multitude of widely-separated moods and innumerable revelations in tone. With remarkably ingenious use of the pedal in the Ravel and Debussy, Mr. Ganz amazed many listeners. They looked in every direction to make sure that an orchestra had not stolen into assist him. At the close of the program, insistent applause was rewarded with several encores.

The Master Class on the following morning attested to the further popularity of this outstanding genius who is genuinely loved and admired by even the most humble person who is privileged to experience the magnetic vibrancy of his extraordinary personality. Students and teachers of music, professional musicians, music lovers and dilettante were alike thrilled with this outstanding musical event which contributed immeasurably to the cultural life of Monroe and the territory for hundreds of miles in all directions from which people came to see and to hear the far-famed Rudolph Ganz. Two luncheons and two dinner parties with Mr. Ganz as guest of honor further attest to the regard in which he is held. His name will always occupy its own special niche in Monroe.

MISS DOROTHY YOUNSE WEDS MR. CHARLES BRYSON BAIRD

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Younse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Goldman Younse of this city and Mr. Charles Bryson Baird, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Baird, of Dora, Alabama, took place at the First Methodist Church on Saturday, October 23, at 6:30 p. m. The ceremony was performed by Dr. A. M. Serex.

The chancel rail of the church was entwined in ivy and white pom pom chrysanthemums. Large baskets of chrysanthemums adorned the chancel, and illuminated by tall white tapers in multiple candelabra, formed a background for the ceremony.

Ellis Bairnsfather, accompanied by Mrs. John Sholars, at the organ, sang softly a group of appropriate nuptial songs.

The bride wore a white slipper satin wedding gown with a lace yoke. Tiny buttons ornamented the front of the dress, and the long sleeves ended in points over the hands. Her veil of illusion and lace fell from a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayer book surmounted by white orchids from which white satin streamers fell.

Miss Hazel Mitchell was maid-of-honor. She wore a blue brocaded faille frock, and carried a bouquet of rainbow painted daisies with multicolored satin streamers. She wore a half wreath of the same flowers in her hair.

The bridesmaids' frocks were of similar fashion and their flowers were identical. Miss Dorothy Nixon, of Mobile, Alabama, wore pink, Miss Betty Miller, wore a pale shade of green, Mrs. Joe Tippit, of Baton Rouge was in aqua, and Miss Patsy Harbuck wore maize.

William Earl Nolan, of Oak Ridge, and Vernon Sanders were candlelighters. Roseanne Harpe was flower girl, and Ronnie Younse, ringbearer.

A reception at the Younse home followed the ceremony. Mrs. Younse wore a black crepe frock with rhinestone trim and a matching satin hat, and Mrs. Baird, mother of the bridegroom chose a black frock with rose and aqua beading on the bodice. A cut work cloth covered the dining table which was surmounted by a wedding cake on a crystal reflector which was bordered by white mums and ferns.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. William Nolan, Mrs. John Baird, Mrs. Wilson Harpe, Miss Betty Joe Roach, Miss Barbara Rusheon, Miss Miriam Hearn, and Mrs. Scotty Daniel.

For traveling the bride wore a wine colored suit with black accessories and an orchid corsage. After a trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, they will be at home in Birmingham, Alabama.

The bride is a graduate of Neville High School. She attended Northeast Junior College and Alabama Polytechnic Institute. She is a member of the Romance Honor Society and Wesley Foundation. Mr. Baird attended Alabama Polytechnic Institute at Auburn, Alabama, where he was a member of Delta Sigma Phi fraternity.

FARMERVILLE BRIDE

Mrs. George Henry Markle, the former Miss Ruby Nell Forman of Farmerville. The wedding took place recently in the First Baptist Church of Farmerville.

Farmerville

A wedding characterized by charming simplicity and one in which the interest of friends in this section of the state is centered, was that of Miss Eloise Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius W. Brown of Delhi, and Mr. John Miller Muckleroy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Omah Muckleroy of Farmerville, on Sunday afternoon, October 17th, in the home of the bride's parents. The Reverend D. B. Boddie, pastor of the Methodist Church of Delhi, read the double ring ceremony.

The couple exchanged nuptial vows before an improvised altar of graceful Boston ferns and palms in front of the fireplace. White gladioli and white carnations interspersed with lacy fern, and slender white tapers of graduated length in white candelabra, adorned the mantle, and were reflected in the handsome mirror above, and gave an impressive note to the occasion. The same floral arrangement was used on the piano.

While Mr. John Green, of Farmerville, played pre-nuptial music, the candles were lighted by Miss Bettye Lee Brown, sister of the bride, and Miss Ann Miller of Farmerville, cousin of the bridegroom, who wore identical gowns of blue and pink brocade taffeta, fashioned with tight bodice and drop-shoulder effect, with full gathered floor length skirts. They wore pink carnations in their hair. Mr. Green also accompanied Miss Marjorie Zeigler, soloist, of Shreveport, who sang "Because" by Gui D-Hardelot and "I Love You Truly" by Carrie K. Bond. Miss Ziegler wore a peach brocade taffeta, fashioned identically as those of the candle-lighters, with a corsage of white carnations pinned at the waist-line.

At the first strains of Lohengrin's "Wedding March," the wedding party entered. The maid of honor, Miss Ammie Smith of Delhi, wore a becoming gown of orchid brocade taffeta with elbow length gloves and pink carnations in her hair and at the waistline.

Miss Brown, escorted by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin, fashioned with fitted bodice, high round yoke of Chantilly lace, and long sleeves extending in petal-points over her hands. The skirt with fullness in the back, extended into a graceful train. Her finger-tip length veil of illusion, fell in full circular tiers and was held in place by orange blossoms. Her only ornament was an exquisite strand of pearls, gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible topped with orchids intertwined with stepanotis, surrounded with loops and puffs of white satin ribbons and net, from which fell ribbon streamers. She carried out the old tradition of wearing something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue. Mr. Omah Muckleroy, father of the groom, served as best man. Mrs. J. W. Brown, Jr., of Bossier City, sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the register.

Mrs. Brown chose for her daughters' wedding, a model of grey crepe, accented by an orchid corsage. Mrs. Muckleroy, mother of the groom, wore hyacinth blue crepe, trimmed with bugle beads, and corsage of orchids. Mrs. J. D. Miller, grandmother of the groom, was beautifully dressed in black crepe with a red rose-bud corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, an informal reception was held. At one end of the beautifully appointed lace covered table, in the dining room, was a gorgeous tiered embossed wedding cake, resting on a mirrored reflector, encircled by white blossoms and fern. The table had for central decor the bride's beautiful bouquet, flanked with gleaming white tapers in crystal holders, tied with white tulle, which cast a soft glow over the artistic setting. Mrs. W. B. Norris of Delhi served the cake and Mrs. J. C. Brown, of Carthage, Texas, aunt of the bride, presided at the punch bowl, which was placed at the other end of the table.

After receiving congratulations and cutting their wedding cake, the young couple left for a wedding trip to New Orleans and other points along the Gulf coast. For traveling Mrs. Muckleroy wore a yachtman blue dressmaker suit with grey accessories. Her hat was trimmed with ostrich tips. The orchid from her bouquet was pinned at the shoulder.

The bride presented her attendants with dainty jeweled bracelets and Mr. Muckleroy gave his attendants monogram gold tie clasps.

The bride is a graduate of the Waterproof High School and attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston, where she majored in secretarial science. She holds membership in Phi Mu sorority. Her maternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Ferrington of Winsboro, La., and paternal grandparents, the late Mrs. W. W. Brown of Baton Rouge, and Mr. W. W. Brown of Wisner, Louisiana.

Mr. Muckleroy is descended maternally from Mr. and Mrs. John Dearl Miller, of Farmerville, and paternally from the late Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Muckleroy of Alto, Texas. He graduated from the Farmerville High School and attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston, where he was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. He served two years in World War II, twenty-one months of which were spent in the Pacific, aboard the U. S. S. Guam. He is now employed by Shell Oil Company in Farmerville.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Muckleroy will be receiving their friends at their newly erected home in Farmerville.

Out of towns guests were: Mrs. Ida Lee Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lockwood and Billy Rex, Mr. H. E. Clark, Jr., Miss Jean Wroten, Miss Marjorie Zeigler, of Shreveport; Mr. and Mrs. Van J. Hicks, and Van, Jr., of Lake Providence; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brown, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Faith, Bossier City; Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Doss, Mr. Jackie Drue Doss, Mr. and Mrs. Zell Smith, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Straight Talk About Building a House . . .

Don't be "penny-wise" and "lumber-foolish" . . . when you build your house! It costs such a little bit more to use REALLY GOOD lumber . . . and it's certainly worth it! Remember that you expect the house you build now to last for many years. You spend TIME and MONEY selecting a desirable building site, choosing appropriate plans, and employing a capable contractor. The cost of the lumber that goes into a modern home is a relatively small portion of the total building cost; thus, it is false economy to use inferior, unseasoned lumber when the cost of GOOD, SEASONED lumber is such a very little more and is readily available at HILL LUMBER.

CARE CONTENTS ARE IMPROVED

More Fats And Sweets Will Be Made Available For Shipment

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(Special)—An improved CARE standard food package—containing more meats, more fats and more sweets—will be available for shipment overseas on November 1, it is announced by Paul Comly French, executive director of the non-profit, government-approved agency.

The new package, Mr. French explained, was devised to meet the changing food needs in Europe. It contains 22 1/2 pounds of food, compared to the previous 21 1/2 pound parcel, and the contents have an increased retail value of more than $1.50. However, price of the package remains the same: $10, including guaranteed delivery to friends, relatives or needy beneficiaries selected by CARE's member welfare agencies.

The increase in content-value, Mr. French pointed out, was made possible partly through the ocean-freight reimbursement voted by congress, out of economic cooperation administration funds. Through savings effected in its bulk buying, packing and delivery methods, CARE was able to improve the package still more.

Because grain is now more plentiful in Europe, the seven pounds of flour in the former CARE package has been reduced to two pounds. In its place, the meat items have been increased from three pounds to four and a quarter. A pound of honey, a pound of lard and two pounds of rice have been added. Also, preserves have been substituted for dried fruits. Caloric content has been increased from more than 40,000 to over 42,000.

Complete contents of the new package are: One pound each of beef in beef broth, steak and kidney, Swift'ning (lard), preserves, honey, raisins, chocolate; two pounds each of margarine, sugar, milk powder, coffee, rice, flour; a half-pound each of corned beef loaf, liver loaf, bacon, egg powder; three-quarters of a pound of Prem (prepared meat), and 12 ounces of soap.

Orders for the new standard food package may be sent to CARE, 50 Broad street, New York 4, N. Y. Delivery is guaranteed in Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, France, Finland, Germany (American, British, French zones and all Berlin), Hungary and the Netherlands. For the duration of the blockade, packages to Berlin will be $12.50, to cover the higher cost of air transport. On orders to Great Britain, Italy, Greece, and Japan, delivery of CARE's special food assortments for those countries will continue.

Delegates Attend Secretaries International Convention Recently

Mrs. Lois Hollingsworth, Mrs. Mae Modes, Mrs. Marion Tetreau, Miss Alice Chilton and Miss Helen McDaniel, members of the Monroe chapter of Secretaries International, motored to Shreveport on Saturday, October 16, to attend the third Southwest Regional Convention of Secretaries International.

Members from Hot Springs, Little Rock, Monroe and Shreveport assembled at a Shreveport hotel and enjoyed the hospitality extended them by the Shreveport chapter.

At a banquet held at the hotel Saturday evening, Mayor Clyde E. Fant of Shreveport welcomed the group. High lights of the program were tap dancing, readings, and vocal numbers. The principal speaker of the evening was Mr. J. G. O'Brien, one of Shreveport's leading industrialists.

Sunday morning breakfast was a gala affair, with Juan Alvarado, playing and singing Latin American songs.

Following breakfast, was the business meeting with Mrs. Margaret Galvin of Shreveport, southwest regional president, presiding. At this time, officers were elected for the ensuing year as follows: Mrs. Mary E. Hudson, Shreveport, recording secretary, and Miss Arnette Wright, Hot Springs, corresponding secretary. Recognition was given to Mrs. Zenobia Lewis, international treasurer; telegrams expressing best wishes were read from other national officers.

In the early afternoon, all members and guests were taken on a tour of Shreveport, ending with a party on beautiful Cross lake at the home of Mrs. Lois Jackson.

The Monroe chapter will be hostess to the next Southwest Regional Convention, to be held in October, 1949.

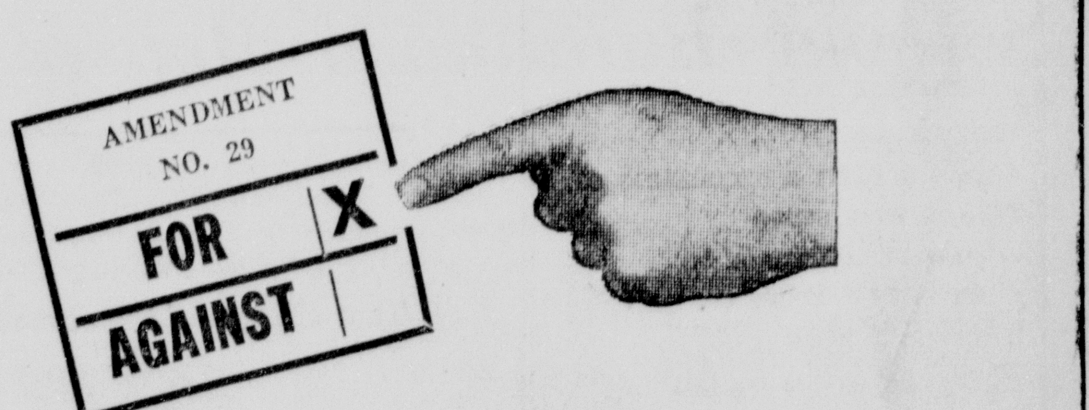
FEDERAL AND STATE INCOME TAXES

Do You Think Farmers Should Have To Pay A 'PLOW TAX'?

FIVE REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE FOR AMENDMENT No. 29 ON NOVEMBER 2, 1948



1. Payment of a "Highway Tax" to plow is not fair. Farmers are asking for relief only on the gasoline used in tractors and other farm equipment.
2. Small tractors burn only gasoline with the result that small farmers are not able to mechanize due to excessive cost of fuel.
3. Farm tractors will last much longer—and operate more efficiently—on gasoline than on cheaper fuels now being used in larger tractors.
4. Rigid enforcement will be followed. Farmers will be permitted to claim refund from the state on tax paid for gasoline used in tractors and farm equipment. All highway use will—and should be— taxable.
5. Over 40 states exempt their farmers from state tax on gasoline used in tractors and farm machinery.

Attend the Church of Your Choice Today

Nothing can bring more pleasure into a home than the laughing faces of healthy, happy children. They brighten a household and enliven the domestic relations of the family. In the faces of these children you see the fulfillment of the entire purpose of marriage and the home. Man's highest duty, other than living a useful and just life and honoring God is to carry on the human race.

The greatest thrill of a parent is to look into the wide, wondering eyes and smiling faces of his own children.

However parenthood carries many responsibilities which no parent can afford to ignore; the responsibility of bringing the children up in an environment conducive to faith, honesty, and right living. The church can render you invaluable assistance in this task. Go to your Church this Sunday.

RADIO STATIONS TO AID ROUNDUP

Month Of November Set For Annual Affair For Boy Scouts Of Area

Local radio stations will assist in the third annual Boy Scout round-up, being held during the month of November, it has been announced by T. Mickel, publicity chairman of the Scout round-up committee. He also said that plans were underway to receive assistance from radio stations in Bastrop and Ruston.

The programs outlined are scheduled for almost every day of the month and include interviews of prominent Scouters, dramatic skits by Scout troops, and interesting transcriptions on almost every phase of Scouting over both local stations.

The radio publicity for the Scout round-up will begin over station KMLB at 12:00 noon today with an interview on the round-up program, which will have A. B. Clarkson, council president, and Tom Hayes, central district committee member, as participants. This interview is for the purpose of telling the public about the Scout round-up program.

A special 15-minute program featuring Scouting, Cub Scouting, and Senior Scouting wil be presented by station KMLB at 5:30 each afternoon this week. Round-up publicity over KNOE will begin with a special round-up interview featuring Judge Jesse Heard and J. W. Webster, prominent central district Scouters. This program has been announced for 12:15 p. m., Tuesday, November 2. Dramatic skits will be presented over KNOE on November 8 and November 29, and a regular daily Scout feature will be carried for 15 minutes each day during the latter part of the month.

Scouts and their parents, and all others interested in the Boy Scout program, are asked to look for announcements of Scout round-up programs throughout the month of November. This radio round-up campaign is part of the publicity program of the annual Boy Scout round-up which is being staged to bring more boys in the Ouachita Valley Council into the Scouting program.

In a recent reorganization meeting of Boy Scout Troop 28, sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church, Monroe, the following Scouts were elected by members of the troop to serve as leaders for the next few months: Arthur Hugh Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Matthews, junior assistant Scoutmaster; Joe Ledoux, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ledoux, senior patrol leader; Ray Rhymes, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rhymes, patrol leader; Will Sam Shatzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Shatzer, patrol leader; Johnnie Wendell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wendell, patrol leader.

According to the present operating plan of Troop 28, these boy leaders will do most of the program planning and furnish most of the leadership for troop and patrol meetings. These boy leaders, along with the Scoutmaster and assistant Scoutmaster, form the troop leaders' council and make all plans for the operation of the troop. The group is now working on troop program plans for the next few months.

Jack Griffis is serving as Scoutmaster of Troop 28, and is assisted by O. D. Hutto as assistant Scoutmaster. The following men are members of the troop committee: R. E. Ellington, Rev. E. D. Holloway, W. H. Reno, and Dan Moore.

To the Democrats of Louisiana:

STAMP THE DONKEY

TO VOTE FOR A STRAIGHT PARTY TICKET
STAMP HERE

Loyalty to the Democratic Party has been a badge of honor for citizens of Louisiana for more than a century.

In 1948 this Loyalty is being questioned by a little group of willful and selfish men, who, behind the smoke screen of State Rights, seek to hide their selfish aims—which are the election of the Republican Party and the destruction of the Democratic Party.

These so-called "State Righters" have neither hope of success in their own right nor any plan for the future. They are as much a part of the Republican party as the vested interests of Wall Street or the Republicans of Maine.

Their one and only aim is the defeat of President Harry S. Truman and the National Democratic Party and thereby the betrayal of the South and its people.

The party of Jefferson, Madison and Jackson, of Cleveland, Wilson, Roosevelt and Truman, is no longer the party of the Dixiecrats. By their actions they have joined hands with the followers of McKinley, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

Remember the Hoovercrats? Think of them when you think of the Dixiecrats.

Since the days of the Civil War to the present day, the South has worked up from the ashes of ruin and despair to prosperity and happiness. The ladder up which the South has climbed to its present state has been the National Democratic Party.

The present day expansion and prosperity of the South is the most amazing development of our time. Even intelligent Republicans regard the South's development as the soundest contribution to the national welfare of this generation.

Its great agricultural and cattle-raising sections have had the encouragement and sustaining influence of 16 years of intelligent, friendly and forward-looking Democratic Administrations. Sound legislation and bettered labor conditions have pushed its industrialization to what even Republican observers describe as an "amazing phenomenon."

Shall the citizens of Louisiana turn their backs on all this at the beck and call of a few selfish and misguided men who hide their support of the Republican Dewey behind the screen of State Rights?

These Dixiecrats pretend that there is a race issue involved. If there is, how do they meet it? By electing Tom Dewey, the foremost advocate of the F.E.P.C. in the United States?

Only one of two men have a chance to win. It will either be President Harry S. Truman or Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

A vote for the Dixiecrats is a vote for Dewey and the National Republican Party. And it is also a stab in the heart of Louisiana's oldest friend—The National Democratic Party.

Louisiana's record of Party loyalty has never before been challenged in our generation.

Shall we abandon the House of our Fathers.

When you vote, Stamp the Donkey. It is the emblem of President Harry S. Truman and the Democratic Party.

Do not Stamp the Rooster. The Rooster in this campaign stands for the Dixiecrat-Republicans and Tom Dewey.

FRENCH COMPLETE MINE OCCUPATION

PARIS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—French troops and police completed the occupation of more than half the struck coal mines in northern France today, driving pickets out of 20 pits near Buray.

Miners were going back to work in ever increasing numbers but production was only about 20 per cent of normal.

Four million tons of un-mined coal has been lost to the nation in the 26-day tie-up—about 10 per cent of the yearly production. So the government is expected to divert $19,000,000 of Marshal plan funds from cotton, food and raw material purchases to get more foreign coal.

Communist-led dock workers on strike had several hundred thousand tons of coal imports tied up in French ports.

French soldiers and sailors were unloading some ships, however.

Government forces held 58 of the 112 pits in northern France where two-thirds the coal is mined, and officials believed production would rise sharply Tuesday or Wednesday after the long week-end holiday.

CHILD IS LEFT MINUS PARENTS AFTER DEATH

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Grandparents of four-year-old Vincent Ferreri, left fatherless in a gun and meat cleaver slaying, offered him a home and loving care today.

And his mother, Mrs. Betty Ferreri, 26, held in connection with the Tuesday night killing of her husband, Jerome, 36, indicated she would turn the lad over to her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Ferreri of New Brunswick, N. J.

"I'll do it for his own good," Betty told newsmen. "I'll have to work. I wouldn't be able to take care of him properly. He'd have to be among outsiders part of the time. I know he'll receive loving care from them."

The grandfather pleaded tearfully for his namesake grandson when the elder Ferreri confronted Betty yesterday in the presence of reporters and detectives at the $35,000 home where Jerome Ferreri was slain.

Detectives William Breannan and G. H. Wiseman said Betty re-enacted the killing at the home. She and a roomer, Allan Adron, 51, booked on suspicion of murder, have told investigators Adron shot Jerome Ferreri while he was beating Betty, then Betty hit her husband with a meat cleaver. Formal charges were expected to be filed after an inquest Monday.

MIA PLAYERS, THESE

Above group will give benefit performance for Barkdull Faulk recreational equipment.

LITTLE THEATRE CURTAIN CALL

The third and last performance of "The Night of January 16th" played to a capacity house Friday night at the parish courthouse. There have been several requests to hold this production over for another show. However, as we go to press, President Frank Breese and Director Mrs. Blanche Oliver have not given their official approval for a return engagement. According to the latest poll of opinion from those who witnessed this unusual courtroom drama, it was outstanding. Little Theatre was proud to welcome back this year several charter members, Mrs. O. M. Gresham, Mrs. Henry Bernstein, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Layton, Mrs. Maud Stubbs, Mr. O. R. Lewis, Mrs. Frank Kennedy, Mr. Fred Millsaps and Mrs. L. P. Milner, Sr. The organization has missed their interest and support and their return makes the prospects for a bigger and better Little Theatre more promising.

Little Theatre Extras . . . Noted in the Friday night audience were Miss Marion Gordon-Frazier of London, England, and Mrs. Elizabeth Whitfield, who is back from New York with her mother, Mrs. W. P. Logan of Glasgow, Scotland, who will visit her daughter until spring. Mrs. Logan said: "The play came up to all the advance notices in 'Curtain Call.'" . . . They just couldn't convict Karen Andre. She was found "not guilty" for a third time Friday night by the following jury with Sheriff Bailey Grant as its foreman, Helen Hart, Ralph Byrd, Mr. Blyth Snodgrass, Mrs. Blyth Snodgrass, Mr. A. M. Guerriero, Edward Ellison, Mrs. Cooper Watson, Mrs. Beatrice Patterson, Mr. J. L. Findlay, Mrs. J. L. Findlay and John Elliette. . . . The cast of the play just fell in love with youngster Gilbert Powell Findlay who played the messenger boy in "The Night of January 16th." He looked after their every need, running errands, bringing coffee and helping no end. He will be leaving in November with his parents for England.

Special Bouquets . . . For Mrs. Irene Reid for all her help and to Mr. Sid Moore for re-establishing coffee hour for Little Theatre. It was just like old times. . . . To Judge David I. Garrett, Aylmer Montgomery and Sheriff Bailey Grant for their many courtesies and for the use of the courtroom, which contributed much to the success of the play. . . . To Bob Dumm and KNOE and the News-Star—World and to Mrs. Gilbert Faulk who so graciously did the critic's review for Lady Stahl who was ill at the last moment.

LITTLE THEATRE SKETCH

Mrs. Helen W. Fernandez, who did such a grand job as Louella Mae Hutchins in "The Night of January 16th," was born and educated in Brownwood, Texas, but has been a resident of Monroe since 1918. She has seven years of speech at Howard Payne College where she took expression from Miss Lula Curry of Boston School of Expressions. In 1908, Mrs. Fernandez went to Colonel Boyd of L. S. U. and talked him into letting her teach the first speech class at the university. It began as a private class and she taught such outstanding notables as Lyle Saxon, D. G. Ewing and George Farrot, Jr. It is little wonder that we find a woman with such pioneering spirit interested in civic clubs and fine arts in Monroe. The Fine Arts art exhibit will be held at her home on November 8. Her hobbies are writing poetry and art and she has recently had an opportunity to have her poems published on a royalty basis but because of illness in the family this accomplishment will be delayed.

Quicker and more efficient handling of the great American corn crop is promised by two inventions, both for use with tractor-operated corn pickers. The first is a corn sheller, for direct attachment to the picker; the second machine not only shells the grain but shreds the stalks.

The "Big Dipper" is an American constellation. Across the Atlantic, it is known by other names.

BENEFIT PLAY IS SLATED IN SCHOOL

On Friday evening, November 5th at 7:45, there will be a benefit show, given by the "MIA Players," a home talent group, with outstanding comedians taking part. The play is a farce in three acts. The title is "A Ready-Made Family" by Jay Tobias. Many side-splitting situations arise when a widow with three children marries a widower, father of two.

The cast is as follows:

Agnes Martyn, a widow, played by Elgie Mae Steele.

Bob, her son, by Artis Tynes.

Marilee, her elder daughter, by Barbara Simmons.

Gracie, her youngest child, by Mary Ann Bivins.

Miss Lydia, her sister-in-law, by Lula Mae Hammons.

Henry Turner, a widower, by Jan Truitt.

Doris, his daughter, by Judy Caraway.

Sammie, his son, by Dwight Hodges.

Begonia, the Martyn's colored cook, by Anne Bivins.

Nicodemus, the Martyn's colored handy man, by Dan Hudnall.

Children of the Barkdull Faulk School will be seen in between-act skits.

Proceeds from the play will be used to pay for playground equipment for the primary children.

KENNON SAYS FIRST AMENDMENTS ARE BAD

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Appeals Court Judge Robert F. Kennon today described the first nine amendments on the Louisiana ballot for next Tuesday as "power grabs" and said he would vote against them.

Kennon, unsuccessful candidate for governor last January and for United States senator in August, made the statements in reponse to a question during an interview.

"It is not democratic to turn over to one man complete control of the state's finances, the state's schools colleges, its great port and its natural resources," the Minden jurist said "The first nine amendments are designed to bring about this one man control."

Kennon said he also would vote against amendments 32 and 34 because "they violate the principles of local self-government."

Gov. Earl K. Long has endorsed all 41 of the proposed constitutional changes.

IGHT ETERNAL WILL BE SHOWN

Scriptural Play Promises Interesting Production; Cast Given

One of the most spectacular and outstanding scenes in the "Light Eternal" states Miss Jean King, director of the famed production is that depicting the court of Pharaoh. This scene is beautifully staged in a most novel manner. With the pomp and glory of ancient Egypt, the players will be costumed in the dress of 4,000 years ago.

Howell Heard is to play the role of Pharaoh of Joseph's time who was so well pleased that Joseph was able to interpret his dreams that he made him governor of all Egypt. This character has often been called the "Good Pharaoh" and Mr. Heard ably portrays the ancient king. A number of characters support the court scenes including guards, court girls and the chief steward.

The guards will be played by Clarence Caples and Jack Prengle, of the Monroe Commercial College, and Mrs. Marie Colvin and Mrs. Mildred Pierce will be cast as attractive court girls.

This play will be presented two nights on November 3 and 4 in the parish auditorium. It is being sponsored by the Burnett-Downs post 201 of the American Legion and the funds netted will be devoted to equipment for the West Monroe playgrounds.

The entire cast will be: Grandfather, Captain Stratford; Judy, Sadie Jane Matthews; John, Ronnie Butler; Reuben, H. A. Zeigler; Levi, Cecil Wilks; Judah, Earl Pettit; Simeon, Rudolph Sample; Joseph, Rev. C. P. Coaker; court girls, Marie Colvin and Mildred Pierce; guards, Clarence Caplis and Jack Pringle; Pharaoh, Howell Heard; chief steward, Alton Parker; Benjamin, J. F. Jones, Jr.; Aaron, H. H. Mullins; Moses, Webb Goodlett; Marian, Mrs. C. Burkett; Hannah, Mrs. E. A. Autrey; Nebulum, Ford Hines; Rebekah, Miss Opal Milton; Esther, Mrs. H. GIRL SCOUT GROUP TO SEND DELEGATES

The Girl Scout Council is busy making plans to send delegates to the three-day Dixie regional conference which will open in New Orleans November 8 at 8 p. m., Mrs. George Foreman, commissioner of the Monroe Girl Scouts, said.

Mrs. Foreman stated that the program and training offered will give these delegates a better background knowledge of regional and national work accomplishments with new resources and ideas for the local council.

Girl Scouts delegates from Monroe planning to attend the conference are Mrs. Foreman, Mrs. Rodney Cline, Mrs. Harry Stone, Mrs. F. H. Burke, Mrs. Robert Easterling, Mrs. C. B. Flinn and Mrs. E. B. Ellison.

The Tuesday session will include a general session, commissioners' luncheon, group meetings and group clinics. Mrs. C. Vaughn Ferguson, national president of Girl Scouts, will speak at the luncheon.

Wednesday's program will include reports from committees and election of regional officers.

39 TRUE BILLS FOR FRANKLIN

Grand Jury Completes Three-Day Session; 7 Jury Trials To Be Set

WINNSBORO, La., Oct. 30.—(Special)—The Franklin parish grand jury concluded a three-day session here this week and reported 39 true bills found, to District Judge Carey J. Ellis. Seven of the 39 will require trial by jury, including one murder and one manslaughter charge, according to Harry N. Anders, assistant district attorney.

Andrew W. McKenzie, United States army, waived arraignment Wednesday afternoon and pleaded guilty to a charge of "driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquors" before Judge Ellis. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $150 and costs, and in default in payment of fine to serve 90 days in the parish jail, and in addition "to serve 30 days in jail upon his discharge from the army."

Eight persons were arraigned before the district judge Thursday and entered pleas of "not guilty." They were:

State of Louisiana vs. No. 3234—Willie Drumgoole (Negro)—"murder of Isiah Smith on May 31, 1948." Case fixed for trial Monday, November 8. Later in the day Willie Drumgoole changed his plea from "not guilty" to "guilty" and was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Carey J. Ellis. According to Sheriff Hiram B. Waller, Drumgoole was transferred today from the parish jail to the state prison at Angola, to begin serving his sentence.

State of Louisiana vs. No. 3253—Clyde Wright—"aggravated battery upon J. T. Arnold on October 16, 1948." Case fixed for trial Monday, November 8.

State of Louisiana vs. No. 3238—Jake Highland (Negro)—"aggravated battery upon Elector Stribbling on April 29." Case fixed for trial November 8.

State of Louisiana vs. No. 3250—Ozelee Washington (Negro)—"murder of Fannie Lee on August 15." Case fixed for trial November 9.

State of Louisiana vs. No. 3249—Rudolph Thompson (Negro)—"aggravated battery upon Moses Neal on September 18." Case fixed for trial November 9.

State of Louisiana vs. No. 3265—Jesse Sellers (Negro)—"aggravated battery upon Jimmie South on October 24." Case fixed for trial November 8.

State of Louisiana vs. No. 3244—Dennis Loftin—"aggravated battery upon John Thornton on April 26." Case fixed for trial November 10.

State of Louisiana vs. No. 3227—Elber Johnson (Negro)—"manslaughter." Case set for trial November 8.

Persons named in the other 30 true bills will be arraigned on Wednesday, November 3.

The Franklin parish grand jury is composed of: R. D. Harper, foreman; C. R. Adams, William A. Turnbough, F. P. Sims, Robert M. Hammons, L. W. Furr, P. E. Walters, Steve C. Corbin, Carey D. Kincaid, J. E. Richardson, J. D. Peck, and V. G. Johns.

IN MOVIELAND

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Whatever happened to the old-style movie femme fatale who murmered to her victims, "Kiss Me, You Fool"?

Well, she's still doing business at the same old stand, but with more modern methods, says Paulette Goddard.

"Today, villainy must be more subtle," said Paulette, speaking of the cobra-headed temptresses who slunk across the early flicker screens.

The Great Neck, N. Y., actress should know. She has done a healthy business of playing gals whose habits are just enough off-center to keep them out of the better sewing circles.

"There is a good example of the modern approach to vampires in my present picture," she said, referring cagily to "Mask of Lucretia," from the Borgia of the same name. She plays the woman with the habit of slipping Mickey Finns to her best pals.

"Lucretia loves her husband, but is forced to poison him for reasons of state and family," she related. "I had to play a murdering woman and yet remain sympathetic.

"You can imagine how the poisoning scene would have been played in the old days—with much leering and slithering about. Well, first of all, I refused to hand him the goblet; he had to take it himself. Then I started to cry when he poured the poisoned wine—after all, I loved him. We took a walk and I tried not to let him see my damp eyes.

"When he fell over dead, then I broke down!"

Paulette recalled other shady ladies she has played. In "Kitty," she married three men for their money. "I gave Kitty a sense of humor to keep her sympathetic," she said.

"In 'Hazard,' I played a gambling girl, the second least attractive woman (a drunk being the first). I made it clear the girl was a victim of circumstance."

As for the sex appeal of the modern vamps, Paulette opined: "The sexy girls appear to have a more direct approach; they're more boyish, more domineering. Like Lauren Bacall."

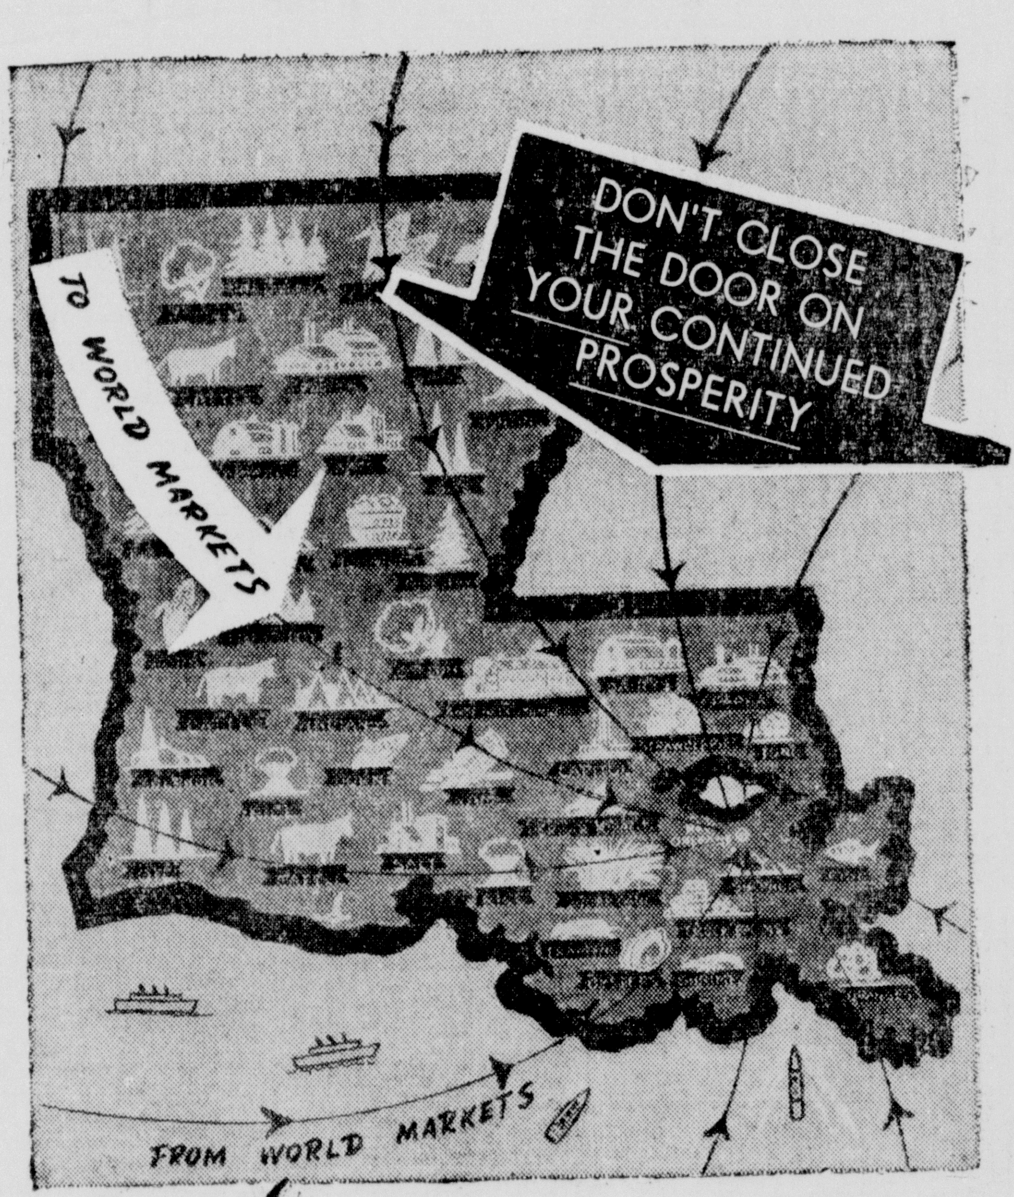
KILL AMENDMENT NO. 3 ON NOVEMBER 2

The PORT OF NEW ORLEANS Belongs to You!

Vote NO... on AMENDMENT NO. 3

Everybody in Louisiana — farmer, merchant, workingman, professional man or housewife — has a vital stake in the Port of New Orleans. Its continued efficiency spells your continued prosperity.

Outward through this Port flow your products of farm and factory to world markets. Inward through this Port flow the articles of domestic and world commerce which annually expand our economy and raise your standard of living.



First in efficiency and second in size, the Port of New Orleans is the pride and envy of the world. It became so through the able administration of non-partisan, non-political executives serving under the present law.

These men are selected solely on merit, without political consideration. These men are successful in their own fields. They serve without pay, often at great personal sacrifice. They serve without fear or favor. They hire only the best workers—they do not give out jobs for votes.

Under their administration, the Port of New Orleans since 1940 (when it was taken out of politics) increased its business five-fold, transformed an operating loss into a substantial annual profit, reduced the number of employees by two-thirds, built up physical port facilities and assets valued at 200 million dollars, and saw more than a billion and a quarter dollars in foreign trade move over its wharves last year.

These Port leaders are businessmen. The Port is the state's largest business. It must continue to operate under businessmen—NOT politicians. Would you fire a successful businessman who worked for you for nothing, and who made money for you? The whole world has acclaimed the present able management of this Port.

Amendment No. 3, on which you will vote November 2, would repoliticalize your Port. It would destroy this non-partisan, business-like control so vitally needed if your Port is to continue competing successfully—and surpassing—ports elsewhere in America and abroad.

Because they know it threatens the welfare of all Louisiana, more than twenty civic and business organizations, representing a state-wide membership in excess of 15,000, have condemned Amendment No. 3. These are not political organizations; indeed, their membership includes persons of all political creeds. It is the first time in state history that these groups have thus acted. They act from civic, not from political motives.

Amendment No. 3 imperils the welfare of every citizen of the state. On this basis, alone, they appeal to you, in many cases as fellow members of these organizations, to join with them on November 2 and KILL AMENDMENT NO. 3!
